CASHIER DIES HEARTBROKEN

E. R. Kramer of First National of Allegheny Expires Suddenly.

LIQUIDATION IS CAUSE

Had Held Position for Nearly 35 Years, Succeeding His Father, the First Cashier.

TRIBUTE BY THE PRESIDENT

His heart broken by the necessity for a liquidation of the First National bank of Allegheny, Edward R. Kramer of Sewickley, for 35 years cashier of the institution, died yesterday at his home in River avenue, Sewickley. The death was sudden. He had shown signs of depression over the unfortunate conditions faced by the First National of Allegheny, but nothing of this kind was looked for. Yesterday at noon while at his home his spirit broke and a total collapse occurred. The efforts of physicians could not help him and he died six hours later.

The first cashier of the bank was Col. John D. Kramer, father of Edward R. Kramer. Col. Kramer took the position when the bank first opened its doors in 1882, and when he laid down the cares of the task, his son assumed them. There have been but the two cashiers in the 41 years of the bank's history, the father and the son.

Edward R. Kramer was born in Allegheny 56 years ago. He had lived in Sewickley nearly all his life. He entered the employ of the bank while he was still a boy, his first work being as individual bookkeeper. He was rapidly promoted, his adaptability for this work being evident. He became assistant cashier and then cashier. A few years afterward his brother, John D. Kramer, succeeded him as assistant cashier, a position he still holds.

Although best known as a banker and with his life centering in that business, Mr. Kramer had been interested in outside matters. He was at one time active in Republican politics at Sewickley and was treasurer of the Methodist Episcopal church of that borough.

In 1881 he was married to Miss Jane B. Miller of Sewickley, who survives with one son, Tracy M. Kramer. In addition two sisters, Mrs. S. Z. Kennedy of Bridgeport, O., and Mrs. Mary D. Muntz of Butler and one brother, John D. Kramer, survive.

President John Thompson of the bank spoke in strong terms last evening of Mr. Kramer's long and valuable services to the institution.

"I had the most unbounded confidence in him," said Mr. Thompson. "His work was of great value and he was an excellent banker. He came to the bank as a boy and has been part of the First National of Allegheny almost from its start. He was a quiet man, somewhat reticent, but his whole heart was in his work and he was most valuable."

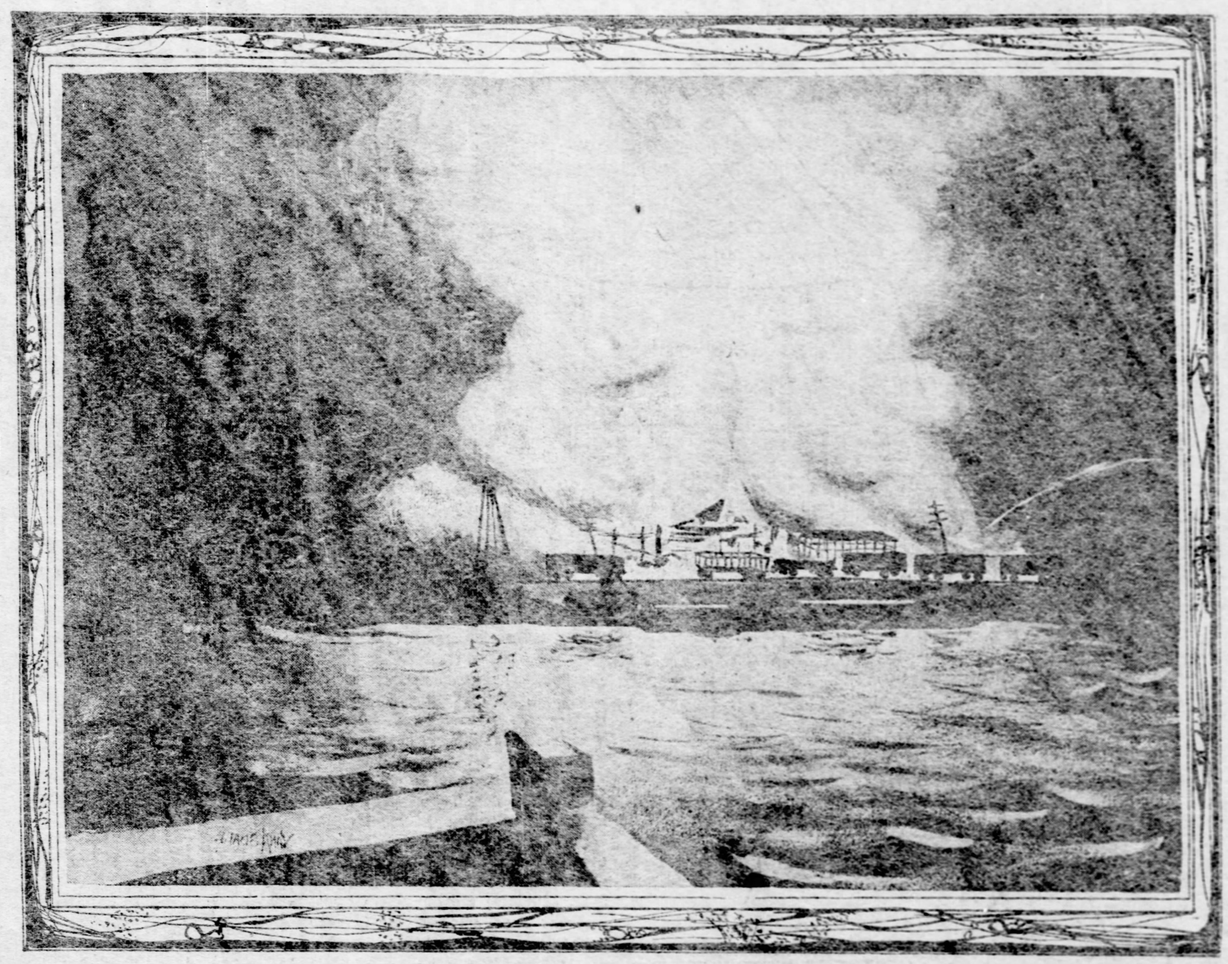
THOUSANDS ARE IDLE.

Effect of the Amalgamated Copper Mine Suspension Is Far Reaching.

BUTTE, MONT., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Twenty thousand men will be idle by Monday as the result of the suspension of the Amalgamated Copper plants. This total includes the miners and mill men, railroad crews and other employes about the mammoth works and mines. In Montana alone approximately $1,000,000 a week is cut off the payrolls.

Boarding house keepers and store keepers, whom the miners owe, besieged the justice courts seeking garnishment orders today. The constables cannot serve the papers fast enough and the justice clerks are working overtime filling them out. President William Scallon of the Anaconda company this afternoon made a statement relative to the suspension and the decision of the courts, and denied the shutdown was the purpose of affecting the stock market.

Destruction of Pittsburgh & Western Shops by Fire



FIRE WRECKS P. & W. SHOPS

Within an Hour the Plant Was Completely Destroyed.

LOSS PLACED AT $20,000

Captain and Fireman, Policeman and Spectator, Painfully Injured.

BLAZE A PICTURESQUE SIGHT

The car shops of the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, at the foot of Corry street, Allegheny, caught fire last night and within an hour were completely destroyed. The road is owned by the Baltimore & Railroad, so that the loss will fall on that corporation. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

As a result of the fire four persons were painfully injured, as follows:

JOHN SICHTER, captain of No. 11 hose carriage, thrown from the carriage to the street, cut and bruised.

JOHN BECKERT, fireman, No. 11 hose carriage; thrown to the street; cut and bruised.

OSCAR STEMLER, policeman, sprained his ankle running to turn in an alarm.

FRANK CROW, aged 30, of Rebecca street, Allegheny, heater in La Belle steel works; fell backward from curb while watching fire; may have concussion of brain.

About 11:10 p. m. Christian Kolb, the night watchman at the shops, made a round of the buildings and found everything in good shape. Twenty minutes later, while Kolb was standing in front of the office, he saw a bright light at the eastern end of the shops. He ran toward it, and discovering that the building was on fire, he hurried to the round-house nearby, shouted to the men at work to get the hose out, and then turned in an alarm from the box at Kilbuck and Corry streets. When he returned to the scene the men already had the hose playing on the flames.

It was a general alarm and the fire department soon responded. On the way a hose carriage was wrecked and the captain of the company and one of the men were thrown off and hurt. Soon several streams were playing on the doomed building.

Flames Seen for Miles.

The reflection from the flames, on account of the cloudy sky, could be seen for miles. The building was of wood and the cars that were burning were wooden freight cars, so that the blaze indicated a larger fire than it really was.

Christopher Kelly, the general foreman, lives near the shops, and he was soon on the scene. Kelly had 400 feet of new hose put in a few days ago, it being the policy of the company to keep the fire-fighting apparatus complete, as with it the shops have been saved from destruction by fire four times.

The loss is estimated between $10,000 and $20,000. The machinery was valued at $10,000, the 10 freight cars just ready to go at $4,000, the tools at $2,000 and the building at $5,000. Everything was insured.

Structure Was a Large One.

The building was 190x175 feet in size and was one story high. Several smaller additions had been made to it in recent years and on one end a second story had been built. The structure contained cars sent in for repairing and materials for that kind of work.

The fire presented a picturesque sight. The sky was lit up brilliantly and almost brightly reflected in the Allegheny river.

To all appearance the fire was rapidly spreading down the river. Every time the breeze blew the sparks would rise like those from a blast furnace, spread-

TRIED TO SAVE THE INVESTORS

Lewis Nixon Wanted to Make Condition of Shipyards Co. Public.

BLOCKED BY SCHWAB

Again Testified Ex-Steel President Refused to Call Directors' Meeting

SCHWAB IS TO TESTIFY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

New York, Oct. 23.—Lewis Nixon, former president of the United States Shipbuilding Company, was under cross-examination by William D. Guthrie, Charles M. Schwab's counsel, at this afternoon's hearing before United States Examiner Oliphant.

Just before the hearing adjourned Mr. Nixon said, when he learned the true state of affairs in the company, he objected to any more sales of the shipbuilding securities. He wanted the truth made public in order to save would-be investors. He was not asked if any sales were made after he objected.

Mr. Nixon testified at one stage of the inquiry that Mr. Schwab had prevented a meeting of the board of directors after the prospectus of the shipbuilding company was issued. Mr. Guthrie carried the witness practically over the same ground already covered in the direct examination.

Mr. Degnon, assistant receiver of the shipbuilding company, announced that on Monday next the report of Receiver Smith would be filed in the United States court in Newark. This report, he intimated, would be a severe arraignment of the promoters of the collapsed company and show in detail the loose financial methods used when the corporation was formed.

Schwab Again at Hearing.

Charles M. Schwab again appeared at the hearing. Before the adjournment yesterday Mr. Schwab was told that he would not be called until next week and that he might leave at once for Loretto, where his wife is ill. He decided, however, to remain until tonight, to hear the cross-examination of Mr. Nixon. It was stated by counsel that when Mr. Schwab is called he will be asked to produce the cable dispatches which it has been said passed between him and J. P. Morgan previous to and concerning the sale of the Bethlehem plant. It is also intimated that Mr. Morgan may be called as a witness. Nixon was asked:

Q—You have said that the acquisition of the Bethlehem plant was of enormous value to the combination, why?

A—Because none of the great shipbuilding companies of the world has an armor and gun plant. My idea was to be able to say to the world that we could build, armor and arm a battleship.

Q—Was there any other plant you could have acquired for the same purpose?

A—No.

Q—Is it not a fact that the Bethlehem steel plant, when you took it over was earning not $2,500,000 per annum?

A—In the neighborhood of that.

A—Upward of $2,000,000.

Q—What was the condition of the shipbuilding industry in the United States?

A—Very bad. Wages of laborers were increased and general expenses were increased.

Q—Did you ever have an offer for the Cramp plant before the trust made the offer?

A—Yes, I was offered $1,000,000.

Q—Did Mr. Schwab ever make any attempt to prevent a meeting of the board of directors after the publication of the reorganization plans?

A—Yes, it was after the publication of the plans.

Needed Money Badly.

Several letters written by Mr. Nixon to Mr. Schwab and George R. Sheldon were identified by the witness and admitted.

OFFICER KILLED IN TUNNEL FIGHT

Negro Is Also Dying as the Result of a Riot at Flushing, Ohio.

POSSE FOUGHT WITH A MOB

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 23.—One man is dead, another dying and three seriously wounded as the result of a clash between officers and a mob of negro laborers and foreigners. The battle took place in the tunnel of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Flushing, O.

THE DEAD.

JOHN G. ELLIOTT, marshal of Flushing, O.

THE INJURED.

WILLIAM SMITH, colored, shot through the head; seriously injured.

EDWARD YOUNG.

FRANK WILLIAMS.

Three of the mob are now surrounded in a lonely cabin by a posse of citizens and a lynching is feared. About 10 o'clock tonight the attention of Marshal Elliott was called to the disturbance being caused by the gang of negroes and foreigners who were running and yelling through the streets of Flushing. Marshal Elliott cautioned the men and requested them to be quiet, but was attacked by two of the ruffians. He went after reinforcements to arrest the crowd, and when he returned to the main streets, the gang had disappeared.

However they were traced to the tunnel where they had fortified themselves. Marshal Elliott gallantly led his deputies into the tunnel in darkness and fought the men hand to hand. A bullet from one of the men's pistols pierced his heart and he fell dead. His deputies removed the body from the tunnel and succeeded in capturing three of the men whom they marched to the jail at the points of rifles.

MANGLED BODIES EMERGED FROM A CLASS FIGHT

Four Students Seriously Injured and Much Property Damaged at Mt. Union College—Professors Referee the Battle.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Alliance, O., Oct. 23.—In the roughest class fight in the history of Mt. Union college, this forenoon, four students were seriously injured. They are:

HARRY HAZLETT, a senior, manager of the football team; knocked unconscious, left wrist sprained and right palm pierced by a hat pin in the hands of a girl student.

LORIN ROCKHILL, assistant manager of the college paper "Dynamo," knocked unconscious and badly beaten and bruised.

The fight began immediately after chapel exercises. Last evening the "preps," who outnumber all the other classes combined, placed a pennant upon the tower and guarded it all night. After chapel, a charge was made by the seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen upon the "preps." A stairway was torn down, windows broken by the free use of axes and improvised battering rams demolished much woodwork.

At the height of the riot, when cries of "fire!" were adding to the general confusion, Prof. J. L. Shunk, vice president of the college, appeared and shouted to the students to stop. He then offered them a chance to fight on the campus, in order to save the interior of the building from utter demolition. The students were offered 30 minutes to settle the fight in their own way, provided they would go on the campus. Profs. Meesick and Franklin acted as referees.

The conflict that ensued was ever wilder than the first encounter. The students were knocked down and trampled upon and stinging blows given and taken by all who could not get free from the crush. Prof. Tucker acted as physician and rendered medical aid to the wounded.

The girls entered into the fight with vim and thrust hatpins into the hands and arms of all within their reach. It was the severe work of the hatpin brigade that finally landed the victory for the preparatory students, to whom the referee gave the battle at the end of 30 minutes.

DURAND CHOSEN AS AMBASSADOR

Will Succeed Late Michael Herbert as Minister to United States.

COMES FROM COURT OF SPAIN

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A Washington dispatch to the Morning Post says definitely that Sir Henry Mortimer Durand has been appointed successor to Sir Michael Herbert as ambassador to Washington.

Sir Henry Mortimer Durand has been British ambassador at Madrid for three years. Previous to his inclusion in the upper ranks of the British diplomatic service, he had spent more than 20 years in the Indian civil service. The son of the late Maj.-Gen. Sir Henry Durand, he was born in India in 1850 and his acquaintance with that country, Persia and Afghanistan is of the most intimate kind. He has been private secretary to an Indian viceroy, filled posts in the Indian foreign office and conducted a successful special mission to Cabul, whither he had previously accompanied Lord Roberts as political secretary.

Dandurand Starts for Europe.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—Senator Dandurand, who holds an option on the Consolidated Lake Superior property in the interests of British capitalists, left for Europe today in connection with the plans to buy the plants.

DOWIE CRITICIZES THE STATE SUPREME COURT

Defends Right to Be Born and Die Without Medical Attendance.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—"Elijah" Dowie tackled the courts in his talk today and announced that the case of his ex-follower, Luther Pierson of Mount Vernon, whose conviction for neglecting to provide medical attendance for his young child, was recently affirmed by the court of appeals, would, if necessary, be carried to the United States supreme court.

The subject of Dowie's address was "What Should a Christian Do When Sick?" He declared that the supreme court of New York had committed a wrong affirming the decision of the lower court in Pierson's case.

"I am sorry that my law department could not present evidence in that case," he said. "I will say now, however, that that case will be taken to the United States supreme court if necessary to get a just decision. We will maintain the common law right to be born without medical attendance and to die without medical attendance."

Dowie and his staff were excited over the continued exodus of Zionists. Twenty-four of the "host" left this afternoon and Dowie and his lieutenants were so exercised that a meeting was called to determine exactly how many of the Zionists had openly revolted.

Dowie's better half—and that seems to be the literal judgment of the large majority, if not all who have seen the self-styled "prophet" and his handsome, matronly spouse—addressed the audience at tonight's Madison Square meeting. Her talk was largely in defense of her husband and an elaborate explanation of why she was leaving him in the middle of the New York campaign. A similar explanation afterward came from the Rev. A. J. Gladstone Dowie, the 25-year-old, unkissed son of the "prophet."

Mrs. Dowie was heartily applauded. She was listened to attentively, except once or twice, when some in one of the audience disagreed with what she said. Then, however, the demonstrations were mild.

REGRETS THAT CANADA IS ONLY A COLONY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Hints That Dependency Is Not to Be Perpetual.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OTTAWA, ONT., Oct. 23.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a speech in the house today defending the government's course in consenting to the arbitration of the Alaska boundary dispute by a tribunal on which Canada was represented by the chief justice of England, said:

"I have often regretted, and never more than on the present occasion, that we are living beside a great neighbor who I believe I can say without being deemed unfriendly to them, are very grasping in their national acts and who are determined upon every occasion to get the best of any agreement they make. I have often regretted, also, that while they are a great and powerful nation, we are only a small colony—a growing colony, but still a colony.

"The real difficulty is that so long as Canada remains a dependency of the British crown, our powers, as they are at present, will not be sufficient for the maintenance of our rights. It is important that we should ask the British parliament for more extensive power, so that if ever we have to deal with matters of a similar nature again we should deal with them in our own way, according to the best light that we have."

CAUGHT THREE ROBBERS.

Detective at Prairie Du Chien Makes Clever Capture of Much Wanted Men.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, WIS., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Detective Lindner made a most daring capture this morning when he captured three bank robbers. They gave their names as James Murphy, Otto Keller and Ed Raymond. A search revealed large sums of money on their persons and each carried a revolver. In Raymond's pocket was found newspaper clippings of a postoffice burglary committed in Columbus Grove, Ohio, October 14, and a bank robbery in Berwick, Ill., on October 14.

RUMORS ARE PERSISTENT THAT WAR IS INEVITABLE

Underwriters in London Increase the Insurance Rate on Shipping to the Far East. Anxiety Is Deepening.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—War is inevitable, was the report received today by a large British shipping firm from their agent at Yokohama, and most other dispatches from the far east that have reached London are of an equally pessimistic nature.

Lloyds underwriters yesterday put up the rates to nearly treble what they were Thursday. The general rate on British vessels for a voyage out to the far eastern waters yesterday was 3 shillings 4 pence per cent. This afternoon one of the most influential owners of eastern tonnage could not get a better quotation than 10 shillings for a fleet with a warranty of no blockade running and no carrying of munitions of war to the belligerents. A good deal of speculative business was also done, underwriters charging 20, and even 40 guineas on policies against declaration of war only during the next three months.

Prompt official contradiction was given of the Honolulu report here by Reuters agency that war had broken out, but British consols were for the time adversely affected and Japanese stocks were offered down. From inquiries made in many quarters it is evident that London considers the situation very serious, and anxiety is deepening.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says it is known there that Russia absolutely refuses to yield a jot, and that at the Japanese legation, where hitherto a confidently peaceful view has been taken, the possibility of war is considered nearer. The decision does not rest with St. Petersburg, but lies in the hands of the Russian viceroy in the far east, wherein is the danger that war might be proclaimed in a night. From Paris and Berlin, on the other hand, come expressions of confidence that peace will be maintained.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The war rumors from the far east, which purport to foreshadow an immediate clash between Russia and Japan, have caused some inquiries at the offices of the marine insurance companies here in regard to rates on war risks. That little stock is taken in such rumors by the local maritime underwriters is evinced by the fact that rates which have been given to vessels bound for Japanese ports and sailing at this time are almost the same as for the ordinary maritime risks. The Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company has had several inquiries for war risks on vessels bound out for Japanese ports and has written them at a comparatively low rate.

No Difference About the Town If the Machine Can be Saved.

fed to evidence without their contents being read.

Mr. Nixon said he decided in the spring of the year that the company needed more working capital and wrote to Mr. Schwab about it.

Q—Is it not a fact that the $2,000,000 provided for by the Schwab plan of reorganization would have enabled the various plants to keep in operation?

A—It is. We needed $2,000,000. If I had secured it there would have been no trouble.

Q—And had a receiver not been appointed at that time the plants could have continued?

A—Yes.

Q—What was the fixed charge at that time?

A—$1,700,000.

Q—Was it or was not, your opinion in April, May or June, 1903, that without more working capital the company could continue and meet the $1,700,000 fixed charge.

A—I was confident we could, if we secured the $900,000 from the Bethlehem company.

Q—Do you recall that the notes and accounts payable at the end of April were about the same?

A—Yes.

Q—If the Bethlehem company had paid $900,000 in dividends during 1903 what would you have done with the money?

A—The best I could do.

Mr. Nixon declared that when the true condition of the finances of the corporation was revealed to him on or about May 7, he was opposed to keeping the matter a secret while the public was investing in the securities.

He resented the questions of Mr. Guthrie regarding his honesty in the matter, declaring that when he knew the truth, he was anxious that the public should be informed of the true condition.

Adjournment was then taken until a week from next Monday, when Mr. Nixon will conclude his cross-examination and will be followed by Charles M. Schwab.

An officer of the Trust Company of the Republic this afternoon declared that the mysterious $250,000 check made payable to "Lewis Nixon or ourselves," had been found after investigation to have been a check made out to one of the vendors when the constituent companies were taken over.

While he did not know who realized upon the check he said that the transaction was regular and would be proven so in the hearing.

Through an order granted late today Charles M. Schwab was granted leave to intervene as a complainant in the action recently commenced in the federal courts by the New York Security and Trust Company, against the United States Shipbuilding Company and James Smith, Jr., as receiver. The defendants at the same time were allowed to file an amended answer and cross bill, and Roland B. Conklin, Max Nathan, Jacob W. Mack and James D. Maguire, as creditors and stockholders, were given leave to intervene as defendants.

Lawyer DeFere, representing Mr. Schwab, explained to Judge Lacombe that the issues of the action were such that Mr. Schwab should properly be a complainant, the answer of the defendants containing allegations of such a character that Mr. Schwab should in all fairness be given the opportunity to come in and show his position.

The order also stayed all further proceedings until the expiration of the time for the filing of the answer and cross bill.

SMOKER AND ELECTION.

Railway Club of Pittsburgh Holds an Enthusiastic Annual Meeting.

Over 200 members voted the second annual meeting and smoker of the Railway club of Pittsburgh, held last evening at the Henry hotel, the most successful in the history of the organization. In addition to the annual election of officers there were addresses, recitations and music, after which a luncheon was served. The address of the evening was delivered by the Hon. H. H. Kelley, who is a member of the club. H. F. Clark, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, also spoke.

The election of officers resulted as follows: L. H. Turner, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, president; F. T. Hyndman, master mechanic of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, vice president; J. D. McIlwain, president of the J. D. McIlwain Company, treasurer, and J. D. Conway of the motive power department of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, secretary. Both Mr. McIlwain and Mr. Conway were re-elected. The latter has served as secretary since the formation of the club in October, 1901, and has done much to make it one of the largest in the country. The following were elected members of the executive committee: E. M. Herr, manager of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company; C. L. Gist, superintendent of transportation of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and F. H. Stark, superintendent of rolling stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

At the meeting last night nine new members were added, bringing the membership to 511.

ELOPERS IN TROUBLE.

Girl's Angry Father Wanted the Confessed Young Benedict Arrested.

A man, whose name the police would not make public, accompanied by his son and daughter, called at the East End police station last night and wanted a warrant issued for the arrest of the young man, who is about 21 years old, eloped with his daughter and committed perjury in Youngstown, O., in order to get married. The girl is but 15 years old. The accused young man was found by a policeman and taken to the station house. He declared he was married to the girl. Lieut. Reese Jenkins refused to lock the young man up without a warrant and Inspector W. J. Boyle arrived later and also refused to take action. He advised the father to make an investigation of the case before taking any rash step.

BLAME PLACED BY MR. FINNEY

Agent of the B. & O. Shows Who Is Responsible for Holding Up the Ordinances.

VERNER CONTROLS COMBINE

Some Facts About the New Water Street Railroad Are Ascertained at Harrisburg—Real Promoters in the Back Ground.

Robert Finney, Jr., general agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company in Pittsburgh, has made a statement showing that Murry A. Verner, chairman of the Citizens county committee, is in complete control of the select council combine.

Mr. Finney goes into detail concerning the hold-up of the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances. Among other things he mentioned filing of an application for a charter for a railroad to run along Water street covering the ground the Baltimore & Ohio wants for its new station. He says that Pittsburgh politicians are back of this project. News from Harrisburg yesterday confirmed this, as the state department made public the filing of an application for a charter for the Pittsburgh Connecting and Terminal Railroad Company. The real men in the scheme are not made known. Several Harrisburg corporation lawyers are named as the incorporators.

Mr. Finney was asked who is responsible for holding up the various Baltimore & Ohio ordinances. If these bills were passed by select council, the company would spend $1,200,000 in improvements and give employment to 1,200 additional men in the shops at Glenwood. Mr. Finney made this answer to the query:

What the "Boys" Wanted.

I was informed up to the last moment that there would probably be no opposition to the ordinances in select council, that the Citizens party members would vote for them and that the combine would not oppose them. Rumors, however, came to me that there were dealings going on between Mr. Verner who, while he did not then admit his control of the combine, assured me that he would do everything possible to assist in the passage of the ordinances. The rumors, however, continued and I could get no definite assurance from S. J. Wainwright, Jr., one of the reputed leaders of the combine whom Mr. Verner had promised to see and whom he undoubtedly did see.

On the afternoon of July 4 I met a member of the combine who informed me that it had been decided by the boys to send the ordinances back to the committee. I asked for an explanation and the forthcoming answer was: "You are not a ——— fool, and neither am I. You know what we want."

On the afternoon of July 6 I attended the meeting of select council, and found the leaders of the combine, every member of which as well as every Citizens party member had repeatedly pledged himself to vote for the ordinances, actively engaged in lining up the members against them. I still felt sanguine that the ordinances would go through on second reading, as three Republicans—Murphy, Lambie and Sankey—continued to promise their support which promises were fulfilled. But when the time came the three Citizens—Barry, Geary and Kearns—went over to the combine, and the ordinances were sent back to the committee.

Verner Controls Combine.

Quiet inquiry was then made and the information received was that their action was taken at the instance of Mr. Verner. I met Mr. Verner on the last day and asked for an explanation. He demanded my source of information and when it was forthcoming, admitted the fact. Finally, after I had called his particular attention to the injury he was doing the laboring interests in the Twenty-third ward and the people of the city in general, he promised that the ordinances would be put through at the first meeting in September. When asked the reason for tying up the ordinances, he said that there were "two or three reasons," but he would not go into details.

Some days later I had a further discussion of the matter with other Citizens leaders. I was informed by them that Verner was in absolute control of the combine, that he had demanded that the ordinances must go from the Pennsylvania railroad, and, not getting them, had determined to declare war on the Pennsylvania railroad Duquesne way ordinance, and that the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances were held up by him that he might demonstrate to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company his ability to control select council. I was also told that Mr. Verner considered the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania as belonging to the same interests and that he gave this as his reason for holding up the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances.

How Verner Shifted.

When councils met after the summer vacation, I called on Mr. Verner and was assured that the ordinances would go right through. First he said this would be done at the first meeting and then at the second, and finally that he had not the slightest intention of carrying out his promises, and that we were simply being lolled along for the purpose of extracting free transportation and incidentally securing assistance for the pending election. I insisted on definite assurances which Mr. Verner and those associated with him in the management of the Citizens party refused to give, other than a vague promise that the ordinances would go through.

In the meantime we learned that some politicians at Harrisburg were getting a charter for a railroad to run up Water street from the Point and locate on the ground covered by our station ordinance east of Smithfield street. Confronted with this duplicity, we stopped our conferences with Mr. Verner and the other leaders of the Citizens party in disgust.

We think our proposition is a fair one to the people of the city of Pittsburgh, and having resorted to all honorable means to secure the passage of our ordinances, we now feel that we are compelled to go back of those who hold the position of representatives of the people and submit our case to the people themselves.

Route of the New Road.

Some information concerning the new road spoken of by Mr. Finney was given out at Harrisburg yesterday. The state department admits that a charter has been applied for by the Pittsburgh Connecting the Terminal Railroad Company. The application was filed on October 6. The life of the charter asked for is 999 years. The following is the route of the proposed road:

Beginning at a point in the Thirty-fifth ward of the city of Pittsburgh, at the intersection of Shafer street and Woodville avenue; thence in a northeasterly direction through the Thirty-fifth ward to the Thirty-fourth ward, near the point where the Duquesne incline is now constructed; thence continuing in a northeasterly direction to the point at the confluence of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers in the First ward of the city of Pittsburgh; thence in an easterly direction along Water street, through the First ward and part of the second ward to the east building line of the Smithfield street bridge in the city of Pittsburgh.

It will be noticed that the eastern terminal of the projected road is on the property that the Baltimore & Ohio is endeavoring to secure for its new station. The mileage of the road is 3½ miles.

Real Promoters Under Cover.

The real promoters of the scheme do not appear in the open. The incorporators named are William C. Farnsworth, Edward West, Albert G. Raymond, Fetcher. Farnsworth is a Harrisburg corporation lawyer, who quite frequently takes out charters for his clients. The other men are in Farnsworth's office.

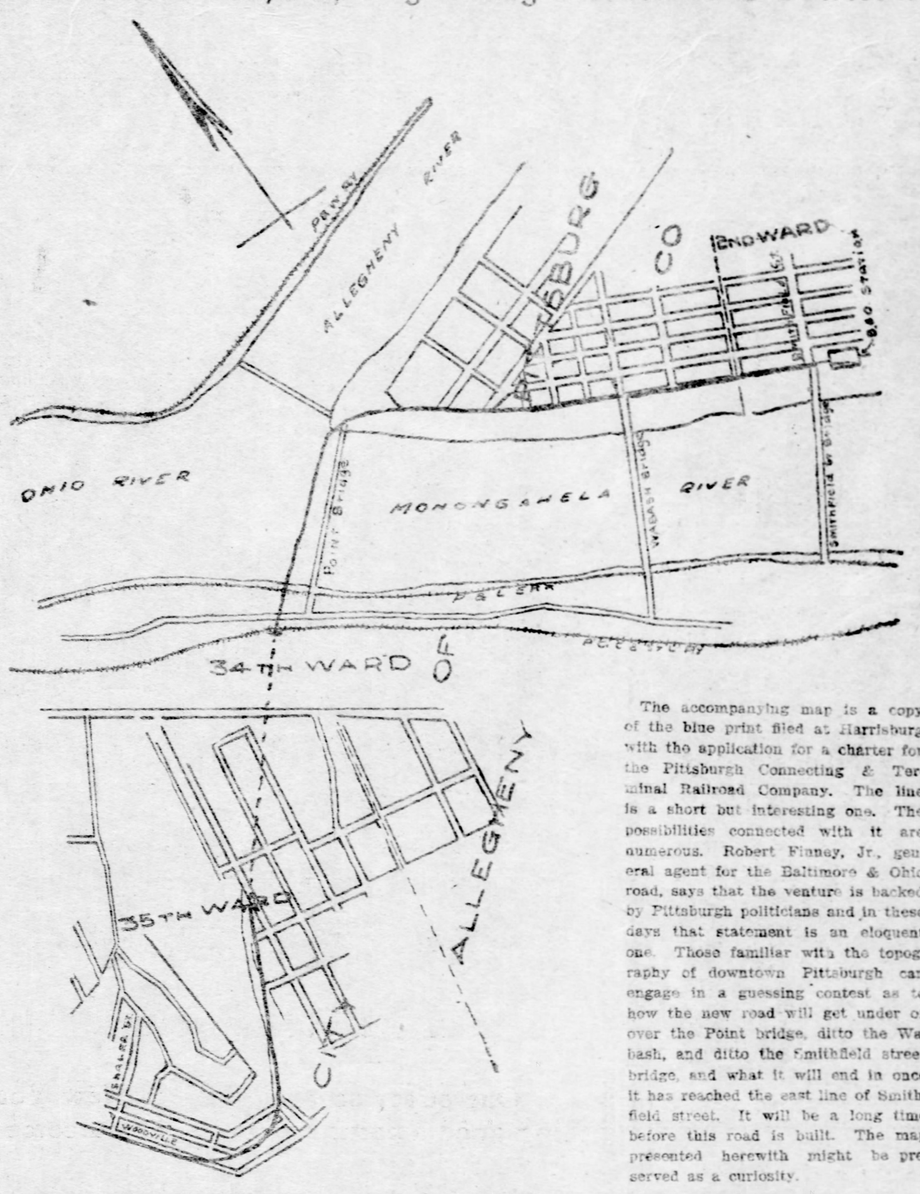
The capital stock of the company is placed at $25,000 to be divided into 500 shares of a par value of $50. Farnsworth is credited with 98 shares and the other men one each. Farnsworth is named as the president of the road and is also on the board of directors with West and Fritcher.

Mr. Verner says that he will not make a reply to Mr. Finney, claiming that the statement was issued for political purposes. He does say, however, that he never made any promises to Mr. Finney. The chairman of the Bigelow committee has announced on a number of occasions that he had nothing to do with the ordinances. Now he says that he is opposed to them and gives this reason:

"My opposition to the ordinance rests upon the matter of the rental offered. The Baltimore & Ohio wants $1,500,000 worth of property. It is now paying to the city $8,000 a year; it first offered $4,000 more, making $7,000 in all; now it offers, I understand, $10,000. I am opposed to the Baltimore & Ohio ordinance for the reason I have mentioned; let the Baltimore & Ohio offer a fair rental and I shall not be opposed to the ordinance."

Mr. Finney may make another statement after reading the remarks of Mr. Verner.

Diagram Showing Proposed Route of a Road That Will Have Many Engineering Difficulties to Overcome



The accompanying map is a copy of the blue print filed at Harrisburg with the application for a charter for the Pittsburgh Connecting & Terminal Railroad Company. The line is a short but interesting one. The possibilities connected with it are numerous. Robert Finney, Jr., general agent for the Baltimore & Ohio road, says that the venture is backed by Pittsburgh politicians and in these days that statement is an eloquent one. Those familiar with the topography of downtown Pittsburgh can engage in a guessing contest as to how the new road will get under or over the Point bridge, ditto the Wabash, and ditto the Smithfield street bridge, and what it will end in once it has reached the east line of Smithfield street. It will be a long time before this road is built. The map presented herewith might be preserved as a curiosity.

FIRE WRECKS THE P. & W. SHOPS

ing for several hundred yards. Men and boys were on house tops and outbuildings with buckets, extinguishing the playing embers that were carried from the burning building.

The firemen working at the east end of the yards were considerably handicapped. Piles of axles, cross beams, wheels and rough timber were so close together that it was impossible to get between them. The firemen had to get on top of railroad cars and climb over the heaps of material. Several of the fire fighters fell while stepping on the wet railroad tracks and in crossing the piles of axles.

Wind Saved Other Buildings.

The wind was blowing in a southeasterly direction, and it was due to that fact that the roundhouse and pattern shop was not included in the conflagration. Three engines were in the yards when the fire originated, and the hostlers took charge of the throttles and lost no time in getting them on the main line ready for use if they would be needed. A naphthe tank was in the yard. The railroad men say it was partly full. A crew hauled it to a place of safety near the Sixth street bridge.

Several of the box cars, which were in good order but had been run into the yard waiting for orders to be taken on the road, were removed. There is little track room east of the yards, and that prevented the firemen taking out all the cars.

No effort was made to remove those standing alongside the machine shop. They were on fire before the trainmen could reach them and could not be moved for fear of setting fire to the ones already taken to a place of safety.

Flooded Out the Fire.

Eight streams were poured into the buildings at the eastern end of the yards. After the cars had been moved there was little danger of the fire spreading east and the principal material was steel castings. This permitted the firemen to run their hose alongside the machine shop and pour the water directly into the worst part of the fire.

The fire had not been burning 20 minutes when the roof caved in. The pulleys and fixings fastened to roof of the shop, which were used to operate the lathes and other machinery, fell with the roof. It made a terrific noise and some of the onlookers claimed that it was an explosion. When the roof fell a volume of sparks and a flame went heavenward, lighting up both cities, soon to die away, as though the fire had been extinguished. Within two minutes the fire ate through the roof, and the sky was again brilliantly illuminated.

Chief John K. Hunter said that 10 minutes after the alarm came in he turned in a general alarm. The fire had a big start when the firemen arrived. It was all through the building and had even spread to rolling stock on the tracks outside the shops.

WOMEN WERE TERRORIZED.

For the second time within a week an attempt was made early yesterday morning to enter the residence of Mrs. William Herr, No. 5010 Liberty avenue. Mrs. Herr, her aged mother and a daughter were the sole occupants of the house at the time. Although they heard an officer outside on his beat opening and closing a police box while the would-be burglar was at work on a rear door of the house, they were too terrified to give an alarm. The man, after working at the lock for nearly an hour, was frightened away by the bark of a dog.

The matter was not reported to the police until last night. Mr. Herr is absent from the city.

WANTS TO KILL CHILD.

Alleged Desire of a Man With Peculiar Religious Ideas.

Henry Tyer of No. 916 Watson street, who is thought to be demented, is locked up in Central station. He was taken there last night by Officer Christ Kohn and his brother-in-law, H. T. Brown, of Sheridan.

Tyer is a bill poster and has acted queerly before. He is very religious and thinks his mission is to kill Brown's child so Brown says, and has tried to do so several times. He was arrested once for trying to kill the child. Brown says, and was sent for 30 days to the workhouse. An inquiry will be made into his sanity today.

ANARCHIST ARRESTED BY SECRET SERVICE MEN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Armed with a warrant, four immigration inspectors with several secret service detectives and a number of policemen went to Murray Hill lyceum tonight and arrested John Turner, on the charge of inciting and promoting anarchy.

Turner had just finished a lecture on "Trade Unionism of the General Strike," and the hall which was crowded, was in an uproar. But the police were too numerous for the crowd to do more than shout their disapproval. Turner was put aboard a revenue cutter and taken to Ellis Island, where he was locked up.

The federal officers allege he has been preaching anarchy, and though trailed by a number of secret service detectives, he was not apprehended until tonight. Emma Goldman sat on the platform with Turner, and denounced his arrest, but urged the crowd to leave the hall without making a demonstration.

WRECKED ENGINE CRASHES INTO DUNBAR STATION

Young Woman Imprisoned in Waiting Room as Result of Collision.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DUNBAR, PA., Oct. 23.—A wreck on the Fairmont division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, occurred at this place tonight. Extra engine No. 1757, hauling 50 cars of coke, crashed into a local freight. The engine plowed through the caboose and several cars and crashed into the ladies' waiting room. Miss Nellie Gans of Fort Marion, Pa., was hurled from her seat in the station about 10 feet.

The crash caused consternation among citizens who were aroused by the shrill whistle of the wrecked locomotives. Axes were procured and windows bursted and the young woman was rescued. Her coat and pocketbook was found under the engine. South of the station is a bridge which spans Dunbar creek and the creek is filled with coke and wrecked cars. The trainmen saved themselves by jumping.

CARNEGIE ALL RIGHT.

Practically All of the Citizens in the Town Are Back in Republican Fold.

Carnegie will give the Republican ticket a big majority this fall. The Citizens party is practically dead there, its former supporters having returned to their old fold.

A meeting of the workers was called last night. Instead of an attendance of about 15, as was expected, over 500 people turned out. A. W. McMillan presided. Speeches were made by Maj. Robert E. Stewart, Charles A. O'Brien, Walter E. Billows and Stephen Boyle.

Republican clubs were organized last night in Bank hall and the big attendance and general enthusiasm manifested indicate a heavy vote. Samuel McKim was chairman of the meeting and Adam R. Hayes was secretary. Arrangements were made for a big mass meeting to be held tomorrow night, and this will be followed by other meetings until the eve of election.

RALSTON SCHOOL BOARD IS STILL DEADLOCKED

The Ralston school board met last night but adjourned 15 minutes after they convened. They met with a view to break the long existing deadlock over plumbing contracts but this they could not do. The matter is now in court.

HAVERHILL, MASS., Oct. 23.—The body of Frederick G. Tuttle, treasurer of the Banner of Light Publishing Company, publishers of the Spiritualist organ published here, was found in Lake Pentucket today. In letters to his family Tuttle communicated his intention of committing suicide and said that his body would be found in the lake.

Varnish Interests to Consolidate.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—R. B. Dunham, president of the Cleveland Varnish Company, as chairman of a special committee, has issued a call to the varnish manufacturers of the country to meet in Chicago, Nov. 19, for the purpose of forming an association composed of representatives of that industry.

CAMPAIGN WITHOUT A DEFINITE ISSUE

Secretary Shaw Denies Peculiar Situation in Opening Speech in Iowa.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MUSCATINE, IA., Oct. 23.—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury of the United States, opened the Iowa campaign tonight with a speech at Muscatine, in which he talked for two hours upon the tariff, combinations of capital, money and ship subsidy questions, making as the keynote of his talk an appeal to the people to demand the opening up of the markets of the south for United States products.

He spoke to the largest political gathering ever assembled here and said in part:

"We are now within the wave of another campaign and with no present indications of an issue. Our friends are groping in the dark. The candidate for governor in no state dare express himself on the money question. The Democratic nominee for governor in no state dare say whether he is in favor of free silver or in favor of the gold standard; whether he is bimetallist or a monometallist; whether he is a Bryan Democrat or a Cleveland Democrat.

"And the Democratic candidate for governor in no state except Iowa dare define himself on the tariff question. Of course they all dare say that the tariff should be revised by a Democratic majority. Of course, they all dare say that the tariff should be modified wherever it would be to the advantage of the country to have it modified.

"Of course, the Democratic candidate for governor in Massachusetts dare recommend free wool and free hides, but none of them except the candidate for governor of this state dare say whether he is in favor of a tariff for revenue only or whether he is in favor of a tariff for protection. The details of tariff schedules cannot afford an issue for a national campaign."

FAVORS JOINT USE.

President Ramsey Talks About the Duquesne Way Elevated Road Ordinance.

President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning from New York and left during the night for St. Louis, accompanied by his mother and his sister, Mrs. W. D. Holliday. The object of his visit to Pittsburgh at this time was for the purpose of taking his mother home. During the morning he spent some time in conference with J. W. Patterson, president of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western, when the Greene county plans were gone over.

President Ramsey said last night that he did not discuss the Duquesne way ordinance, except incidentally. He said that he did not care to go over the ground again as to what the Wabash wants as regards a right of way along Duquesne way. He reiterated his statement made upon a recent visit that the Wabash would of joint ownership of the elevated tracks, although he said he didn't know who would take the initiative.

The financial stringency is causing the Wabash little embarrassment, President Ramsey said that the tightness of money would in no way affect the work in and about Pittsburgh. The placing of $800,000 with two Pittsburgh banks Thursday for wages and construction work in this district, he thought, was proof that there would be no letup.

BETTER SEATS OFFERED.

Decreased Demand for Positions at the Pittsburgh Orchestra Concerts.

The open sale of seats for the Pittsburgh orchestra concerts will begin on Monday, with the best choice of position that has ever been given to the public. The subscription sale which commenced yesterday showed a decrease in the demand, and only nine boys stood in line before S. Hamilton's music store in Fifth avenue to hold places for intending purchasers. About 40 persons were in line to buy seats, the number being less than at any former subscription sale.

Manager George H. Wilson says that the reputation of the soloists which will come to Pittsburgh this season gives assurances of good audiences. It had been expected, however, that there would be an encouraging sale of season tickets in order to give the guarantors an opportunity to estimate in advance the extent of the public patronage.

FOUND BODIES OF TWO DROWNED MEN

Five Italians Washed Over the Dam at Springdale and Only One Escapes.

DRUGGIST ENDS HIS LIFE

Overwork Thought to Have Unbalanced the Mind of Joseph Seeburger—Coroner's Jury Thinks George McDowell, a Painter, Was Murdered.

While crossing the Allegheny river in a boat at Springdale early Thursday morning five Italians were washed over the dam. Four of the men were drowned and the other escaped. Two of the bodies were found yesterday and were identified as those of George Ludick, 25 years old, and Michael Ursyni, 44 years old. Both men lived in Springdale and were employed at the Heidelmann mirror works. At a late hour last night the other drowned men had not been found.

The men started to cross the river about 6:40 o'clock. Joseph Kubany, who was in the boat, said it was foggy and they lost their bearings. Before they knew where they were they were carried over the dam. The boat capsized and the men were thrown in the water. Kubany is a strong swimmer and swam to the bank. The other men were washed away and drowned.

The river was dragged and the body of Ursyni was found Thursday night and that of Ludick yesterday. Deputy Coroner John Black held the inquest in the cases yesterday and the jury determined the drowning was accidental, but recommended their employers providing more efficient means of conveying the men across the river.

Overwork Proved Fatal.

Joseph Seeburger, 33 years old, of No. 30 Enon alley, South Side, committed suicide yesterday morning in his room by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver. It is supposed his mind became affected because of overstudy. He was employed as a general assistant in the plant of the Gilmore Drug Company, Seventh avenue. He went to his room after breakfast to prepare to go to work. He partly undressed and lay on the bed.

A few minutes afterward his mother heard a shot. She hurried to the room and found him lying on the bed apparently dead. She summoned a physician, but when he arrived Seeburger was dead. The weapon which Seeburger destroyed himself with was an old-fashioned 38-caliber affair, which had been in the family for several generations. The mother and son owned some property on the South Side. Seeburger was attending a business college and his mother is of the opinion that his work in the day and study at night was too much for him.

The inquest in the death of George McDowell, a painter, who was found unconscious in Diamond street on August 28, and who died in the Homeopathic hospital on that night, was held yesterday. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that McDowell had come to his death by a blow on the head which was administered by unknown parties, and the jury recommended that he apprehended and held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder.

Michael Gorman, 29 years old, of Ashley, Pa., died at the Mercy hospital yesterday from injuries received Wednesday by being caught between two cars on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Gorman was employed as a brakeman.

Sudden Death of Aged Woman.

Leaving the breakfast table, and remarking that she felt so well that she thought she would return home, Mrs. Susannah Topp, 80 years old, of Industry, who had been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Bashoor of McKeesport, suddenly fell over dead at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. She had long been a sufferer from heart trouble. She was the wife of John Topp of Industry, and was born in Germany. Two sons and three daughters are living.

Peter Manley of Highland station was struck by the Pittsburgh, Ohio train No. 2230 at City Farm last night and instantly killed. He was crossing the tracks and did not notice the approaching train. Mandea was 17 years old and a laborer.

Edward Washington, a negro, of No. 37 Tinker street, died yesterday afternoon at the Allegheny county workhouse from dropsy. He was 21 years old and single.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crappion, aged 81 years, died suddenly at 6 o'clock last evening at her home, No. 705 Sarah street, South Side.

FATALLY HURT IN ROLLS.

Two Carpenters Got Bad Falls 'Saw Sharpener Hit by Train. Other Accidents.

John Petniski, an employe of the Carnegie steel mill of Duquesne, was caught in a train of rolls last night. His scalp was lacerated and his hip fractured and he was internally hurt. He will not recover.

Louis Maiseed, a carpenter, fell from a scaffold 25 feet high in the Tenth ward, McKeesport, yesterday, and suffered a laceration of the scalp and body bruises.

Leonard Bochman, aged 6, is at his home, No. 461 Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg, suffering from a broken arm and internal injuries received in falling 50 feet from the Pennsylvania railroad bridge in Kelly street, Wilkinsburg.

John Orlock of Gallitzin, a carpenter, fell 20 feet down a flight of stairs at his boarding house in Dickson street, Homestead, yesterday morning, breaking his right and sustaining many cuts and bruises on the head and body.

Alexander Alexander, aged 28, of Wylie avenue, was struck by a freight train on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad, near McClure street, Homestead, yesterday morning, and painfully injured. Alexander is a traveling saw dresser and sat on the railroad to sharpen a meat saw. He was hurled nearly 20 feet.

COL. WATTERSON SCORES NEW RICH

Venerable Kentuckian Incidentally Roasts Bryanites and Roosevelt Republicans.

GOLD DEMOCRATS HOPEFUL

Louisville Editor Makes Severe Arraignment of the Class He Characterizes as "the God-Forgetting Rich, Who Make Laws Unto Themselves."

Col. Henry Watterson of Louisville, Ky., editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, after his lecture on society at the Carnegie Music hall last night prophesied ill luck for President Roosevelt in the coming election and made sanguine predictions for the chances of Judge Parker and Senator Gorman.

"We gold Democrats," declared the venerable Kentuckian, "who sacrificed ourselves for our country on the altar of a most ingrateful constituency, are beginning to get our innings, both against the short-sighted Bryanites and the equally shortsighted Republicans. We are the true Independents in politics. If the country is to be saved, count us in.

"I can't help thinking that it will be a toss-up between Judge Parker and Senator Gorman. Either of them, in my judgment, can beat Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Gorman represents the strictest line of Democratic party precedent; Judge Parker represents all that is potent and speculative in New York Democracy.

"I have a suspicion that Mr. Roosevelt will be the first accidental president to attain the nomination from his party to lose his election. There is a fatality in these things. There are knives whetted for him in the lodge rooms of Republican secrecy."

Social Climbers Were Sound.

Col. Watterson's arraignment of Republicanism and Bryanism was mild compared to is scoring of the new rich who struggle for social prestige. With perfect rhetoric and the proverbial ease of the southerner of the old school he was master of the stage and charmed his small, but cultured audience. He was introduced by Dr. W. J. Holland and talked for two hours upon the whims of society and the money-mad coterie that has sprung up in American cities. He did not make any attack upon local society, but diverged far enough from his manuscript to praise Pittsburgh institutions and to laud American citizenship, regardless of the evils which he assailed in the upper social crust.

"The poor babe that comes in at the back door has equal chances to become president of the United States with the child which comes heralded and pulls the whiskers of its millionaire father," declared Col. Watterson. "But honorable poverty seems to be a lost art." Continuing he said:

Somewhat over a year ago a most lamentable tragedy, taking for its mise en scene the vestibule of the temple of fashion, the Sanctum Sanctorum of the Four Hundred—led me in the line of my duty as a reporter to the house of mourning plain, and it may have been thought some very harsh things about the nouveaux riches—the idle rich—the God-forgetting, world-defying, law-scorning rich—who themselves as a law unto themselves, who submit to no restraints except those fixed by nature and the surgeon's knife, even where they submit to these—people who believe in no future except that the longest purse brings down the biggest titles, no rule of conduct except that impelling them to eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die, no children's turn; a code which I am told became altogether the rage in Babylon some centuries ago.

Sarcasm of the Kentuckian.

They society? Has Caliban grace? Is Tom Thumb manhood? Must the Simian and the snell be accepted as interchangeable types, or alternating measurements of human brain, beauty? I should think no reading some of the reports that come to us from the inner circles of that spelling house in Long Acre, known for its gaiety and affectation, which takes its cue from Leicester square and the Corinthian club in London—which emulates the demi-monde of Paris—which apes the fashionable abodes of luxury and ultimor at Newport, and thinks no more of running down an ordinary pedestrian in its automobile than you and I would think of brushing away a spider or a fly.

Scream Cordal lift up your hearts! I at least have never wasted a thought or marred a line over the fatuous antics, nor shall I do so until mammy-dinners become as popular in Pennsylvania as they seem to be in Rhode Island. I know that in each of the great cities of the world there is a little coterie of silly women and simpering Johnnies, which would imitate the imitators; but they are too shallow and too scattered to make much headway against society, which, at its best, is composed of those who, by their character, their genius and their good fortune, have earned the right to dwell in great houses, to form the exception of the collective display of wealth—to fill the picture galleries and libraries and horses and carriages, and, if they please, yachts and automobiles, and to show them, that great accord of the well-bred and well-to-do, that great American community, clean of birth and clear of grit—those cultivated men and women who live without scandal and tread without adventure, not rich, indeed, but quite able to pay as they go—the root and expectancy of true manhood and womanhood, the very buttress and bull-wark of our free republic.

The speaker closed with an eloquent appeal for a union of all sections of the country for the triumph of simple life over the "thralldom of riches." Col. Watterson was entertained at luncheon by the Pittsburgh Club yesterday by George C. Burgwin. He returned to his home in Louisville this morning at 7 o'clock.

GREATER THAN ALL DIVIDENDS

Pittsburgh Coal's Undivided Earnings Exceed Four Years' Returns on Preferred Stock.

THIS YEAR TO MAKE RECORD

Earnings for First Nine Months Nearly 100 Per Cent Over 1902—September Exceeds Preceding September by 50 Per Cent—Dividend Checks Mailed.

Holders of the preferred stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company will receive today the checks for the regular quarterly dividend. This is the 16th dividend the preferred stock has received and its payment finds the company in the best condition it has ever experienced in its four years of prosperity.

A statement issued by the Pittsburgh Coal Company yesterday says:

"After the payment of this dividend the company has left a greater sum of earnings, undivided, than have been declared and paid in dividends during the past four years. Out of these undivided earnings of the company up to September 30, 1903, regular dividends of 7 per cent per annum on the preferred stock of the company could be paid for a period of five years if the company should not earn any money at all during that period.

Year of Great Earnings.

"The net earnings for the month of September were $620,235 56, as against earnings in the same month of 1902 of $434,-356 73. The net earnings for the first nine months of 1903 were $5,153,758 48, compared with net earnings of $2,883,-220 77 for the same period in 1902. The excess of earnings during the first nine months of this year over the same period of last year is $2,285,467 71. These net earnings have been reduced according to the unvarying policy of the company, by regular monthly charges for coal exhausted and depreciation of plant and equipment. The sinking fund of the company thus accumulated during the four years of its operations now amounts to about $5,000,000.

"The earnings for the coming six months will compare favorably with the very good earnings of the year 1903 to date, for the reason that practically all of the coal that the company will be able to mine and ship during that period is already sold on yearly contracts at good prices.

Lake Coal Soon to Be Cash.

"About 40 per cent of the company's output is shipped from Lake Erie ports to docks along the great lakes, and during the months of navigation a sufficient surplus of stock is accumulated on the docks to provide for the consumers' requirements during the months in which navigation is closed. The company owns a very large percentage of all the dock facilities along the great lakes and owns the coal that is carried on them until actual delivery is made to consumers.

"In this way a large sum in working capital is employed during the summer months in the mining, transportation, unloading etc., of this coal. The coal carried on these northwestern docks at this time, which will be turned into cash from month to month as deliveries are made to consumers, represents an item almost sufficient to take care of the entire floating and current debt of the company, without taking into account or upwards of $7,000,000 of good accounts receivable now on the books."

The selling of the stocks of the company at new low record prices yesterday on the Pittsburgh stock exchange was evidently not due to the condition of the company.

EXAMINATIONS WILL TAKE SEVERAL DAYS

Announcement of Plans in Connection With Banks in Hands of Receivers Is Not Ready.

Work was continued yesterday on the books and papers of the Federal National bank and the First National Bank of Allegheny by Receivers Cunningham and Vaughan. The statement was made yesterday afternoon that the receiver of the First National of Allegheny had found matters in such shape that the bank would reopen this morning, but this was denied authoritatively last evening. The bank is in good shape, it was said, but the detailed work of examination now in progress necessitates more time than has yet been devoted to the task. It is expected that no announcement and report can be made until the middle of next week.

Contrary to general belief, the Federal National interests do not hold a majority of the stock of the First National of Allegheny. They have a large holding, and it is by the working of other interests with them that they succeeded in becoming close to the institution, but the changes in the majority of the directors had not been made so as to give the Federal control.

The report was started yesterday that persons not allied to the Federal National have made a proposition to the Federal National interests and others for the purchase of a majority of the stock of the First National of Allegheny and desired to obtain the control of the institution and operate it independently. The clearing house membership of the institution is a very valuable asset and one that it is almost impossible to duplicate. Those connected with the bank said they had no intimation of such a plan being started.

Jumped Through Skylight.

John Simpson, a negro of Uniontown, Pa., created a sensation in a restaurant at No. 607 Penn avenue yesterday by jumping through a skylight on the second floor. It is thought Simpson is demented. Several employes of the place were necessary to get him into the cellar. He was later locked up in the East End police station charged with disorderly conduct. His hand was cut, but not seriously.

First of the Mums.

The first public show of chrysanthemums of the season will be on view tomorrow afternoon at the conservatories of H. C. Frick at Penn and Homewood avenues. Chief Gardener David Frazier, in addition to the display of chrysanthemums, will have an exhibit of orchids and other late autumn blooms. The exhibition will last four weeks.

MONEY SAFELY INVESTED.

There are too many people in this world carried away with promises of a large interest rate on their investments. The normal return from a safe investment never exceeds 3 or 4 per cent, and no amount of financial genius can improve upon it. There is nothing more satisfactory in these days, when listed stocks and bonds are going topsy-turvey, than an investment or savings account with a reliable bank, and the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings of this city—one of the oldest and strongest financial institutions in the country—offers what we believe to be the simplest, safest, and most satisfactory way to invest money. Whether you have $1.00 or $100.00 to invest, you should write this bank for a copy of booklet 20 on "Up-to-Date" banking, and receive at the same time a handsomely illustrated souvenir of the Iron City.

TWO CROATIANS DENY MURDER OF FERGUSON

Pittsburgh Officers Will Go to London, England, After the Men.

The two Croatians arrested in Southampton, England, Wednesday, suspected of having killed and robbed S. T. Ferguson at Middletown, Washington county, September 29th, denied all connection with that crime yesterday in the Bow street station house, London. They were remanded for a hearing. The Croatians say they know nothing about the killing of Contractor Ferguson.

The first official announcement of the Croatians' arrest was received at Washington yesterday, when Ambassador Choate cabled the state department that the men had been remanded for a hearing upon the arrival of the extradition papers and the officers from the United States. The state department at Washington immediately notified Governor Pennypacker at Harrisburg of the detention of the men.

Superintendent Thomas A. McQuaide reached Washington yesterday to complete arrangements for the extradition of the Croatians. He conferred with Solicitor Dyne and presented the authorization from Gov. Pennypacker. The extradition papers will be issued today. Supt. McQuaide and Detective Richard Kelly will then be appointed as representatives of the state to go to London and bring the Croatians back. They will start for England next week.

DON'T WANT RAILROAD SHOPS IN GLENWOOD

Rump Surverys Committee Intends to Keep Ordinances Vacating Glenwood Streets.

The "rump" committee on surveys of select council will meet at 2 p. m. on Monday, prior to the regular meeting of select council. This committee has before it the ordinances vacating 12 streets in Glenwood to make way for the shops of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the measures being entirely separate from the ordinance granting the Baltimore & Ohio the rights to the wharf from Smithfield street to Grant street. Besides these ordinances the committee has before it a number of ordinances locating and grading streets. The Baltimore & Ohio ordinance will not be brought out of the committee, the excuse being that the other ordinances will take up the committee's time. The joint committee on charities will meet at 2:30 p. m.

City Clerk Edgar W. Hassler yesterday said that the criticism was unjust that charged that the minutes had been doctored of the select council's committee on corporations on Thursday afternoon. It was said that John Benz, in making a speech advocating the sealing of the Baltimore & Ohio wharf ordinance to a sub-committee, suggested John S. Lambie, president of select council, as one of the members of the sub-committee instead. Mr. Hassler said:

"In suggesting a sub-committee Mr. Benz said that the chairman of select council ought to be a member. Now, there is no chairman of select council, but there is a president of that body. Everybody understood Mr. Benz to mean the chairman of the select council's committee on corporations, the committee that was meeting, of which John Upperman is chairman. It was merely a slip of the tongue."

VOTES ARE ALL IN.

Window Glass Workers Decide on the Question of Amalgamation.

The independent organization of glass workers, of which John Phillipps is president, closed their referendum vote yesterday on the question of amalgamating with the Burns faction, which is the old organization affiliated with the Knights of Labor. The votes will be counted today. Depending on this vote is the scale for the next fire.

Simon Burns, heading the Knights of Labor organization, is holding out for high wages and a late fire, while the Denny faction desires to start the fires immediately and at a scale far below that of the Burns faction. The report that reached the city last night that the Denny organization had accepted a scale much below the Burns organization was denied.

C. F. Cole, president of the Independent Window Glass Company, started up his plant in Lancaster, O., but this does not affect the organization, as independent men are operating it.

The executive boards of both organizations met yesterday at the Hotel Henry, but nothing of importance could be done until after the votes of the amalgamation question were counted.

Two Hurt While at Work.

The breaking of a crane chain at the Riter-Conley plant at Leetsdale yesterday morning caused serious injuries to Andrew Ceskize, 42 years old, and to George Berchener, 20 years old. Both men live at Leetsdale. The men were struck by steel which was being moved from one section of the plant to another. Berchener was removed to St. John's General hospital and Ceskize to his home.

Missionary Society Rally.

The eleventh annual rally of the junior missionary societies of the Allegheny and Monongahela presbyteries of the United Presbyterian church will be held in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Highland avenue, at 11 and 1:30 o'clock today.

In view of the fact that we are selling MORE than ever before, it is a matter of Pride to tell you what we think the cause of our success is.

First of all, our

ONE PRICE SYSTEM,

That necessarily means the LOWEST PRICE, because a "ONE PRICE" makes it impossible to cut the price one penny, hence we can't tempt you by the dishonest method of making "all kinds of reductions" to get you to buy. That's why prices at our store must be NOTICEABLY LOWER than elsewhere. Secondly—We never resort to trickery as an excuse for "Sacrifice and Bargain Sales." When we advertise a "Special Sale" there is a genuine reason for it. Consequently we don't have Special Sales every other day.

90 DOLLARS AND UPWARD

You would do well to consider this offer before deciding one way or the other about buying a piano. We are having a sale of shopworn and used upright pianos.

We are offering particularly great bargains.

If you have any thought of purchasing a piano you would not allow so small a matter as $90 to stand in the way. For that price and upward we can sell you a really good instrument.

Hear these instruments played.

Of course, the reason we are selling these pianos at such low figures is because they are not strictly new. New upright pianos of the same makes could not be purchased for less than three or four times the prices we are asking for these. The following celebrated makes are included in this sale:

The Schumann, Smith & Barnes, Knabe, Sterling, Arion, New England, Schirmer, McPhail, Willard, Chickering, etc.

We have some used grand pianos that are great bargains—some as low as $350.

Weather—Fair. Saturday, October 24, 1903.

Excursionists who have waited until the last day of the excursion season to make the trip to the city are cordially invited to make use of this store and all its public conveniences. Each and all are heartily welcome.

Men's Clothing, the Best That Can Be Produced.

Half as much to pay as made-to-measure clothes cost, and everything about the clothes, from cloth to sewing, every bit as good. Some may question whether as perfect fit can be obtained. Why shouldn't there be a perfect fit? There are piles upon piles of clothing here and there is every regular size, as well as what is known as out-sizes—sizes especially modeled for men of irregular form. And that's not all. If a certain coat and the accompanying vest and trousers, happen to need touching up as to fit, we have a corps of expert tailors who attend to that part of the business. The coat, the vest, the trousers, will be made to conform to your ideas, and the work will be done speedily. There are no waits. All this in case nothing can be found in our immense stock that pleases you other than some special number.

Speaking particularly of everyday dress there are inexpensive Suits and Overcoats here that no man who has the least pride for his personal appearance can afford to overlook. They are stylish to a degree; they are perfect fitting; they are made from cloths that receive our personal inspection before they are tailored; there are as many colors here, both plain and in nobby mixtures, as the taste of man can suggest.

Now we are saying this, and it's just possible that we are a bit prejudiced. Suppose you drop into our Fourth Floor Clothing Department, which, by the way, is one of the best appointed in the city—we'll go further and say it is the best—and see if our statements are too broad.

Men's Single-Breasted Sack Suits from $10.00 and by easy range up to $38.00.

Men's Double-Breasted Sack Suits from $15.00 and by easy range up to $30.00.

Saturday, October 24, 1903.

Upon the strength of the report of the proceedings as noted by the reporters, it was mentioned in The Gazette yesterday that President John S. Lambie of select council was a member of the special committee to which the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wabash ordinances were referred. It appears that upon second thought the presence of Mr. Lambie upon the committee might be dangerous to the real object of the reference, and the minutes were subsequently altered to substitute Councilman John Upperman. Mr. Lambie is to be congratulated upon his exclusion.

Canadian comment upon the Alaska award has revealed the fact that the Canadian politicians were averse to the whole proceedings, perhaps from a natural reluctance to expose to judicial scrutiny a claim of such recent origin and weak nature. The British government, however, was determined to secure an adjudication if possible, and the fact that there has been a settlement of the boundary dispute is to be attributed to imperial policy. Canada preferred to nurse a grievance against the United States. The arbitration has disposed of that and now Canada is nursing a grievance against England, which is not a matter of any concern to the United States.

The demoralization of the police force is the natural result of the subordination of discipline to political considerations. Penalties inflicted by the police board have no effect because they are afterward remitted and the inculpated policemen are reinstated. The real penalty falls upon officials who trouble the chief by reporting infractions of discipline. Inspector Kelly of the South Side appears to be getting in trouble from this cause. He has twice dared to report a police captain for being drunk and disorderly upon evidence that once compelled the police board to go through the form of imposing penalties, which did not take effect. Inspector Kelly will will have to quit making such trouble or he will lose his own job.

Farley's confession appears to have sealed Parks' fate. His bondsman, John J. Byrne, has withdrawn and Parks was sent to the Tombs. Byrne is a nephew of William S. Devery and became bondsman at the instance of Devery, who says he is through with Parks now. Bernard Lynch, a saloonkeeper, who testified in Parks' behalf at his trial, has since pleaded guilty to committing perjury, and in a plea for clemency says he was induced to take the course he did by Parks and some others, including a lawyer. The indications are that in the conviction of Parks a deadly blow has been struck at the system of "labor graft" in New York, and that the long tie-up of building operations which it caused will soon be ended.

A statement was made by the Pittsburgh Coal Company that might well have accompanied the announcement of the quarterly dividend some days ago. It is not too late, however, to indicate the rampant folly of a frightened stock market. It makes a most convincing showing of the impregnable condition of the company, since it exhibits earnings far above dividend payments, most ample provision for depreciation of property and earning power of first quality. The management of the company has been conservative and effective, so there is no visible reason why there should ever come a time that it will not be a money making enterprise. Coal is as staple a commodity as flour and one can hardly believe it can become less valuable, or in diminishing demand as compared with the past 10 years.

Postponement works for peace. The alarmist rumors of the past few days that Russia and Japan were within measurable distance of the expected beginning of hostilities are not borne out by a dispatch from Yokohama, which tells that Admiral Alexieff, the Russian viceroy of the far east, is expected to go to St. Petersburg early in November. It is, of course, possible that hostilities may begin in the absence from his own vice regal capital of the man who on the Russian side bears the full responsibility for war or peace, but it is not likely that he would plan a trip if he thought that war was an immediate probability. If the situation is now such that Admiral Alexieff feels it safe to leave the theater of action for a conference with the powers at the imperial capital, it is probable that the difficult questions between Russia and Japan are yielding to diplomatic treatment. There has been an apparent unwillingness on the part of each nation to strike the first blow, and a waiting world will hope that the blow may not be struck. The longer it is delayed the less likelihood that it will fall.

Senator Spooner is on safe ground in declaring his belief that while congress may not act on anything but the Cuban treaty at the extraordinary session next month other things will be discussed. Congress, but more particularly the senate, can be trusted to hang on almost any legislation a few remarks concerning almost anything on the earth beneath, or in the heavens above, or in the waters under the earth, and to even quote irrelevant poetry so that the people may learn that their representatives have been to school and have not forgotten their lessons, and may gather also that they are up-to-date on public questions and on topics of public interest. At the session of congress immediately preceding a presidential election the members, and especially the minority representatives, are certain to be talky, not for the purpose of being convincing, but so that they may go on record for home uses and campaign purposes. Politically the extraordinary session is a part of the session preceding the presidential election, and there is no reason to doubt that Senator Spooner is right when he says that "congress will at least discuss other questions than Cuban reciprocity" beginning with November 9. The tariff, currency problems, immigration problems, the canal problem, the postal scandals and even, perhaps, white supremacy (since a number of southern senators seem inspired with thoughts on the subject which they have recently uncorked with great freedom), are topics which afford golden opportunities for speech making. It would be strange, indeed, if opportunity to discuss these topics and others should be neglected.

The Monstrous Hold-Up.

While the situation with regard to the railroad ordinances which have been referred to a sub-committee of the rump corporations committee of select council has been long rumored, the statement made by Robert Finney, general agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, puts it in the form of specific and detailed charges. Mr. Finney has labored energetically to get those ordinances through, after first securing from his company a reluctant consent to advance the depot rental to $10,000 a year, and securing an alteration of plans that will preserve to the city the fullest use of the wharf. His statement thus comes with the stamp of earnestness and the force of frankness.

County Chairman Murry A. Verner of the Democratic Citizens party is directly implicated and it is up to him to explain. The public looks to him to openly admit or deny the charges made. If he denies it will be expected that he shall do so in circumstantial detail, for Mr. Finney's statement is, on the face of it, a full explanation of the monstrous hold-up that has been practiced upon these ordinances. Mr. Verner to deny successfully must necessarily produce proofs to shift the burden of responsibility from his own to other shoulders and demonstrate why the ordinances have been so treated.

Public interest in this matter is very considerable. In the first place the Baltimore & Ohio railroad proposes to give the city a passenger depot commensurate with the importance of Pittsburgh to its system. To do that it needs to occupy additional public property. For that property it has offered a rental generally deemed adequate. The city needs the revenue. The erection of the depot would employ labor, now, when employment is likely to be needed. The hold-up in the face of financial conditions that are apparent to every citizen may cause indefinite postponement of the desirable improvement, if it does not completely deprive the city of it. The same reasoning in part applies to the Pennsylvania and Wabash ordinances also, since they contemplate increased facilities for handling Pittsburgh traffic and the employment of labor. Then, too, the Hazelwood district ordinances, though pending before another committee, are included in the hold-up. Upon those ordinances depends a large and necessary addition to the Baltimore & Ohio yards, and an addition to the shops that will permit the employment of 1,200 additional men, at an annual wage of nearly $2,000,000. The improvements proposed will be taxable for city purposes, and at the present millage would yield probably more than the rental offered for the depot site. The city needs the money.

Good reasons are required to justify a hold-up of public business of this character. The reasons assigned by Mr. Finney for the hold-up do not justify, but indicate a monstrous abuse of political power. Hence it devolves upon Mr. Verner to show cause why he should not suffer the obloquy attaching to the imputations.

The People in Judgment.

The trial of the mayor on the charge of violating a state law in the discharges of veterans of the civil war from places in the service of the city will be resumed on Monday morning, having been adjourned to that time because of a misunderstanding on the part of the city solicitor. The law of the case governs in the trial, and the question at issue will be finally decided on the law points. As we have pointed out before the trial in the courts is not the only trial of the charges. There is another trial of them wholly apart from the trial in court and having no bearing thereon. The court case might well be tried by a bench of judges where no possible prejudice could enter in. The trial judges may be, however, trusted to exclude partisan considerations and to guide the jury in the proper discharge of its duty. It is a function of the courts to determine not merely the applicability of law to ascertained facts, but also the constitutionality of the law, and the final result will be the ascertainment of whether the mayor has offended against the law. In the other trial it is not a question of law, but of the public's obligation to the men who shielded their country with their lives in its hour of peril. The mayor, like every other official with power to remove and to appoint, is trustee for the people in the discharge of this obligation, as well as in the exercise of his general administrative functions. The debt to the old soldier is one that exists whether fortified in law or unfortified by anything but the public sentiment which found expression in a statute of the commonwealth. While the mayor is on trial in the courts merely for the violation of a statute, he (or more accurately the political power he serves) is on trial before the people for violation of the public will. The obligation resting upon him to keep the people's faith with the defenders of their country may rest upon nothing stronger than does the obligation to give force to the ante-election pledges which have been so freely violated, but that ought to be enough. It was enough for those who preceded him, even had there been no statute, constitutional or unconstitutional. It is enough for the people. The mayor in what he has done represented the masters of the Democratic-Citizens organization, to whom he owes his position, on whom he leans and whom he serves. They have broken their pledges to the people just as they have violated the obligations of the people to the old soldiers. For these violations of trust they are on trial with the mayor in the court of public opinion, and the verdict of the people will appear in the vote that will be cast on election day.

The Business Situation.

While the belief is gaining ground in New York that the liquidation in stocks is practically over, the general business situation in the east has suffered from doubt and inactivity. The movement of drygoods, knit goods and clothing has been discouragingly slow, retailers apparently preferring to await further developments before making heavy purchases. The mercantile movement in the south has slowed down materially, probably in sympathy with eastern conditions. In the west and southwest reports are uniformly good, the southwest in particular boasting unusual prosperity and complete independence of eastern influences. The crops in those sections are above the average, the southwest being especially fortunate. The south, too, has harvested better average crops than the west and is on a good basis.

The distinctly unfavorable development, of the severe liquidation, that began with the suspension of two trust companies in Baltimore and was added to by the suspension of two banks in the Pittsburgh district created a feeling of apprehension in business circles that caused slowing down of commercial movement. Full investigation of the suspended institutions has proven that they were not really in bad condition, but were forced to close merely because they were unable to realize instantly upon their assets. It was deemed better to invoke the aid of receivers in adjusting their affairs than to risk loss by an effort to cash resources upon a sensitive market. One of the Baltimore trust companies is ready to reopen its doors and one of the Pittsburgh banks can resume business in a week or two if that course is deemed best. The investigation into the affairs of these concerns has imparted a better feeling, which by next week should reach a condition of renewed confidence.

At New York the money market is distinctly easier, time loans in some cases having been shaded to 5 per cent, with call loans quoted regularly at 2 to 2½ per cent. A good demand has developed for bonds for permanent investment, which is regarded as an altogether favorable financial symptom.

During the week the iron market became more disturbed, with some shading of prices. The southern iron pool was shaken by secret cutting by some of its members. There is hope that with the beginning of the export cotton movement extreme low rates may be made on iron for ballast that will enable exports from the south. This feature, however, does not warrant any sanguine predictions. The uncertainty of the labor market and the extreme demands made in some cases have discouraged construction plans. Much work is held in abeyance pending an easier labor market and a probable reduction of material cost, and this is the whole matter with the metal trades. The closing of coke ovens in the Connellsville region has been the index to decreasing activity in the production of pig iron and consequently of finished forms.

Yet while some of the symptoms are unfavorable the fact must not be overlooked that basic conditions are good. Crops above the average, an absolutely sound currency and the stored productions of a prolonged period of prosperity are a good foundation upon which to rest and from which to begin expansion again. There is nothing the matter with the resources and energies of the country, and if war should occur between Japan and Russia a demand for American products would be created that would set everything moving again with celerity.

Money Making on the Farm.

The Department of Commerce and Labor has been making a systematic investigation of the market for agricultural implements in every country, and the reports received have just been issued in a well arranged volume. The information given makes a striking exhibit of the minute intensity of agriculture in Japan. The fields of the Japanese farmer are so small that it is stated that "an American threshing machine would require two or three of those fields for standing room when in operation, and the ordinary waste of an American farmer in corners of his fields, amounts to more than the entire crop of many Japanese farmers." Under these circumstances agriculture is conducted on a Lilliputian scale. Wheat, barley and similar grains are sown in rows, carefully tended by hoe culture and harvested by cutting with a small hand sickle. Of course there is no opening in such a country for American farm machinery, but such are the yields produced by intensive culture that last year Japan exported 17,516,000 bushels of potatoes.

Intensive culture does not necessarily imply minute hand labor as in Japan, but may be carried on by the aid of machinery on a large scale. Germany affords a good example of such methods. The average yield of potatoes in Germany in 1902 was 199 bushels an acre. The German potato crop is the basis of important manufacturing industries in the production of starch, glucose and alcohol. Almost seven-eighths of the alcohol produced in Germany is obtained from potatoes, and potato distilleries are a common appurtenance of large farms. This cheap potato alcohol forms the basis of a great number of industries, of the most varied character. The extensive chemical industries of Germany which are such an immense factor in German commerce, are largely dependent upon the supply of alcohol, the trade price of which is only about one-sixth of our internal revenue tax upon alcohol. Our revenue laws, alone among those of civilized countries, make no distinction between spirits for consumption as a beverage and spirits for use in the arts, and while it is our policy to tax spirits several times the cost of production, no such distinction could safely be made. That policy, however, denies to agriculture resources of immense value, whose cultivation would greatly increase the national wealth.

The inquiries of the Department of Commerce and Labor has shown that in a great way Canada is becoming an important competitor of the United States in the manufacture of agricultural implements. Reports from Australia say that Canadian implements are growing in favor and that the Canadian plow is regarded as being better than either the American or British article. In New South Wales, imports of Canadian agricultural machinery increased from $18,000 in 1899 to $45,000 in 1901, while like imports from the United States fell off from $45,000 to $26,750. The figures are small but the tendency they manifest is significant. At present Canada and the United States stand on the same footing in competing for trade in any part of the British empire, but if the imperial reciprocity policy should be adopted Canada would obtain a tariff discrimination in its favor.

Colonel Henry Watterson of Kentucky shows a level head in that while he predicts Republican defeat in the presidential election, he inserts the proviso that the Democrats must get together and nominate a good man. When it comes to the matter of prophecy, the colonel is too old a hand at the business to burn all his bridges behind him.

Senator Quay says that Gov. Pennypacker will fill the vacancy on the supreme bench of Pennsylvania. And it may be remarked that the senator is pretty well acquainted with the governor and the way he makes up his mind to stay.

It ought to be a satisfaction to the owner of every trotter and pacer that the winning of the kingship or queenship of the turf is a mere matter of time.

Dan Patch doesn't sound like the name of a monarch, but Dan wasn't looking for kingly honors when names were being given out.

It appears that it wasn't arbitration Canada wanted, but it didn't feel strong enough for anything else.

Dowie may not be restoring New York very rapidly, but the need for regeneration is just the same.

The press bureau of the Macedonian insurrection has reached the explanation stage.

The political campaign in Pennsylvania is quiet, but will get there just the same.

The railroad ordinances do not seem to be in the hands of their friends.

What is most needed now in speculative circles is the rest cure.

Perhaps sober second thought is having an inning in the far east.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

M. Dybowski, the French inspector of colonial agricultural, has been sent on a mission of study the agricultural conditions in Senegal and French Guinea.

Judge James D. Watters of Belair, Maryland, is about to retire after serving more than 30 years on the bench of the circuit court. He is a graduate of Dickinson college.

Thirty-three pages of the British museum library catalogue are filled with titles of works by or about Gladstone. About three dozen "lives" in English are among the publications.

William Shields Myers, the Republican candidate for mayor of New Brunswick, N. J., is a scientist of note, an expert chemist, and his experience and insight as to educational questions are of the broad and most liberal kind.

Ex-President Kruger, accompanied by his suite and several members of his family, will soon take up his residence for the winter and spring in the same two villas which were occupied by his little Boer colony last year at Mentone. Mr. Kruger, who is gradually falling into a state of senile decay, is always surrounded by a court, consisting of two secretaries, a chaplain, a doctor, a sort of nurse-valet, and several of his children and grandchildren. Ex-President Steyn will spend the winter at Cannes.

A Sad Sight.

It is to weep every time one sees a well dressed woman being dragged down the street at the end of a string by a dog.—Chicago News.

A GOLFER'S LAMENT.

The sun at 5 o'clock now hides away
And darkness settles down across the lea—
At 5 we used to just start out to play—
The days are getting very short, ah me!

Now fades the sodded bunker from the sight
While yet the busy throngs toil on in town;
Before the dinner bells have rung 'tis night
And gloom across the links has settled down.

For me no more the nine holes when I'm through
With duties of the busy day, no more
The hateful losing of a ball or two
When children are in bed, their romping o'er.

Full many a splendid drive is never made
Because the night begins to fall so soon;
At 4 o'clock the day begins to fade—
Ah, would that we could roll things back to June!

Far from the links I toil with sad unrest
When lights begin to glimmer in the street;
The sun has long been hidden in the west
When I go faring sadly home to eat.

No more the luring sand pit yawns for me,
The locker holds my clubs and other traps—
Some men there are who may cut loose at 3,
Ah, Fate has dealt most kindly with those chaps!

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

What are you reading these days? Or, do you read anything except newspaper stuff? What do you read in the papers?

From your reading one may pretty nearly determine your style and character.

Maybe you are among those who think newspapers are not edited as they should be?

Well, maybe they are not; but whose fault is it? The editor wants to make a paper that will please you, since you have good taste, and know what's what concerning newspapers.

The editor may not be willing to allow you to sit in his chair, or to dictate the makeup of the paper, but he is willing to listen to your suggestions, to read your pieces, and to make a good, honest effort to give you a first-class paper.

Write to him and tell him where he is right, rather than where he is wrong. This will encourage him to expand in the directions of the right. Tell him which department you like best, the articles which you found most interesting, and suggest features and topics that you would like him to introduce.

You have no idea how highly such letters are appreciated by the enterprising editor; nor can you fully know until you have tried to skimmilk up features and topics for every day in the week, and every week in the year.

Write him a few and tell him what you think of his paper, and of him too, if you like.

* * * * *

But that is off the trail, so to speak.

When there is but little to read on account of the scarcity of books, or lack of time, one usually profits more by reading than when there are books galore and time to kill.

When St. Thomas Aquinas was asked in what manner a man might become learned, he answered: "By reading one book." The homo unius libræ is indeed proverbially formidable to all conversational figurantes.—Southey.

Too much reading affects knowledge as too much water affects milk, or other rich fluid—making it too thin to be tasteful or nourishing.

It is better to read one book well, and understand it clearly, than to read a dozen hastily, and have but an imperfect or indistinct impression concerning the variety of topics treated on by their authors.

The musician who plays on many different instruments never becomes as great or famous as the one who devotes all of his time and talent to a single instrument.

The end man in the orchestra—the little man in the tin shop, as Riley calls him—is ever clever, but never great. He has to be proficient with the drums, cymbals, triangles, bones, hammer and anvil, the sandy floor, pipes and tubes for imitating birds and beasts, and a lot of other things too tedious to mention. His is a profession, and when mastered it pays fairly well, but his name never appears on the "three-sheet," nor is it starred in the program.

* * * * *

A novel is a good thing to read, provided it is a good one.

Some object to fiction, because it is fiction, and not truth—that is, that the thing recorded never occurred as stated.

Fiction may be true, although not fact as to the time and order of occurrences of events as set forth.

Any story that portrays human nature, true to life, defines character faithfully, and outlines probable, or even possible events correctly, is fit reading for those who do not care for history, biography, science, art and like subjects.

It is a poor novel indeed from which nothing at all may be learned, or that does not recall something of value that had been learned before and forgotten. And there are few novels that do not point a moral, as well as adorn a tale.

And in all truth it must be said that the dime novel has been greatly, as well as unjustly abused. Like people, some are bad, and some very bad, but the majority are far from being pernicious. Many of them are by good writers under pen names, written as pot boilers, by having been retained by big publishers, have been sold at reduced prices to get money to meet urgent demands.

Boys would be content to read better novels if permitted to do so, or kindly advised in their choice. The bad boy, and the boy of low tastes, will seek their level, and find it, too, and their reading will accord with their tastes.

* * * * *

The love story heads the list and will hold its place against all comers as long as human nature is human nature.

Who does not love, or who has never loved, or who does not want to love and be loved? Only the misfit, the perverted, the deficient, can fail to be interested in love, love stories, and love songs.

The love play has ever held the center of the stage, and even to this day shows up more satisfactorily in the glare of the calcium light than anything else, no matter how artistic, or elaborate, the picture. One can appeal to the brain, but love is from the heart where centers all the human emotions, the tenderest feelings and keenest sensibilities.

This accounts for the power of love when exhibited on the stage, portrayed in prose or verse, or breathed in song. It also accounts for love triumphing over all things, successfully thwarting locksmiths and watchful parents, and daring trials and dangers that would jar the artist, the scientist, or the adventurer into insensibility.

Is it not meant that love should be the great theme of the novelist, as well as of the poet, the artist—of everyone that thinks and feels, and aspires to happiness?

What is the burden of your thoughts—your purest, best and most constant thoughts?

Love, of course.

Were it not so your life would not be worth living, and when you go hence you would not be missed.

* * * * *

Isn't it funny that you never get too old to enjoy love stories, love songs, and love whisperings, in the heart? It may not be funny in the sense of causing you to laugh out loud, but in the sense of being made to smile, and to feel gleesome.

But then, what's the use telling you all this when you know more about it than anybody, or think you do?

Were you to open your heart and tell what you know of love in its various phases, wouldn't it make interesting reading? It would be the same old story, of course, although new to some, but none the less interesting to all of us, since it would at least recall some of the pleasant moments of our lives.

The novelist who tells a good love story, and tells it well—tells it without too many frills and furbelows, is sure of a host of readers. Such novels haven't many fool characters, transparent villains, and impossible situations, but keep well within the limit of probabilities, avoid offensiveness of every sort, and show love triumphant at the close.

Pity the man or woman who cannot read such a story without feeling good, without being made better in heart and life, and without being more strongly inclined to love that which is worthy of being loved.

And yet we are asked what is love.

* * * * *

Now, what is love, I pray thee, tell?
It is that fountain and that well
Where pleasure and repentance dwell;
It is perhaps, the sauncing bell
That tolls all into heaven or hell;
And this is love, as I hear tell.

Yet, what is love, I prithee, say?
It is a work on holiday,
It is December matched with May,
When lusty bloods in fresh array
Hear ten months after of the play;
And this is love, as I hear say.

Yet what is love, good shepherd, sain?
It is a sunshine mixed with rain,
It is a toothache or like pain,
It is a game where none hath gain;
The lass saith no, yet would full fain;
And this is love, as I hear sain.

Yet, shepherd, what is love, I pray?
It is a yes, it is a nay,
A pretty kind of sporting fay,
It is a thing will soon away,
Then, nymphs, take vantage while ye may;
And this is love, as I hear say.

Yet what is love, good shepherd, now?
A thing that creeps, it cannot go,
A prize that passeth to and fro,
A thing for one, a thing for moe,
And he that proves shall find it so;
And, shepherd, this is love, I trow.

—Sir Walter Raleigh.

For Emergencies.

The marrying of American girls by foreign potentates may be hard on America, but it is a mighty good thing for the rest of the world to have a clear-headed, independent, big-hearted American woman somewhere in the community in case of emergency.—Baltimore American.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Internal dissensions are weakening the cause of Tammany hall. There can be no question about it. Hugh McLaughlin, the Brooklyn boss, is determined that the Tiger shall not cross the bridge, and a big Tuxton banner across Park row expresses it, and Big Bill Devery is working hard in opposition to what he calls "Charlie Murphy & Co." The record of Tammany hall is a terrible stumbling block in the way of that organization, and although there are always a large number of New Yorkers eager to have a "wide open city," Tammany dare not promise even that for fear of the conservative element who believe respectability and wide open gambling houses and all-night saloons are not compatible. Tammany is between two horns of a dilemma and Murphy is not the man to decide off-hand which one to take. With all this, election day is only ten days away. The orators of each party and faction are howling all at once, and he will be a bold man who would venture to suggest the outcome. There will be the usual number of roorbacks next week, of course, and the party which can trot out the most spectacular, as well as logical of these bombards, will have the better of it, so far as that particular element in the battle is concerned. Both sides are claiming victory, irrespective of Devery, but the betting is ten to eight in favor of Seth Low and his compatriots on the ticket.

Future Looks Dark for Parks.

With Sam Parks in the Tombs, Devery and his nephew refusing to help him, and former Assistant District Attorney Osborne hustling for bail, the affairs of the walking delegate are in a tangled state. Parks seems to have pretty well lost his nerve, and it should be remembered that does not often happen to Parks.

Old Penn Picked to Win.

Columbia is bracing itself for its great foot ball game with the University of Pennsylvania eleven tomorrow. While it is conceded that the Pennsylvania team has the better prospect of victory, Columbia was going about its practice today with the cheerful confidence that is characteristic of the boys on the Heights. Morley, their coach, is nervous. He has been hauling his youngsters over the coals and warning them that they must play football at the Polo grounds tomorrow if they mean to make even a decent showing against the roaring and tearing Philadelphia boys. Pennsylvania looks like the winner, but Columbia will not admit that for a moment. All except Morley. He is an old stager, and is not blinded by egotistical enthusiasm.

Author Is of No Consequence.

Said William Seymour, stage manager, yesterday, talking about a new play he was about to rehearse: "I do not know who the author is, or if I did, I have forgotten his name. In fact, to tell you the truth, I don't bother much about the names of the people who write plays." What would Clyde Fitch, Augustus Thomas and David Belasco say to this naive admission?

War Declared on "Fit Throwers."

Of all the tricks played by idle people in New York to get money without earning it, none is more unpleasant to accidental witnesses than the imitation convulsions of a "fake fit-thrower." This expression is the one used by the police. There are about a dozen loafers in this city who include the presentation of an imitation fit among their accomplishments. Usually they have some other "play," keeping the fit offering for special occasions when the conditions are favorable for getting money or whisky from the sympathetic persons. If a policeman comes, as he sometimes does, before the patient has recovered, and, pale and trembling, is taking up a collection, the cue is a hasty retreat. When this is impossible the sufferer has a relapse, and contrives to get to a hospital in an ambulance. One of the fellows was caught yesterday and conveyed to a police station. Then it required the services of half a dozen men to get him inside. The authorities have begun a crusade on "fit throwers" and word has gone forth among them to try some other game for a while.

Motormen Not Talking Strike.

Look at any of the motormen who pilot "L" trains up and down town, and you will, in 99 cases out of 100, observe a quiet, watchful, self-contained individual, in blue overalls, who seems to have thought for nothing but taking his train along safely and stopping at the exact spot required at stations. They may be contemplating a strike, but they do not look it. For weeks there have been rumors of a general strike of motormen on the Manhattan elevated railway. The company is said to have a large force of men able and willing to take the places of strikers if there should be a walkout. T. S. Ingraham, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, arrived in New York today, and his advice is understood to be to "go slow." John Hanrahan, chief of the firemen's organization, is expected in this city on Monday and it is said nothing will be done in the way of ordering a strike or otherwise until he gets here. Meanwhile the motormen at work say nothing, but attend strictly to the business at hand, each in his little glass cupboard at the head of the first car of the train.

Settling the Servant Girl Problem.

The case of the son of a wealthy man in Poughkeepsie who has married a domestic, suggests to people here a possible solution of the servant girl problem. The idea is not entirely new, except that only occasionally is a widower at the head of the household. But the possibility of utilizing the services in a matrimonial direction of an unmarried son is being seriously considered here in some families.

Were Able to Buy Champagne.

Bernard Lynch, who perjured himself for the benefit of Sam Parks in testifying that he had not cashed a check given by Josephus Plenty, a contractor, to Parks, escaped punishment today. Sentence was suspended, partly on account of his confession, and partly because the court believed that he had been led into error through the advice of a former city magistrate and other persons whose suggestions might well carry weight. But the interesting point to many persons, is the cool statement, in the course of Lynch's sworn confession, that Parks and his friends were drinking champagne on the night that the money was paid over. The choice of champagne in preference to beer is a sharp suggestion of the profit that lies in the business of acting as a walking delegate.

Hard Winter Predicted.

Evidences of a coming severe winter increase from week to week. From a nearby Connecticut town comes the portentous news that deer have been seen close to the residence part of the place. This is said to mean a cold wave almost immediately, and a long, hard winter to follow. An official prophecy of a cold wave on its way to New York corroborates the deer at least in part.

The Oriental Crisis.

After a week of comparative quietude affairs in the far east have assumed a condition of unrest. Japan's "Fighting Admiral," by which title Vice Admiral Togo is familiarly known, has been appointed to the command of the flying squadron, and the steamship and railroad companies of the country have been notified to be in readiness for emergencies. Russia has sent additional warships from Europe to reinforce her fleet in Asiatic waters, and there are rumors to the effect that the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Tokyo have been broken off.

After all, the differences between Japan and Russia are not of a character to permit one to put much faith in the efficacy of negotiations as a means of the adjustment thereof. The pressure of Russia eastward and of Japan in the opposite direction is the result of forces over which statesmen have little or no control. The movement of populations from Japan into Korea, and from European Russia into Siberia cannot be stayed by diplomacy any more than can the operation of natural and economic laws be hindered by legislation. No matter how strong the opposition, or whence it may come the Russians will press forward to the open waters of the Pacific. On the other hand, Japan, with a population of 45,000,000 to the square mile, feels the same imperative necessity for room to expand. Korea is the nearest field of Japanese emigration, and while already supporting about 15,000,000 people, the peninsula is not overcrowded. Korea, moreover, would be a menace to Japan's independence if it should fall into the hands of a strong and aggressive power.

But Korea would be merely a point d'appui for the further advance of the Japanese. At the most some 8,000,000 of the latter could find room for settlement there. Japan requires a wider field for growth. The impulses moving the two nation which are confronting one another across the Japan sea press both forward into identical regions. It is not merely a clash of interests; it is an irrepressible conflict between opposing forces which is approaching in the far east.—Philadelphia Record.

If the czar has told the mikado that Russia will simply remain on the defensive along the Yalu and not interfere with the plans of Japan in Korea, then he must also have promised to evacuate Manchuria, and Japan will have won a victory all along the line. The pledge to leave Manchuria would be no more fantastic than the assurance that Korea might be regarded as within the sphere of Japan. They stand or fall together. In our view they do not stand. The fact is, the two powers are playing the game with the utmost caution and skill, each distrusting the profession of the other. If war does come it will come after one of them has seized a tactical advantage of which there will be no intimation. A blow will be struck while hope of peace is still on the lips of ministers. Secrecy envelops the negotiations, for the situation is extremely critical. Each side deprecates war and will not admit the probability of it; meanwhile both powers are working night and day to prepare for the worst. What England is doing on one side and France on the other to prevent a war which might have far-reaching consequences can only be conjectured, but it is on their mediation that a peaceful settlement depends. Left to themselves, Russia and Japan would probably have been at close grips long ago.—New York Evening Sun.

Russia wants that coast line and that territory. It is a part of the Russian scheme of empire. Nothing short of superior force can persuade her to forego the carrying out of a plan made years ago and merely awaiting an opportune time to be put into execution. Of the great world powers that might interfere and by joining Japan postpone the final execution of the Russian program none is in a position to act at this time. England has made a pact with Japan, it is true, but there is little probability of England going to war with Russia in defense of Japanese ambition to control Korea and Manchuria as there is of the United States doing the same thing. Germany has ambitions of her own on the Pacific coast and a war between Japan and Russia will give her the opportunity she wants to extend here "sphere of influence" in Chinese territory. France is Russia's ally.

On the other hand, Japan must resist Russian expansion or prepare to surrender all hope of becoming a first-class world power. Driven out of Korea, the market for many of her manufactured products and the source from which she draws her food and raw material, Japan will be confined to the narrow limits of her sea girt island, which, for the most part, is barren and incapable of sustaining her teeming population. She is facing a crisis in her career as a nation that means life and growth or decay and ultimate death. This is the way the situation looks in the light of history and when the facts are all considered. Every week the clash of forces is postponed adds to the probability of Russia's success, which furnishes a reason to believe that the beginning of trouble is not far away.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The situation in the far east does not clear up. Japan and Russia are facing each other, and the probabilities lean to a trial of armed strength between them. At least that is the view on the surface. What may be the real situation none outside the governments concerned have the means of knowing. Russia is displaying a great deal of military activity on the Korean frontier, say the dispatches, and that "frontier" is really the Yalu valley, within the boundaries of Korea, where Russia has valuable concessions, and the appointment of that fighter, Vice Admiral Togo, to command the "standing squadron," is taken to mean that war is considered extremely probable.

Diplomatic negotiations are progressing, but seem to lead to no satisfactory outcome. It looks as though Russia is playing her old game of shuffling evasion, without yielding anything toward the fulfillment of her promises and agreements. This means that she is allowing Japan to decide for peace or war. Either the latter must let Russia have her way, or take the initiative by a declaration of war. This is the interpretation of Russia's assurances to Germany that she will "keep strictly on the defensive."—Toledo Blade.

A Sensible Canadian.

The Toronto Mail and Empire shows good sense in the conclusion of its editorial consideration of the Alaska boundary decision. It says: "In the belief that it was made in good faith, though the principle which dictated it is only a matter of conjecture, we can turn to our other business satisfied that one difficult question is out of the way." That is sensible. Canada loses nothing by the decision that it ever had, except in imagination, and it gains undisputed possession of a fine harbor by the placing of the boundary north instead of south of Wales and Pearse islands. As Canada had half the harbor before, the United States is not disposed to object to its full possession. Now let us be neighborly and see if we cannot prevent any more disagreeable fishing boundary incidents on Lake Erie.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ROWDIES TRY TO BREAK UP RALLY

North Side Citizens Have to Be Ejected from a Republican Mass Meeting.

LEE C. BEATTY HITS HARD

Allegheny Citizens Councilman Tells What He Thinks About the Alleged Reformers of the Bigelow Machine.

Another disgraceful manifestation of the methods used by the Bigelow machine to advertise its candidates was given last night at a Republican meeting held in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, school house. When Dr. James W. Dickson, the Republican candidate for sheriff, walked to the front of the platform to speak a gang of rowdies, led by a man from the First ward, set up a shout for the Citizens party.

A few words from Dr. Dickson and the man with half a dozen Bigelow workers attempted to break up the meeting with their yells and curses. Dr. Dickson stopped talking. The police in the hall refused to do anything. Then the crowd took a hand. The men were thrown bodily out of the hall and chased down stairs and out into the street. It was evident they did not consider the crowd before commencing operations, for when they reached Charters street they went on a run toward the First ward.

The meeting was held by the Republicans of the Fifth and Sixth wards. A week ago last night the Citizens held a meeting in the same hall. There were 114 present, most of them payrollers. More than 1,400 voters attended the meeting last night and the enthusiasm never waned until the last speaker left the platform.

Payroll Men Disappointed.

Assistant City Solicitors Craig Smith and W. W. Stoner, appointed by Wyman last April, were at the meeting. They denied that they had become Republicans. The size of the crowd and the enthusiasm did not please them, as both left after a short stay. Inspector Charles Young of the department of charities, appointed by Wyman, was there, but for what purpose he would not say.

Elmer L. Craummer was elected chairman and J. C. Kaiser and Thomas W. Harvey were made secretaries. Select Councilman Lee C. Beatty of the Sixth ward, elected last February on the Citizens ticket, made the principal address. He said:

"When I, with many others, joined the Citizens party last fall it was with honest intentions and a determination to bring about reforms in our government that we thought necessary. I stayed with the party until I was convinced that in it there was no hope of any reform. Without others I pledged myself to certain changes and reforms. These were to be effected by councils.

"During the spring campaign the Citizens councilmanic candidates promised to abolish the office of delinquent tax collector, and I drew up and presented an ordinance providing for this. At that time I felt that the Republican members of council would kill the measure. It never occurred to me that after their pledges the Citizens members of common council could do anything but vote for the ordinance. Like others, I was fooled. Every Citizens councilman got a chance to redeem his pledge, and the majority of them, under orders from Mayor Wyman, sold their honor.

Wyman Led the Fight.

"I met fierce opposition to my ordinance from Wyman, and he, too, time and again pledged his support for all reform measures. He wants no reform, and so long as he dominates the party on this side of the river we will get none. I am working in councils for the people, and not for any set of men. The disorganization of the Citizens party on the North Side is complete, and those who are most prominent in the party are responsible for it. Our only hope for reform is in the election of the Republican ticket this fall."

This speech brought forth tremendous applause from the audience. The residents of the Fifth and Sixth wards know Beatty and have known him since he was a boy attending the Sixth ward school. His record for honesty is known and his speech last night was received by the crowd as the whole truth.

In his speech Dr. Dickson said the Citizens party last fall had no record, and held it to public scrutiny the record of the Republican party for the last 25 years. The Citizens party's record, he said, is known now, and is worse than anything ever known in local municipal history.

The other speakers were James Francis Burke, Dr. A. J. Borchfeld, William H. Graham, Assistant District Attorney Albert J. Edwards, Attorney Harry I. Riley and ex-Judge Josiah Cohen.

TIRED PAYROLLERS PARADE AND LISTEN

Citizens-Democrats Hold Meeting in Kenwood Lawn, s Win City Employes Out in Force.

Ie not being nominated in the bond that they were to work 14 hours a day, a good many payrollers left the Citizens party's meeting in Kenwood lawn last night before it was over. They had worked eight hours a day in the streets and then they had to march several miles and afterward listen to speeches extolling the merits of the political organization that was keeping them out of bed.

The payrollers and the denizens of Negley's run, who were paid to take part in the parade that preceded the meeting, made a fair appearance, however. There were about 1,000 men in line, ostensibly representing the Bloomfield, Garfield and Homewood districts. They burned red fire on the way.

When the meeting opened fully 1,200 men were in the hall, but, after one or two speeches they dwindled to about 700, which number, however, filled all the available seats. The meeting was called to order by David P. Reighard, a Democrat, and William B. Rodgers, city solicitor, was elected chairman.

Mr. Rodgers congratulated the Citizens-Democratic organization on having carried three campaigns and asked them to stand together until the fourth fight was won.

A. E. Stevenson of Braddock made a lengthy speech abusing the other side. Councilman Robert H. Douglas pleaded with the audience to postpone criticism of the Pittsburgh administration until after the election, for after a while the administration would get down to some system. Theodore Shaffer, Robert T. McElroy and W. J. Brennen also spoke.

WINTER COURSE OPENED.

Large Audience Attends Y. M. C. A. Entertainment at Old City Hall.

The opening one of the monthly entertainments given under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association was attended by a large audience last night at Old City hall. A number of people were compelled to stand. Six hundred additional chairs will be placed in the hall to accommodate the members and friends of the association before the next monthly entertainment, on November 27. The committee has arranged an interesting program for each entertainment.

The audience was entertained last evening by the American Saxophone quartet and Signor Francisco Certese, harp soloist. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Labadie contributed largely to the amusement of the audience in "An Original Idea," in which they portrayed the post-honeymoon spats of a young couple.

The thirty-seventh anniversary of the association will be observed with a meeting at the Alvin theater Sunday evening, November 8. The principal address will be made by the Rev. James M. Thoburn, Jr., D. D., pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. In the afternoon the Day of Prayer for Young Men's Christian association throughout the world will be observed. The meeting will be held at the Association building and will be conducted by W. K. Jennings.

OBERSHAL NOW WANTS TO LIVE

Plights His Troth With Miss Helen Ringl, Whom He Tried to Kill.

PATHETIC SCENE AT BEDSIDE

Young Girl Gets Well and the Two Kiss at the End of Earnest Conversation in the Hospital—Man Had Longed to Die.

"I'll get well now."

After a conversation with Helen Ringl, the girl he tried to kill, after which he attempted to end his own life, Ladimore Obershal made the foregoing remark to physicians at the South Side hospital last night and turning over on his pillow, fell asleep. Obershal's crime was committed at Hays station on August 5. Since that time he and his victim have hovered between life and death at the hospital. Last night Miss Ringl was discharged, well once more.

After Obershal had shot Miss Ringl and then turned his still smoking revolver upon himself, the two were taken to the South Side hospital. Obershal said he committed the deed because he wanted to end everything, as the girl would not marry him, although both loved. While in the hospital Obershal did his best to baffle the efforts of the physicians to save his life. He earnestly sought death and on one occasion he nearly succeeded.

A few nights after he was committed to the hospital, Obershal suddenly sprang from his bed and tried to open a window to leap to the street. The window was locked and with his arms he broke the panes of glass, cutting himself terribly and nearly succeeding in jumping out of the window. Some convalescent patients seized the man and they, with the assistance of nurses, fought with the man for half an hour before he was finally subdued and placed back in bed.

As soon as Miss Ringl was declared able to leave the hospital last night she asked to be permitted to see Obershal, and this was granted. The meeting was a most pathetic one. The girl extended her hand and the man who once had sought to end her life seized it eagerly and kissed it several times. A long conversation in German followed, during all of which Obershal held the girl's hands in his. A kiss terminated the meeting.

When Miss Ringl had left the ward, Obershal turning to a nurse told her he wanted to get well and that he was sure he would.

BARRETT DISBARRED BY POSTMASTER GENERAL

Resignation of William H. Landvoight Accepted—Stern Is Given a Hearing.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Postmaster General Payne today signed an order disbarring H. J. Berrett of Baltimore, nephew of Former Assistant Attorney General Tyner, and for some years law clerk and acting assistant attorney general for the department, from practice before the department. Barrett was indicted by the grand jury here as the result of alleged transactions involving decisions of the assistant attorney general in turf investment cases.

The postmaster general accepted the resignation of William H. Landvoigt, chief of the division of classification of mails of the postoffice department, to take effect at the close of business tomorrow. The delay in accepting the resignation, which was presented yesterday at the request of Mr. Payne, was due to Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden, who desired that a number of matters pending in Mr. Landvoigt's division be disposed of.

The preliminary hearing in the case of Leopold J. Stern, the Baltimore contractor accused in collusion with August W. Machen of receiving pay for straps which he never furnished under the contract for supplying the government with satchels for rural mail carriers, was resumed today.

Inspector Sullivan testified that he and Inspector Simmons were detailed last April to make what was known as a "strap" investigation, which concerned not only Stern but Doyle & Co., and the Postal Device and Lock Company, both of New York. He said Stern stated that he had not paid for the lamb straps, but that they had been furnished him by the postoffice department. The witness said that on May 21 last Stern told him he had been relieved from furnishing straps by Perry S. Heath, then first assistant postmaster general.

The inspector also declared that while Stern's contract was not signed until June 17, an order had gone out on June 16 for 6,000 lamb straps to be sent to his factory in Baltimore.

ELLSWORTH MINERS HERE.

They Come to Pittsburgh to Look for Work—President of Company in Washington.

Four of the miners alleged to have been imported from Wales by the Ellsworth coal company came from Monongahela City yesterday to secure work in a steel mill on the South Side. They have friends who will try to secure employment for them.

Advices from Washington says that James E. Ellsworth, president of the coal company bearing his name, had a conference with the officials of the department of justice. Mr. Ellsworth denied that either he or his company had induced the miners to come to the United States, and declared that he had nothing to do with the firm of Jones Bros., of Pontypridd, South Wales, who had prevailed upon the miners to come to this country. He urged the department of justice to investigate the matter thoroughly before instituting proceedings against the company.

The deportation of the 20 miners who have been detained at Philadelphia the past week rests upon the decision of Secretary Cortelyou of the department of commerce. Unless word is received allowing them to enter by 11 o'clock this morning, they will sail from Philadelphia for Liverpool in the American line steamer Haverford, which brought them to this country.

Appeals detailing the circumstances of their arrival have been forwarded by the miners to Washington. As far as can be learned the British authorities have not been notified of the case nor has any effort been made to prevent other Welsh miners being similarly brought here.

IS BOOMING M'ILVAINE.

Congressman Acheson Would Like to See Washington Judge Placed on Supreme Bench.

Congressman E. F. Acheson brought a new supreme court justiceship boom to town yesterday. He would like to see the appointment of Judge John Add. McIlvaine, president of the Washington county courts.

Mr. Acheson says that there appears to be opposition to some of the men from the eastern end of the state who have been mentioned. In the event that a western man is selected, the congressman says that better timber than Judge McIlvaine could not be found.

PITTSBURGHERS STILL HAVE MONEY TO INVEST

It was reported in Wall street circles yesterday that Edward Kennedy, who is financiering the proposed interurban electric road between Houston and Sour Lake, Tex., has organized a syndicate of Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Columbus capitalists for financing the line. The right of way for the road has been secured, surveys made and the work of construction, it is said, will begin at once. The central power station will be located at Liberty.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special)—Miss Kate Shaw of Ashland, Pa., will sail for Liverpool on the Cunard liner Umbria tomorrow.

BISHOPS DISCUSS DIVORCE PROBLEM

Bishop Doane Declares Evil Has Become a Menace to the Country.

SACRAMENT IS DESECRATED

Divorce With Remarriage Can Only Be Allowed by the Church to the Innocent Party in a Case Where the Cause Is Infidelity to the Marriage Vow.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Arraignment of the increasing number of divorces and unlawful marriages in the United States was the feature of the fourth day's session of the Pan-American conference of bishops. The subject was introduced by Bishop Doane in a paper advocating closer countenance by the church of what he declared was a distressing condition of affairs. As many of the bishops have varying views on the policy of the church regarding the remarriage of divorced persons the discussion precipitated was an animated one. The bishop of Toronto also read a paper on divorces.

Bishop Doane in his address declared that the increase of divorces has become a serious menace to the country. He took the ground that divorce with remarriage can be allowed by the church only in the case of the innocent party to a divorce granted for infidelity. Bishop Doane said that where there is the least doubt upon a question of this vital importance, moral, religious and social, the act of mercy is to safeguard the sanctity of marriage against any possible dissecration."

At the afternoon session of the conference, papers were read by Bishop Hutchin, of Missouri and the bishop of Huron on "The Discharge of the Parental Obligation," as a sub-topic under the general subject of "The Obligation of the Church to Maintain the Christian Family in Its Integrity."

The bishop of Duluth, Dr. Morrison, read a paper on "The Adaptation of the Churchs Methods to the Needs of the Twentieth Century in Meeting Intellectual Difficulties."

The bishop of New Hampshire, Dr. Niles, and the bish of Nova Scotia, Dr. Courtney, read papers on "Family Worship and the Observance of the Lord's Day."

It was agreed that a record of the proceedings of the conference should be privately printed and circulated among the bishops; but that no resolutions concerning subjects discussed should be included in the record as adopted by the conference, which were not carried with practical unanimity.

Resolutions were adopted dealing with the interrelation of the branches of the Anglican communion.

Work of the church among the Indians was discussed by Bishop Hare of South Dakota. Bishop Pinkham of Calgary, whose diocese has a large number of Christian Indians, also read a paper on this subject. Resolutions regarding the work of the church among the Indians were introduced and referred to a committee for amendment.

Meeting of McKeesport Councils.

At a special meeting of McKeesport select council last night the ordinance granting a right of way over certain streets of McKeesport to the McKeesport & Clairton Railway Company was taken from the table. It will be presented at Monday night's meeting. In common council City Solicitor W. D. Newlin was not present to submit two opinions which had been asked of him.

...NS DIFFER IN REGARD TO THE WAGES

Manufacturer Said Glass Workers Will Be Reduced, but Labor Leader Denies It.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 23.—C. P. Cole, president of the Independent Window Glass Company, said tonight that the reduction of 32 1-3 per cent in wages has been accepted by practically all the Phillips workers and that all the plants controlled by the company will be started at once. He expressed the opinion that the amalgamation of workers' organizations is impossible.

Leopold Mambourg, secretary of the Federation Window Glass Company takes exactly the opposite view of the situation. He said to-night: "I understand from reports received from Pittsburgh this morning that the workers are progressing nicely with their amalgamation plans and that the chances are that the amalgamation will be perfected before the end of the week."

In answer to questions relative to the starting of the Federation plants, Mr. Mambourg said: "I cannot answer for all of our members, but some of our plants will go into blast right along from now on. We will pay the wages we have agreed to pay which are: In the plants employing Burns men, last year's Burns scale with ten per cent added, and in the plants employing Denny men the scale which the Independent Glass Company and our company agreed to pay, or the same as the Burns scale of last year, which means an increase of 12 per cent.

"After we have got in actual operation more than 150 pots operated with Burns men, according to our agreement, we will have to pay Dempsey men the same wages as the Burns. So practically, all of the men who will be employed, by the American Window Glass Company and the Federation, and some of the outside manufacturers will receive the highest scale of wages ever paid window glass workers in this country, and that is last year's Burns scale with 10 per cent added."

DETECTIVES THOUGHT THAT IT WAS DYNAMITE

Consternation Caused Among Thief-Takers by a Piece of a Hand Lamp.

Detective James W. Eagan threw the members of the Pittsburgh detective bureau into a state of terror last night. During the afternoon Detectives Louis Lott and Charles Aymer found what they supposed to be a stick of dynamite in the rear of No. 48 State alley. Both men became suspicious and formed theories for unearthing some deep Anarchistic plot. They carried their find with care to the detective headquarters. It was submitted to Detective William Elmore, who is acting superintendent. He sent them back to make an investigation of the case. Detective Elmore had the package carefully secured in the cellar of the Safety building so that no mishap might come to it.

The detectives were unable to ascertain who placed the dynamite there or for what purpose it was done. Last night Detectives Eagan and George Cole were called into consultation and shown the article supposed to be dynamite. Eagan saw instantly that it was an electric charge of a hand lamp which has an appearance similar to the explosive. Without saying a word Detective Eagan walked into the room where the officers were sitting and raising the package over his head said: "Boys, we will all die together."

At this he threw the battery on the floor. The detectives started in all directions. Detective Elmore made a dash for the front window, but was caught by Cole. Eagan then laughted at the men, saying:

"You are a fine lot of coppers—don't know dynamite from an electric battery."

Prisoners Fought in a Cell; One Got His Skull Fractured

LEWIS FISHER, of No. 22 Chestnut street, is lying in the Homeopathic hospital with a slight fracture of the skull as a result of a fight with Patrick Gusey in a cell at the central police station last night.

Both had been arrested on charges of drunkenness and were placed in the same cell. Fisher wanted the cell to himself and told Gusey so. Gusey declared Fisher could have the station house as far as he was concerned. Fisher did not like this retort and went at Gusey in hammer and tongs style. Gusey retaliated and knocked Fisher down. The noise attracted Officer Williamson, who entered the cell and tried to separate the men. Williamson was knocked around by both men and had his hand injured by falling against the cell door.

As Officer Williamson fell Fisher and Gusey renewed hostilities. Fisher received a blow in the face that sent him against the cell door. His head struck with violent force against the corner of the cell, cutting his head so badly and slightly fracturing his skull. The impact rendered him senseless. Fisher was taken to the hospital. At a late hour last night he had not regained consciousness.

HUGH WARD WILL COME TO GRAND FOR TWO WEEKS

Arrangements Were Perfected With Him Over the Long Distance 'Phone Yesterday.

It has at last been definitely arranged that Hugh Ward, the actor, will appear in this city for a short engagement at the New Grand opera house. The engagement was arranged yesterday between Manager Harry Davis and Mr. Ward over the long-distance telephone, Mr. Ward being in Philadelphia, where he is visiting his mother. He comes here next Monday as the guest of his wife's relatives in Allegheny. It is certain that a hearty welcome will be accorded him at the Grand, the scene of his early triumph.

The fact that Mr. Ward is now established in Australia as a star, on the same footing Richard Mansfield, E. H. Sothern, N. C. Goodwin and James K. Hackett occupy in this country, lends additional interest to his forthcoming appearance. Stage Director Huffman has not as yet decided upon the vehicle for his reappearance, but of course it will be a play that will afford Mr. Ward ample opportunity for the display of his talent. His first appearance will be Monday, November 9, and his engagement here will be for a couple of weeks only, as he is booked to appear at the Drury Lane theater, in London, in the forthcoming Christmas pantomime there, and he is obliged to sail for the other side in November in order to be in attendance at the rehearsals.

Mr. Ward has made wonderfully rapid strides in his profession since his last appearance in this city. The fact that he is engaged as the leading comedian in the historical Drury Lane theater is of itself sufficient to stamp his extraordinary ability. He succeeds the celebrated Dan Leno, who was for years the idol of the London playgoing public, but who was recently confined to an insane asylum owing to overwork. Admission to the Drury Lane forces is professionally quite as much of a distinction as socially to be elected to membership in an exclusive club.

Mr. Ward completes a list of recruits from the Grand who are this season shining in the starry firmament, including Henrietta Crosman, Madge Carr Cook, Sarah Truax, Tommy Ross, Brandon Tynan and Beryl Hope.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special)—Estimates of the amount of cash shipped from this city to points where financial troubles have existed during the week range from $3,500,000 to $4,000,000. This output will have a direct effect on the bank statement tomorrow. The largest volume was sent to Baltimore. Other points that received assistance were Richmond, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. In addition to this over $1,000,000 went to New Orleans in the natural course of moving the cotton crop.

WEDDED TO GET MONEY TO PAY COLLEGE BILLS

Dentist Thus Explains First Venture When Arraigned on Bigamy Charge.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—"I married this girl simply because I wanted to get money to educate myself. Her mother promised to give me $250 which I needed to take me through a dental college. But I repaid the money, getting the money from the mother of the girl who is my second wife." This was the novel reason given by Dr. Benjamin Gleckstein, who is 21, for having made his first marriage, when he was arraigned before Judge Foster today, charged with bigamy.

It was four years ago, when he was 17 years old, that he became acquainted with Mrs. Blazenstein and her daughter, Gussie, who was a year his junior. The mother saw the girl was fond of him and told the young man she would give him money to take him through college if he would marry her daughter. He agreed to this, but he said that the day of the marriage he and his wife had a violent quarrel and he left her. They did not live together afterward.

He met Bertha Klein a few years later, and, despite the fact that he had not been divorced, he made her his wife. This led to his arrest.

PITTSBURGH STEEL CO. GETS CANADIAN PLANT

Buildings Secured in Hamilton, Ont., Where Monessen Wire Will Be Welded Into Fence.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company will by November 15 be operating its fencemaking machines in Hamilton, Ont., according to a statement made by President Wallace H. Rowe last evening. The company has leased the Hoepfner refinery buildings in Hamilton and will install the machinery there. The buildings are of ample size and have the requisite railroad and other facilities to suit the purposes of the steel company.

"Canada has a tariff on fence, but not on wire," said Mr. Rowe last evening. "Our plan is to ship to Hamilton from Monessen the wire, and then in the Hamilton plant manufacture the wire into the electrically welded steel fence. The fence has been in big demand in Canada and we expect this to increase. The plant will not be a large one to start with, but will be charged as the country demands."

A contract has been closed with the Cataract Power Company of Hamilton for the electric power to be used in the operation of the works.

STORY OF KENNETT
By Bayard Taylor.
The best historical novel ever written in America.—Literary World.
New edition from new plates, with 18 original illustrations. 8vo. $1.50.
"A charming sylvan idyl of Eastern Pennsylvania. It has more vitality than most modern novels hurriedly ground out. There are two chapters, one for tenderness, the other for dramatic intensity surpassed by few pages of the masters."—Pittsburgh Gazette.
"Mr. Bayard Taylor's stories are delightful and refreshing, and a great rest after the crowded artistic effects and the conventional interest of even the better kind of English novels."—London Spectator.
G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS,
New York and London.

"THE CLEVEREST BOOK PUBLISHED THIS SEASON."
THE TRIFLER
By Archibald Eyre.
"One of the cleverest of recent novels, with action which sweeps along from the first chapter and dialogue of an Anthony Hope brilliancy. There is not a dull moment in the book."—Town Topics.
This is perhaps the most charming love story which has appeared in many years. It is comedy of the highest order; never once does it approach the verge of farce. The story hinges on the hero's laudable endeavor to regain a packet of love-letters written by his sister-in-law before her marriage. The adventures which befall the hero in his attempt to secure these semi-compromising epistles from a young fellow who proves to be a veritable scoundrel, are humorous in the extreme. $1.50

A Story of Picturesque and Interesting Martinique.
MAMZELLE FIFINE
A NOVEL. BY ELEANOR ATKINSON.
Into this picture of the girlhood days of the Empress Josephine, Mrs. Atkinson has brought all the tropical richness of vegetation and the blending of vivid colors that are so elemental a part of the life of Martinique and its sister islands. She has invested the character with a new and delightful light, and has caught the spell of the fascination that was always an attribute of this celebrated woman.
Frontispiece Portrait of the Youthful Josephine.
12mo. Cloth. $1.50.
DOCTOR XAVIER
A NOVEL. BY MAX PEMBERTON.
Author of "THE HOUSE UNDER THE SEA," etc.
The increasing sense of mystery and the perpetual charm that prevade all of Mr. Pemberton's stories are here, if anything, in larger measure. Doctor Xavier, the scientist and magician, is skillfully depicted, and the fact that the scenes are laid among cities of the present day, and women of outwardly conventional propriety, only adds to the sense of magic underlying the story.

FRANK LYNCH WAS DEPOSED

Thirteenth Ward Republican Organization Elects Samuel T. Richards Chairman.

ACTION WAS UNANIMOUS

Campaign Methods of the Citizens Exposed—W. W. Mechling Finds That He Can Not Get in Organization in Homestead.

Frank Lynch was last night deposed as chairman of the Thirteenth ward Republican committee and Samuel T. Richards elected in his stead. The action met with the approval of every member of the organization.

Lynch was elected chairman on September 28. It developed after his election that he was acting in harmony with the managers of the Bigelow machine. The plan was to turn the entire Republican organization over to the Citizens. The Republican managers soon found that Lynch could control but one member on the committee. The others were all loyal Republicans. It was decided to oust Lynch and a meeting of the committee was held last night for that purpose. This resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we, the undersigned members of the Thirteenth ward Republican association, in meeting assembled, denounce the action of Frank Lynch in deceiving the organization and in trying to throw the influence of said organization to the Citizens-Democratic party in the campaign now pending, and by resolution duly passed, we hereby declare the position of chairman held by him vacant and have elected in his place Samuel T. Richards, in whose ability and integrity we have the utmost confidence.

Committeemen All Sign.

The committeemen all signed the resolution. Their names follow:

A. Rettinger, William Leggett, Joseph Snyder, Frank Moore, Harry Sparr, W. H. Moore, O. E. Adams, Joseph Winneski, Frank Schrader, John Haggerty, George W. Thompson, Robert Davison, James H. Carter, S. Richards, W. S. McCutcheon, George W. Riegler, Andrew Ratajewski, Lawrence Deezor, J. S. T. Riley, A. E. Evans, Abe Hall, Henry Kohr, James McCord, Louis Rhelon, S. W. McElhaney, Ernest Kirsch, Frank Retkowski, John Schrader, William Sorby, Samuel H. Richards.

These city committeemen were also elected: Harry Lennix, Harry Chalmers and Emil Sparr.

The difference in the campaign methods of the Republican and Citizens was illustrated in Plum township Thursday. It was demonstrated that the Republicans work in the open while Bigelow's men prefer the back way.

Maj. Robert E. Stewart, the Republican nominee for district attorney, in company with District Attorney John C. Haymaker went into Plum township to visit some of the voters. They traveled the main thoroughfares and made no effort to conceal themselves or cover their tracks.

Method of Bigelow's Men.

According to statements made at Citizens headquarters yesterday Thomas M. Brown, Bigelow's candidate for sheriff, and Recorder J. Denny O'Neil were in Plum township on the same day. Yesterday they were telling friends how they had fooled Stewart and Haymaker. They trailed after the Republicans and endeavored to undo the work they had done.

One thing Bigelow's men appear to be especially proud of was the fact that they hid in a barn while Maj. Stewart and Mr. Haymaker were making a call at a farm house. They are also said to be jubilant over having induced a Republican postmaster to work for the Democratic ticket. According to the story told at Bigelow headquarters, this custodian of the mails had given Maj. Stewart assurances that he would favor his candidacy. In some way they claim to have secured his services. The boast is also made that nearly every man talked to by Stewart and Haymaker was swung into line for the Democratic-Citizens ticket by hiring him to work at the polls or agreeing to have him appointed a watcher.

W. W. Mechling, who has been commissioned by Bigelow and Pension Agent John W. Nesbit to carry the Sixth district for the Democratic ticket, is experiencing much trouble in building an organization in Homestead. The other evening he called a meeting of the faithful and there were just two men responded. One of these has since said that he intends to work and vote for the Republican ticket. Mechling is having the same kind of trouble in his home town of Munhall. All the strong men who worked for the Citizens party in the past have returned to the Republican fold.

Nesbit Still Active.

Pension Agent Nesbit had a meeting of the Sixth district committee yesterday at Bigelow headquarters. This United States official who holds office under a Republican president was present at the meeting making plans to secure votes against the Republican party this fall.

Congressman John Dalzell in a letter to a friend in Braddock, yesterday, stated that he would not make an address at Carnegie Music hall, Braddock, next Thursday evening at a mass meeting of the Republicans of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin, to be held under the auspices of the Dalzell Republican club.

In common pleas court No. 3 yesterday further petitions charging district assessors with failing in the performance of their duties were filed as follows: J. J. Smith against John Connolly, assessor of the First district, Ninth ward, and Second district, Ninth ward, and William Stern against John Ford, assessor of the Third district, Ninth ward.

The petitions against Ike Simon, assessor of the Second district, Fifth ward; William Wamser, assessor Third district, Seventh ward, and Lawrence Fur, assessor of the Sixth district, Thirteenth ward, were taken up before Judge J. A. Evans in No. 3 court yesterday but the respondants said they had not time enough to prepare a defense and the matter was postponed temporarily.

Attorneys L. S. Levin for the respondants and W. A. Hunter for the petitioners, however, took the list of names attached to the petitions and went over them with a view to adjust them.

Not a Bigelow Democrat.

T. W. Leonard, a Knoxville Democrat, was requested by Democratic County Chairman T. B. Alcorn to work for the Bigelow ticket. Leonard has written a letter declining to support the fusion candidates. He says:

"I will be unable to do anything along the line that you suggest. At any rate, as a good Democrat, I would be unable to follow your future plans. You fellows helped to defeat Gen. Pattison last year in the rolling up of a large Republican majority against him in Allegheny county; you will do the same thing with the state ticket this fall. The men who control the Democratic party in Allegheny county are nothing more nor less than a lot of job-hunters. The real good Democrats have no show, and you fellows expect us to fall into line, vote and vote whatever you and the Bigelows say. All I have to say is that heaven help the Democratic candidate for president next year if he is depending on such Democrats as are running matters in Allegheny county at the present time.

"I vote the Democratic ticket because I believe in Democratic principles, and I am not asking favors for myself, or any of my friends."

Good Organization in Allegheny.

The Seventh district of the Sixth ward, Allegheny, has formed a remarkably strong Republican organization. At a meeting held in Seidneche's hall, California Avenue, over 100 young Republican workers were present. An address was made by Councilman E. K. Cochrane, after which these officers were elected: President, William Fichter; vice president, George Nauman; secretary, G. E. Hilmbert; treasurer, Harry Steigermeir. City Committeeman Lawrence Pillhigion can present a case assured of a large Republican majority at the election.

Edward Frell, assistant superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, has over a score of city employes and four or five city teams and a foreman engaged in constructing a private roadway in a stable at Rose and Reed streets. The stable is said to be the property of Frell, and is used by himself and several of his tenants. As the residents of the Thirteenth ward have much fault to find with the condition of the public streets in the ward, they think Frell might postpone the work he is now engaged upon, and use the men on the thoroughfares.

Two important Republican mass meetings will be held this evening. One will be in the Allentown Turner hall, Thirty-first ward, and will be addressed by James F. Burke, John Francies and John G. Maxwell. The other meeting will be in Moorhead hall, Thirty-fifth ward, and will be addressed by John A. Reed, H. J. Riley, Chris Seam, J. Mercer Morton and John W. Moreland. In addition, meetings of Republican workers will be held in every district in the county.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

Four Men Accused of Attempting to Defraud Creditors of Two.

Joseph and Abe Lewis, B. Fisher and D. Gusky of McKeesport were held for court by Alderman James V. McMasters yesterday on charges of conspiracy to defraud, made by George Sappan, representing the Merchants Credit association.

The Lewis brothers were in the shoe business in Market street, McKeesport, and it was claimed that they transferred and disposed of goods valued at $2,000 to Fisher and Gusky for the purpose of defrauding their creditors.

EASY ENOUGH

To Shake Off Coffee and Sickness.

It is easy to shake off coffee no matter how bad one may crave it, when well made Postum Coffee is served in its place.

"I have drank coffee for years and always experienced trouble from it," says a Kansan. "I knew it was causing my sickness as my doctor told me it was, and following the doctor's advice I have repeatedly sworn off. But after a short time I could not stand it any longer and would go back to coffee and the old troubles. Never until I tried Postum about a year ago could I shut off the coffee for any length of time.

"At that time I was suffering terribly from stomach trouble, nervousness, headaches and all the other ills that go with a badly upset coffee stomach. I am a school teacher and if I made my coffee strong enough to stimulate my stomach I could work fine for a time, but would collapse at night. Gradually I failed to get stimulation from the coffee and my brain seemed actually clogged up from drinking coffee and my stomach was in a wretched state.

"A friend came to see me and advised that I try Postum and then went out and got me a package, she was so certain it would help me. But my landlady did not make it right, and I was so disappointed with the taste that I went back to coffee. My health finally got so bad I was on the point of giving up school work. Then my friend returned to see me one day and asked about the Postum and when she found out what the trouble was she made it for me according to directions, boiling it full 15 minutes, and to my surprise I found it delicious.

"Then I shut off the coffee and found it easy to do by drinking Postum in its place, which completely satisfied any coffee taste and I began to feel better almost immediately. I have used Postum ever since and my stomach has not given me a minute's trouble. I am now strong again, my nerves are steady and normal and I feel so fine I cannot begin to tell you how thankful I am.

"I persuaded my brother who was an inveterate coffee drinker for years to give up the coffee and try Postum and he has had such grand results from this that he says he will never go back to coffee. When I went home on a visit to my parents I persuaded them to use Postum in the place of coffee and the results have been that mother's nervousness and sleeplessness have disappeared." ...TAKES HAND IN DAUPHIN FIGHT

...s Supporting Regular Republican Nominee for the Judgeship.

County Is Badly Cut Up by Factions and Every Effort Is Being Exerted to Bring Republican Forces to Victory—Vacancy Upon Supreme Bench Unfilled.

Senator Boise Penrose, Republican state chairman is doing all he can to assist the regular Republican organization in Dauphin county. The judgeship contest in Dauphin between Kunkle, the nominee of the regular Republican organization and Judge Jacobs, who was appointed by Gov. Pennypacker, has reached a crucial stage.

The fight is admittedly close. Judge Jacobs, it is said, has not only the support of the insurgent Republican element, but also that of a coterie of wealthy young Democrats led by Mayor Vance McCormick, who are doing all in their power to defeat the regular Republican ticket.

The county is very close and was once carried by Swallow by a majority of 1,100, and the city of Harrisburg for several campaigns past has been exceedingly close.

Congressman M. E. Olmstead called on Chairman Penrose this morning and together they went to city hall, where they had an appointment with Mayor John Weaver. Mayor Weaver promised Mr. Olmstead that he would go to Harrisburg and make an address in support of the regular Republican ticket Saturday, Oct. 31. The meeting will be held in the opera house. Hon. Henry K. Walton, speaker of the house of representatives, will accompany Mayor Weaver and also make a speech. Other addresses will be made by local Dauphin county talent.

Senator Quay, I am informed by Chairman Penrose, today authorized the chairman to announce that he, Quay, was very earnest in his support of the regular Republican ticket in Dauphin county and is very anxious that his friends shall do all in their power to bring about the election of the regular ticket.

In view of the fact that all political proceedings of a legal character, are tried before the Dauphin county court, it is probable that the corporations of the state are quite as deeply interested in this contest as they are in the election of Republican judges on the superior court and in the question of who shall fill the existing vacancy upon the supreme bench.

While Congressman Olmstead has been casually mentioned, possibly seriously so, for the McCollum vacancy on the supreme court bench, it is nevertheless, a fact that apparently he is doing all in his power to bring about the appointment by the governor, of the Hon. Lyman D. Gilbert. This morning Mr. Olmstead took up the question of Mr. Gilbert's appointment with Senator Penrose and ex-Attorney General John P. Elkin. Mr. Olmstead says that he was assured by Senator Penrose and by Mr. Elkin that, in the event of Mr. Gilbert's appointment by the governor, the rumored opposition to Gilbert's nomination was not likely to materialize.

Lyman D. Gilbert is, apparently, still the favorite for the supreme court vacancy. Others prominently mentioned are Judge Rice, Mayor John Weaver, Congressman Olmstead, Judge Walling of Erie, and Judge J. Sharpe Wilson of Beaver.

On the highest authority I am informed that the result of the conference at Harrisburg, between Gov. Pennypacker and Senators Quay and Penrose, was an agreement that no appointment for the supreme court vacancy will be made until after election. If this is true, and it so appears, the chances are 100 to 1 that Lyman D. Gilbert will be appointed.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

BRANN IS ACCUSED.

Subornation of Perjury Charged Against Former New York Magistrate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—In an affidavit today Bernard J. Lynch made an accusation of subornation of perjury against former City Magistrate Henry A. Brann. Similar accusations were made against Sam Parks, Henry Farley, Richard J. Butler, Devery's assemblyman from the Ninth district, and Timothy McCarthy, one of the walking delegates of the Housesmiths' union. Lynch entered a plea of guilty, and in consideration of his affidavit, which was in the nature of a confession, he was paroled in the custody of the Prison Aid society.

Mr. Brann is a practicing attorney and one of the counsel for Sam Parks. Lynch was indicted for perjury in connection with testimony he gave the grand jury on the charges against Sam Parks of extorting $200 from Josephus Plenty, a Jersey City contractor, for calling off a strike. Parks is still in jail on a charge of perjury in the same case, having been unable to find bondsmen.

DROPPING FROM ROLLS.

$1,695,000 Less Will Be Required to Pay Pensioners Next Year.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Secretary Hitchcock's estimates for the department of the interior expenses in 1905 aggregate $155,000,000, or $3,000,000 less than the appropriation for the current year, and the reduction is due chiefly to a cut in estimates from the pension office and the office of Indian affairs.

Commissioner Ware of the pension office estimates that at least 50,000 pensioners will be lost to the pension roll in 1905. His estimates that this loss will result in a reduction of $1,695,000 in the amount paid annually to pensioners. In the office of Indian affairs a cut of $1,300,000 is made possible by the termination of several treaty obligations which bound the United States to pay large sums to Indians.

CRIPPLE BEATS OFFICER WITH HIS WOODEN LEG

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—"Ben Battle Was a Soldier Bold," sang Michael Dressler as he thudded along the streets of West New York with his wooden leg. A policeman told Dressler to suppress his voice and rattle of his leg, at which the singer leaned up against a wall, pulled off the wooden member and beat the officer over the head. He was sent to jail for 30 days.

AN EXPLORING PARTY MAY HAVE BEEN LOST

ST. JOHNS, N. The party had 10 days' provisions, but Hubbard gave away a considerable quantity of the stores and nothing has since been heard of the party.

TWO MEN ARE MANGLED BY NITRO-GLYCERIN

Both Are Dead from Effects of an Explosion of Supposed Empty Can.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 23.—An empty nitro-glycerin can, hidden in the woods by an oil well shooter, brought death to two men today. The victims are William Marks and Patrick Hardy, peddlers of notions, who last night camped in a shanty near Sunset station on the West Penn railroad. This morning they found the can, which they supposed had contained maple syrup. Marks sat down with the can between his knees and commenced to cut out the top so as to transform it into a water vessel. The small portion of nitro-glycerin at once exploded and Marks' head, hands and feet were blown off.

Hardy, who was standing close by, had his eyes blown out and the bones in his arms and legs shattered in a dozen places. Shortly before noon Elmer Stonebaker of Butler and Harry Reott of Herman started to walk to Butler and when near the place heard Hardy groaning. They gave him what help they could and hurrying to Butler had an ambulance sent to the scene. Hardy was taken to the Butler County General hospital, where he died this evening, and Marks' remains were removed to Burkimer's undertaking rooms.

Hardy, while conscious, gave his home as Cleveland. Bills for his wares were found in Marks' clothing.

SET FIRE TO RESIDENCE.

An Attempt Made to Burn a Tax Collector's Home Near Scottdale, Pa.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A desperate attempt was made early this morning to burn the residence of Tax Collector Frank R. Bell, about one mile east of this place. The person who made the attempt gained entrance through a cellar window and placing a large quantity of paper on the landing of the cellar stairs set fire to it. The smoke aroused Mr. Bell and he succeeded in extinguishing the flames before much damage was done.

Mr. Bell thinks the attempt to burn his home was for the purpose of robbery. As he is tax collector for Bullskin township the miscreant evidently thought he had money in the house and that it could be easily secured during the excitement attending the fire. There is no clue to the incendiary.

Sharp of South Sharon on four counts for bribery, corrupt solicitation of bribes, maintaining a gambling room and running a disorderly house. Death follows Injuries Received on football field

Walter E. Edmunds.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Walter E. Edmunds, a well-known young man of this city, died very suddenly this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edmunds, of No. 54 Wallace avenue, his demise resulting directly from injuries received on the football field last Saturday. He was hurt at Salem, O., while playing with the New Castle Indians against the Salem Athletics, being kicked in the groin. However, the injury seemed of little moment at the time and he continued in the game until the end. He was employed in the Greer tin mill and worked Monday and Tuesday, when he was taken ill and was forced to go home. Last night he seemed about well and told several of his friends, who called, that he expected to be out today. However, a sudden change for the worse occurred and death resulted this morning.

Walter Edmunds was 23 years of age and a young man of fine physique. He had been a player of prominence in this vicinity for the past five years and played fullback first for the New Castle high school team and later with the New Castle Athletics. He received several flattering offers from various college teams in this vicinity, but never accepted, although he played occasionally with the Westminister team. He was also a member of various Y. M. C. A. athletic teams during the past few years. He was widely known and his sudden death causes general regret.

PROBABLY FATALLY HURT BY A PACK OF DOGS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 23.—Farmer Jacob Shanafelt, a well known resident of Bradenville, was attacked by dogs today while passing through an orchard on his way home from Latrobe, receiving injuries which will likely result in his death. The dogs were apparently in pursuit of a rabbit.

The leader of the pack, a powerful brute, sprang at his throat and fastened his teeth in the man's face. Dragging him to the ground, the dog was joined by the rest of the pack. He was unable to offer resistance. Men at work on the Millwood cut-off saw the dogs, and ran to Shanafelt's assistance with picks and shovels. The ferocious brutes were driven from their victim.

Mr. Shanafelt was carried to his home. Owing to his being almost 70 years old, but little hope for his recovery is entertained.

BIG BRASS FOUNDRY CLOSES AT ALTOONA

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The big brass foundry of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in this city, employing 2,500 men, has been obliged to close down on account of the lack of orders. For 10 years the brass foundry has been one of the busiest departments of the Pennsylvania system and day and night shifts were worked.

TWO BUSINESS HOUSES DESTROYED IN IRWIN

Explosion in Wholesale Confectionery Causes Large Loss of Property.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 23.—An employe of A. Balasamo & Co., wholesalers of fruits and confectionary in Main street, was boiling a mixture of tar and other ingredients, this evening, when the mass boiled over and caught fire. The fire was followed by an explosion among the oils and some benzine and in an instant the rear of the establishment was blazing fiercely. The fire soon spread to the building adjoining, occupied by R. A. Nesbit's grocery store. Only by the greatest efforts was the fire confined to the two buildings.

Balasamo & Co.'s loss is complete. The firm owned its building, a double two-story frame, and with the stock destroyed by fire and water, their loss is estimated at $8,000. The second floor was occupied by members of the firm and family and they lost all their household goods, valued at $1,000. Their insurance is about $2,000.

R. A. Nesbit's loss is $6,000 with an insurance of $4,000. George Holmes, who occupied the second story for living rooms, lost $1,000 worth of furniture, not insured. The building belongs to the Ridinger estate. The loss is about $4,000, partially insured. Mrs. Balasamo was seriously burned going to her sleeping rooms after a money chest containing $600, which she got out just in time to save it.

WOUNDED BY A POSSE IN MIDDLE OF RIVER

Alleged Robber Swam Stream in Ohio and Was Shot Four Times.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 23.—A posse of citizens, armed with revolvers and shotguns, headed by Mayor H. C. Ackey, Chief Enoch, Sheriff Wagner and Baltimore & Ohio Detective Doney gave chase to a desperate man charged with burglary at New Philadelphia at noon today and captured him only after he had been shot in the head, hand and foot.

For 10 days the Tuscarawas valley has been the scene of operations of a gang of daring burglars. In Canal Dover, New Philadelphia, Midvale and Uhrichsville, stores and houses were looted almost hourly. A store at Midvale was robbed of 500 pennies and a man who made the rounds of New Philadelphia stores getting paper money for pennies and other change was suspected. He was arrested by Chief Enoch but broke away and drew a revolver. The man made for the river.

An alarm was sounded and officers and citizens gave chase. No man up the west side of the Tusarawas river and swam across, but was headed off by Detective Doney. The suspected robber went back into the river and refused to come out until he was shot four times. He is thought to have left his revolvers and considerable small change in the river. He was hauled to the city jail on a wagon and given medical attention. He will be given a hearing to-morrow.

Another man alleged to be a member of the gang was arrested later near the river.

HANNA TALKS AS A BUSINESS MAN

Senator Discusses Ohio Campaign from an Industrial Standpoint.

WARNING AGAINST DISASTER

Says Every Man Who Works With His Hands Should Remember the Lesson Taught by the Election of Grover Cleveland in 1892.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOGAN, O., Oct. 22.—Senator Hanna and Myron T. Herrick, in the continuation of their campaigning tour today, came through the great mining district in the southeastern part of the state. Three meetings were addressed. Crooksville in the morning, Logan this afternoon and Shawnee tonight. The speakers confined themselves chiefly to the industrial phase of the campaign and spoke of the effect a Democratic victory would have upon the laboring men.

"Every man who works with his hands should remember the lesson taught by the election of President Cleveland in 1892," Senator Hanna said. "No other argument should be needed to point out to them where their interests lie now. I say to you and I do not speak as a Republican seeking re-election, but as a business man, earnestly interested in your welfare, that if Ohio should go Democratic this fall or if the Republican majority should be materially reduced, it will be taken by the business world as an indication that the country is liable to go Democratic next year.

"What will the managers of great industrial concerns do? They will begin to prepare for the future. They will take in sails. There will be a cutting down of expenses wherever possible and men will be out of employment. My friends, this campaign is national in character. It is being watched with great interest all over the United States. Its effect will be national. Upon its outcome, in my judgment, depends the continuation or the cessation of the present prosperity.

Great Interests at Stake.

"Johnson and his man Clarke go about the state talking equal taxation, home rule and a two-cent fare; talking of these silly matters when such great interests are at stake. They should be ashamed. It is an insult to the intelligence of the voters of Ohio. Johnson has been attacking my labor record. I am the employer of thousands of men and they belong to the union. Johnson employs no labor except in his own household—a butler, a valet and several coachmen. Does that look as if I were the enemy of the laboring men?

"Why," he continued with rising intensity and voice, "I was the first employer of labor in Ohio to recognize unions and I have been their friend ever since. The trouble with Johnson is that having nothing else to talk about in the campaign he abuses me. Well, I guess I can stand it. He says he is willing to leave the verdict to the people, so am I. If you are not satisfied with me, don't send me back; but, for the sake of the country and its business interests, don't send a man there who believes in the theories and teachings of Tom Johnson, the czar of the Democratic party in the state, who holds its destinies in the hollow of his hand. Men are nothing, but the principles for which they stand are everything."

Duty of Republicans.

The senator used this as a text for the reading of a fatherly lecture to Republicans all over the state. He said: "If Hanna is all right and the Republicans of Ohio think so, the way to show it is by every member of the party voting for his candidate for the state legislature, both house and senate. Neither overconfidence nor a feeling of antagonism to a candidate should induce any Ohio Republican to remain away from the polls this fall. Too much is at stake to let little matters stand in the way."

Mr. Herrick, in the presentation of state issues, said: "If I am elected governor, and I expect to be, I can promise no new scheme of administration. I will not make the governor's office an experimental station for the trying out of new fads and fancies. But I will say what I will do. I will continue the policy of my predecessors, under which, during the past 12 years, a state debt of $3,000,000 has been paid, $6,000,000 added to the state institutions in the way of improvements and more efficient service, the tax rate upon the people for state purposes reduced one-half and a balance left in the treasury of some $3,000,000.

"Why, nothing like it has ever been offered to the voters of Ohio. You should not go to the polls on election day to support the Republican ticket this year. Don't let the Democrats delude you with talk about 2-cent fares, equal taxation and home rule. That is but dust thrown in your eyes."

The meetings of today were all largely attended and extremely enthusiastic.

At the meeting in Shawnee tonight, Senator Hanna made a statement which verified a belief many people have had since the Democratic state convention.

"If a Democratic legislature is elected this fall," he said, "a Democratic United States senator will be elected. It will be Tom L. Johnson and not John H. Clarke."

There has been a suspicion for some time that this was the goal towards which Johnson was aiming.

Our clothing floor now presents an animated scene

And there's nothing spasmodic about the vast clothing trade centering here. No sudden spurts or declines, but just a steady, healthy, constantly growing business. Each suit or overcoat sold here so thoroughly satisfies the wearer that with each recurring need, back he comes again for his "next." And he's better satisfied with his second suit or overcoat than with the first, for, as we grow we improve. Take our new fall and winter stock, for instance. Not only is it larger than ever before, but it's better in every way. The reasons for this are simple enough:

The more clothing we sell, the more anxious are the manufacturers to please us. We're thus assured of the most skilled talent being devoted to the making of our garments. Furthermore, the makers not only carry out our specifications explicitly, but also confine certain style features of their own exclusively to our clothing. This gives our clothing its characteristic individuality. The immensity of our orders also brings down the prices. The more clothing we sell, the less it costs us to sell each suit or overcoat. The more clothing we sell the greater becomes our purchasing power. The more clothing we sell, the less profit we need make on each garment.

8.50 is all that stands between you and a truly good and stylish new suit or overcoat. We've given these $8.50 garments a style and character not usually found in even $10 and $12 suits and overcoats. They're tailored with as great care as our higher priced suits, too—the materials are less expensive, that's all the difference. Choice of single and double-breasted suits and short, medium or extra long overcoats.

There's something about the suits and overcoats we offer at $15.00 that at once raises them far above the clothes usually sold at this price. It's not just the way they're made, or the way they fit, or the way they hang, or the way they hold their shape—it's ALL these points combined that make these garments appeal so forcibly to men who are particular about their clothes. 15.00

Absolutely flawless attire: 20.00 to 33.00

The swellest garments turned out by the high priced tailors furnish the only comparison for these ultra fine suits and overcoats. They're far different from the ordinary run of ready made clothing, being cut and made singly, and by hand, which means that they can follow even the slightest change of style—an impossibility where garments are cut in vast quantities, months in advance of the season and by machines which operate with rigid precision admitting of no variation.

KISKI PLAYS ITS FIRST GAME IN PITTSBURGH THIS YEAR TODAY

IMPORTANT GAMES WILL BE PLAYED

Kiski Makes Its First Appearance in Pittsburgh This Year to Meet East Liberty.

BIG BATTLES IN THE EAST

The Kiskiminetas Springs school veraus East Liberty academy at D. C. & A. C. park, Wilkinsburg; New Castle High school versus Shadyside academy on the Shadyside field; State college versus Western University of Pennsylvania at the Colosseum, and the South Side A. C. versus Pittsburgh college on the Bluff, are the school and college games to be decided in Pittsburgh today.

Probably the most important game of the list is that between Kiski and East Liberty. It will be the first meeting for these schools on the gridiron and the forerunner in other branches of athletics. Kiski, which was a runner up in the interscholastic championship campaign last year, Shadyside taking the palm, will be closely watched in today's game. Shadyside and Pittsburgh High school are both to meet it, and as the championship issue yet is an open one, its game with East Liberty will have an important bearing in deciding the question.

Kiski yesterday finished a hard week of practice, and today will have its strongest line upon the field. Capt. Caughey is confident of taking the game today, and East Liberty is just as sanguine of getting the decision.

Coach Hill and Capt. Hunton put the East Liberty players through signal practice yesterday afternoon. Kiski doing the same thing at Saltsburg. Roscoe James, the Cornell player now coaching Pittsburgh High school, and Prof. MacColl of Kiski will be the officials this afternoon. The teams will begin playing at 2:30 o'clock and will line up as follows:

Shadyside in fighting shape for its battle with the New Castle high school representatives. New Castle has been cutting a wide swath in the northern part of the state. Shadyside has done little practice since its victory over the Princeton freshmen last Saturday. Yesterday's practice was light and all the first team men participated in it save Kerr Price, who attended the game at Friendship park. The practice on Wednesday and Thursday, however, was fast and hard, the team executing the plays in fine style. The same men who began the game last Saturday will start this afternoon. The contest will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

The Western university will be in fairly good shape when it lines up against State at the College park gridiron today. It has been working hard with his candidates the past few days, and in his opinion State will have no easy time, if it anticipates such an affair.

Yesterday was the last day of all the big college elevens, because the gridiron battles today will be for blood, and each team has worthy foemen. Columbia vs. University of Pennsylvania; Yale vs. Holy Cross; Princeton vs. Dartmouth and Harvard vs. Brown are games which mark the beginning of the season's hard work. Pennsylvania is confident, Columbia hopeful, Yale cheeks this ordeal with the dullers, Princeton looks upon Dartmouth with some anxiety, and Harvard figures that she ought to make a good score against Brown. This special week-end is the last chance for the New Haven boys Yale will play the first out-of-town game of the schedule tomorrow at West Point several hundred undergraduates will go to West Point to the training and nearly 100 went to New York tonight to see the first squad of about 20 players. Shevlin and Kinney will start in the first half if they show sufficient improvement in physical condition over today. Kinney was not able to run today and Shevlin did not dress for practice. Hogan, Rockwell and Rorabacher may not play through the game if it proves arduous. The two latter are forced to work under a handicap of not having been in practice because of injuries. Miller, 185-pound caravan, has been hastily turned into a guard to play in Bloomer's place. Yale will start the game with the lineup as follows:

Rafferty, left end; Kinney, left tackle; Morton, left guard; Rorabacker, center; Miller or Bachmeier, right guard; Hogan, right end; Rockwell, quarter back; Corbin or Mitchell, left half back; Metcalf, right half back; Bowman, full back; Shevlin, right end.

A special from Cambridge says Harvard had very slight practice today. The varsity lined up against the second and scored once, but the regular varsity did nothing but signal work. Harvard expects a hard game with Brown tomorrow, the most of the very few of the Crimson players are in good condition, and it will be probably necessary to play a good many substitutes.

DARKNESS ENDS GAME.

Neither Wilkinsburg Nor McKeesport High School Can Score.

The Wilkinsburg High school and the McKeesport High school teams played a no-score game yesterday afternoon at McKeesport. Neither side was able to score in the first half, and with five minutes to play in the second the contest was called off on account of darkness. Wilkinsburg had the ball when time was called. Charles Sieger to Meet Champion Jimmy Britt Next Month.

Britt's gassing ankle, which compelled him to call off his first match with Sieger, has come to the front again, and he will begin training for the contest in a few days. Britt paid all of Sieger's expenses while the latter was training for the bout, which had to be deferred 60.

Ridgway H. S. Beaten at Punxy.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Ridgway High school was defeated by the Punxsutawney school team at East End park today, 18 to 0. The local team started the scoring in the first half, when J. Campbell took the ball on a delayed pass and skirted Ridgway's right end for a run of about 30 yards, making a touchdown. Hassiege kicked goal. In the second half the trick was repeated, with Knarr as the fullback, and just before time to call the game Mark Campbell carried the ball on a fumble by the visitors and took it over Ridgway's goal after a long, well-played fight. Hassiege kicked goal after each touchdown.

ALLEGHENY H. S. FALLS BEFORE PITTSBURGH H. S.

Preps. from Across River Too Light, but Offer Plucky Game.

Score 53 to 0.

The Allegheny High School eleven put up a plucky resistance against the Pittsburgh High school yesterday afternoon at Friendship park, but was entirely unable to withstand the rushes and was beaten, 53 to 0.

The Preps from across the river were outweighed, but they nevertheless showed no signs of quitting and played a hard game until the end. Pittsburgh scored four touchdowns in the first half and five in the second, also a safety. Bauer kicked six goals.

There were very few enlivening features to the game. In the first half Worrell, Stalas and W. Orr took the ball in turns for gains and landed the touchdowns. There were no long runs of any consequence, but in the closing period "Midget" Spuhler and Harrison got in two that made the High school supporters jump around. Spuhler chased around the end behind splendid interference, but when Allegheny began to break it up he broke out for himself and succeeded in crossing the line.

He had to ward off four Allegheny tacklers before he got the ball over the line. Spuhler traveled just 60 yards. Harrison broke through the line and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. Two Allegheny back field men were playing a deep field and he gave them a merry chase. He was tackled on the five-yard line, but got up again and placed the ball over the line before he was brought down again.

Allegheny made but one first down and only once did it do any damage on the offense. Gamble was sent through the line for eight yards in the first half and it more yards were added on line bucks and short end runs before the ball was surrendered. Allegheny blundered on a pass, but it was the last down with four yards to gain and Pittsburgh, not beginning again to hold, the ball would have been received on downs. The lineup:

Spuhler	L. E. McKown
Orr, Dowling	L. T. Miller
Parker, Wood	L. G. Spahr
Campbell	C. Elliott
Leff	R. G. Cuntler
N. Johns	R. T. Fendericks
Harrison	R. E. Sutton
Butler	Q. B. Thompson
Bialas	L. H. Gamble
Warrell	R. H. Rudolph
W. Orr, McCallister	F. B. Chatham

Touchdowns—Bialas, G. Orr, Spuhler, Dowling, W. Johns, Harrison. N. Orr 3 Goals—Bauer 6. Safety—Rudolph. Referee—Nip. Umpire—Simpson. Time—20 and 15-minute halves. Linemen—Myler, Pittsburgh, Volbrecht, Allegheny.

After the game the victors were escorted back to the academy by the Academy cadets.

The game was well played and there was much enthusiasm. The line bucking of Normecutt and the tackling of Reese were the principal features. Lineup:

JEFF WON'T FIGHT MUNROE UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—When Jeffries was asked if he would give Jack Munroe another fight, he said emphatically: "No, sir. I won't fight Munroe under any circumstances. I am ashamed that I ever thought of doing so, and it was the roastings that I got more than anything else that made me want to at one time. I did think that I would show Munroe up to the people who said he ever gave me a fight. Why was it that not a paper in Butte said that Munroe gave me a fight or knocked me down? That story all came from Clark, Ball and Munroe, and there never was a word of truth in it. Munroe was picked to meet me in Butte by our agent long before Fitzsimmons and I arrived. I didn't know a thing about him. The people came to see me, and I got the impression that they were going to see a lot of fights. A regular dub had been provided for Fitzsimmons, and Fitzsimmons knocked him out in a round. Monroe then met Morris, who was a good little fighter, went on for the second bout with a fellow named Foley. Foley went out in the second. There was nothing left for the second bout but Munroe. What kind of a fight show was that to give for the price of admission and a full house? The only thing I could see to give the people a run for their money was to stretch out Munroe as I did Foley. I told Fitzsimmons, and he said: 'Don't you be a fool. Put him out as quick as you can.' Well, I thought my way was the best, and I just finished him. Fitzsimmons then stood after the first round and wanted me again to go in and settle it. But I kept on fooling and sparring. In the second round I hit Munroe in the stomach and kept pushing him. I found out that I was afraid he would not come up again, but he did. Toward the end of the fourth I went in to finish him, but every time I even pulled back my hand to hit Munroe. He was on his knees all the time, taking the count, and I couldn't get a fair punch at him. That was all there was to that."

FITZ REACHES 'FRISCO.

Engages Training Quarters and Says He Will Show Gardner a Trick or Two.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The proposed match between Robert Fitzsimmons and George Gardner is now a reality. Up to the arrival of the Cornishman a few days ago the local sport thought Fitzsimmons was bluffing and would fail to keep his promise to meet Gardner here next month. Such ideas have been expelled now. Bob has already selected a choice spot on Ocean Beach to do his training for the encounter with the Lowell man.

Fitz's friends declare the ex-champion looks the picture of health and he has a fine chance of winning. They talk as though he is not over the age of Fitzsimmons. Despite the handicap in age, Fitz will be a favorite in the betting. "I'll lick this man the way I have many of the champions in my day," said the Cornishman, "They say I'm too old. Well, I showed 'em in Philadelphia that I wasn't a weakling when I floored this man Grim 17 times in six rounds.

"I could have knocked him out, but I did not want to take any chances with my hands, and then again it was such grand sport to keep knocking my man down."

Gardner is working hard under the same impression of victory from day to day, and declares that he and his friends will bet as much as the Fitzsimmons party wishes.

DAN PATCH'S LIMIT.

Stallion's Owner Thinks He Will Yet Reduce Mark Made at Memphis.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—William M. Savage, owner of Dan Patch, who broke the bookies on the Memphis track and established a new world's record, is confident that the big pacer has not even yet shown his best speed and can lower even 1:56¼. Mr. Savage said today of Dan's summer pacing:

"Dan Patch had not been urged to do his very best by Mr. McHenry in his trials against time this summer, and I knew that, once he was called upon to do 1:59 he would make good. When it was definitely settled that Dan would start at Memphis I told Mr. McHenry to go the limit, and, while 1:56¼ is good enough just at present, I am confident the stallion will eclipse this mark if ever called upon to do so."

"How fast can he go?"

"I don't know. He is a wonder for speed and seems to have a tremendous reserve that I never even astonished me, and I have studied his work more closely than anyone else. I am often inclined to think he can go in 1:55. I really think the chief make-time horse yet. I am not planning on any more record breaking, but when the time comes the stallion will show all that is required. McHenry will tell you the same thing."

WIND TOO STRONG FOR LOU DILLON

Billings Will Send His Mare Against Record Today Instead—Close Finish.

DAN PATCH WILL COMPETE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MEMPHIS, Oct. 23.—On account of the untoward weather conditions Lou Dillon (2:00) did not attempt to lower her record today. A large crowd was in attendance at the driving park to see the Billings mare go against time, but after a consultation with Mr. Billings and Trainer Sanders, it was announced by the judges that the attempt would be postponed until tomorrow.

The day was raw and cold and a strong wind, amounting almost to a gale, blew directly down the back stretch. Lou Dillon was jogged around the track a couple of times, and received much attention. Axdelight, the strong favorite in the 2:14 trot, had no trouble in disposing of Turley, and won in straight heats. The 2:20 trot developed an odds-on favorite in Jay McGregor. Hudson took him to the front at the start in both heats and the horse was never headed. Directum Miller was played all over the ring to win the 2:25 pace. He finished fourth in the first heat, but won the succeeding two in easy fashion. The most exciting finish of the day was in the 2:09 pace, one dash. Clipper and Foxy Curd fought for the mastery down the stretch and only the judges could separate them, the former winning by the narrowest of margins.

The performance of Dan Patch yesterday when he paced a mile in 1:56¼, lowering the world's record by ¼ of a second, has excited much discussion among horsemen here. Efforts are being made to have the son of Joe Patchen make another attempt at his latest record and he may start against time next week. Summary:

REINHART AND CHICK WILL DECIDE THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Meet Today in Final Round for Individual Title of Intercollegiate Golf Tourney.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Oct. 23.—At the conclusion of today's play in the Intercollegiate Golf association's annual tournament on the Garden City links only two of the 23 collegians who started in the contest for the individual championship were left in the race.

These survivors are Frank O. Reinhart of Princeton and W. C. Chick of Harvard, and they will meet tomorrow in the final round of 36 holes to decide who shall have the honor, which was won last year by H. Chandler Egan. The latter was prominent all through the present tournament, but was defeated by another Harvard player, W. C. Chick, in the semi-final round this afternoon. Chick won 2 up and 1 to play, but he had Egan down on the thirteenth hole. The match was decided in a heavy rain shower, which had been threatening from early morning.

Reinhart, who will take part in the final tomorrow, made the best showing in the tournament, as he had 78 for his morning round, with Walter E. Egan, whom he beat 1 up.

In the semi-final round with H. E. McFarland Mr. Reinhart defeated him 3 up and 2 to play. Reinhart and St. coming in with 39 as against 38 in the morning. The defeat of H. C. Egan was somewhat of a surprise, as he had been playing in splendid form in the matches up to last Tuesday. The closest match of the day occurred in the morning round between W. C. Chick and J. W. Baker, of Princeton. The latter had a splendid chance to win out on the home hole, but missed an 18-inch put for a three, the hole being halved in fours. Playing the extra hole, Baker pulled his drive into the rough, and Chick won the hole in four to six and the match, being 1 down.

Following are the results of the day's play: Second round, eighteen holes, match play: F. O. Reinhart, Princeton, beat Walter E. Egan, Harvard, 1 up; H. E. McFarland, Pennsylvania, beat C. Truesdale, Yale, 1 up; W. C. Chick, Harvard, beat J. W. Baker, Princeton, 1 up; H. C. Egan, Harvard, beat M. McBurney, Harvard, 5 up 4 to play.

Semi-final round.—Reinhart beat McFarland 3 up and 2 to play; Chick beat H. C. Egan 2 up and 1 to play.

SELLING WAS RENEWED.

Chicago Horsemen Are Hot After Each Other.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The selling and claiming war which has been waged by McCafferty Bros. during the Worth meeting broke out afresh today, and for a time there was much excitement generated. When the smoke cleared away J. A. McCafferty led Mary McCafferty away for $1,300, which was $800 above her entered price. Then W. D. Tulman, former owner of the filly, retaliated by claiming Tom Winder from F. C. Wood for $600. Stem Winder was entered for $500.

In the second race H. T. Griffin's agent bid Mary up to $1,600, which was $500 above her entered price. After losing Mary, Mr. Dunne claimed Gleadice from J. C. Gray & Co. for $1,200. She was entered for $800.

THE ARMLESS WONDER WAS BEATEN AGAIN

Sutton Won Afternoon Game, but Lost in Evening—Powers Wins the Trophy.

Sutton, the handless billiard marvel, concluded his engagement at the Great Northern billiard parlors last night by playing a game with "Old Bill" Brown, the dean of the local amateur players. Sutton gave odds of two to one and started out to make 500 while Brown made 150. Sutton, although he executed some of the best shots during his stay here, was unable to defeat Mr. Brown, who played a nice steady game.

The contest required 86 innings and at the finish the score stood 150 for Brown and 253 for Sutton. Sutton's best playing so far as results were concerned, was in the forepart of the game. In the ninth and tenth innings he cleared off 60, making 39 and 20 respectively. One other run of 22 was his best big score of the night.

In the afternoon game with Powers Sutton played steady billiards and won with an average of 6.

Howard Powers made the best average of the week and Manager Horne will present him with a handsome cue, the token awarded for the accomplishment. Mr. Powers' average was 5 18-44.

The Day at Chevy Chase.

WASHINGTON, D. All of the visiting golfers were defeated in either the first or second round in both the club and consolation classes. Among them was Thomas Lauchlin of the St. Andrews club, who was defeated by F. Gardner Chaney, Chevy Chase's best golfer and an old rival of W. C. Carnegie, St. Andrews.

MUST BE PROGRESSIVE.

Legacy Given a College Provided It Steers Clear of Christian Dogmatism.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 23.—A bequest of $35,000 to Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg, Pa., is provided for in the will of the Rev. J. H. W. Stuckenburg of this city. This bequest becomes effective upon the death of Mr. Stuckenburg's widow.

The testator directs, however, that in case Pennsylvania college, in his wife's judgment, is made to subserve dogmatism and traditionalism instead of a progressive, living Christianity, she shall transfer the property to Marietta college in Marietta, O. The widow, who was a well-known author, died abroad in May.

SARGENT REPORTS ON IMMIGRATION

Total for the Year Exceeds All Previous Records by 105,043.

MOST CAME IN THE STEERAGE

Large Proportion Could Read and Write—Number of Rejections for Pauperism and Disease Double That of Previous Year.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The annual report of Commissioner General Sargent of the bureau of immigration shows a large increase of steerage immigration over that of the preceding year, the aggregate for the fiscal year of 1903 being 857,046, an excess over that of last year of 208,308, or 32 per cent. The statistics show an increase in immigration from all foreign sources. Of the total steerage immigration, there came from Europe 814,507, from Asia 29,966 and from all other sources 12,573. If to these figures are added those representing the total arrivals of alien cabin passengers, 64,269, the total immigration aggregated 921,315, or 105,043 more than the record.

The greatest number of immigrants, 280,822, came from Italy, an increase of 82,247 over last year; while Austria-Hungary furnished 206,011, an increase of 54,022; Russia, 136,093, an increase of 28,746; Germany, 40,086, an increase of 11,782; Sweden 16,028, an increase of 15,134; Ireland 38,546, an increase of 6,172, and England 26,219, an increase of 12,646. Of the oriental countries Japan was foremost with 19,968, an increase of 5,698, while China contributed 209, an increase of 80 over last year.

Of the total number of steerage aliens 613,606 were males and 243,000 were females, of whom 102,481 were less than 14 years of age. There were of these 5,341 who could read, but could not write, and 185,067 who could neither read nor write, leaving a balance able both to read and write of 668,030. The total amount of money brought by them into the United States was $10,117,513.

Many Are Rejected.

Exclusive of those denied admission at the land boundaries, 8,769 alien immigrants were rejected for various causes, the number of rejections being nearly double those of the preceding year. Of these 5,812 were paupers; 1,778 were afflicted with disease; and 1,086 were contract laborers. Concerning these figures, Commissioner Sargent says:

"The most noteworthy features in this statement are those in relation to the rejections of alien contract laborers and persons afflicted with contagious diseases. As regards the rejection of diseased aliens I must reiterate the statement made in the last annual report that it exhibits upon the part of some of the transportation companies such a wanton disregard of the laws of the country as fully vindicates the wisdom of congress in authorizing the imposition of a penalty for bringing diseased aliens to this country in those cases in which the existence of the disease was perceptible at the time of foreign embarkation."

Commissioner Sargent strongly recommends that an examination by competent medical officials be made of immigrants on behalf of this government at foreign ports of embarkation. It is believed that physicians should be detailed for this service.

Grave Danger to Be Avoided.

The commissioner refers to the grave danger to the country found in the colonizing of alien communities in our great cities. "Such colonies," says he, "are a menace to the physical, social and moral and political security of the country.

"Removed from the sweatshops and slums of the great cities and given the opportunity to acquire a home, every alien, however radical his theories of government and individual right may have been, will become a conservative—a supporter in theory and practice of those institutions under whose benign protection he has acquired and can defend his household goods. Suitable legislation is therefore strongly urged to establish agencies by means of which, either with or without the co-operation of the states, aliens shall be made acquainted with the resources of the country at large, the industrial needs of the various sections in both skilled and unskilled labor, the cost of living, the wages paid, the price and capabilities of the lands, the character of the climates, the duration of the seasons—in short all of that information furnished by some of the great railway lines through whose efforts the territory tributary thereto has been transformed from a wilderness within a few years to the abiding place of a happy and prosperous population."

Commissioner Sargent, in view of the arrival of approximately 1,000,000 immigrants annually, urges that legislation be enacted to improve the quality, morally and intellectually, of those admitted. The report indicates a marked improvement in the enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws.

FOUGHT UNTIL THEY FELL INTO THE OHIO RIVER

Joseph Torchelak and Andrew Markositz, Poles, got into a fight at the foot of Spruce street, Allegheny, yesterday, and the former was badly cut with a knife in the hands of his opponent. During the battle both men rolled down the steep bank into the Ohio river and were almost drowned. They were rescued by Thomas Graham who rowed to them in a skiff. After being rescued both men returned to their homes.

WORKMAN STRICKEN WITH HYDROPHOBIA

Eight Men Required to Overcome Struggling Victim of Mad Dog's Bite.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Raving mad from an acute attack of hydrophobia resulting from the bite of a dog six weeks ago, Otto Hauser, a wireman's helper, suddenly attacked three of his fellow workers today in the paint shops of the Inter-Borough Railway company at Ninty-eighth street and Third avenue. It required the combined efforts of four painters, two policemen, and two physicians to overpower Hauser and get him into an ambulance after he had created a reign of terror in the shops and injured several men.

Hauser, who is about 21 years old, was working alone on a raised platform when the attention of the men 30 feet away from him was attracted by his making sounds like the barking of a dog. They saw Hauser drop to his hands and knees and crawl around, growling savagely.

Believing him to be joking, several of the men came over to the platform. As soon as they got near enough Hauser dashed at them, still growling. Thereupon they fled in terror to the door, with Hauser in hot pursuit. As he dashed through the entrance one of the men grabbed him and in an instant realized that the youth had been suddenly stricken with hydrophobia.

With the strength of a mad man Hauser bore the other man to the floor and attempted to fasten his teeth in his arm. He would have succeeded had not others come to the rescue. He bit, scratched, kicked and punched desperately until eight closed in on him and bound him to the floor. He was held there and tied with ropes before being removed to the ambulance.

PLAN AN APPEAL.

Pittsburgh Reduction Company Not Expected to Stop With Present Decision.

The Mellon interests, which control the Pittsburgh Reduction Company, manufacturing aluminum, are expected to ask for an appeal of the case decided against them by the United States court of appeals in New York. The decision affects the Bradley patent for smelting by electrolysis, one of the processes used in the manufacture of aluminum and to which exclusive right is claimed by the Electric Smelting and Aluminum Company of Cleveland.

The Pittsburgh company won the case in the lower court, but the court of appeals reversed the former judge, and a fight to secure a reversal is now expected. The local company operates under the patents granted to Charles Hall, its vice president. Its principal plant is at Niagara Falls, with another works at New Kensington.

"Pleasant Dreams"

Cries the young maid to her mother, as she retires to rest. The mother smiles, but sighs. She knows that the pains that rack her will not stop for darkness, and that if she sleeps her dreams will only be echoes of the sufferings of the day.

Why not sleep soundly and rise refreshed at morning, with strength and courage for the day's duties? Weak, nervous women, sufferers from backache, bearing-down pains, and other womanly ailments, have found a perfect cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals the womanly diseases which cause the pains and nervousness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I deem it my duty to express my heartfelt gratitude for having been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to health," writes Mrs. R. H. Sims, of Springhill, Leon Co., Fla. "For nearly two years I suffered from female weakness so I could not stand on my feet any length of time; could scarcely walk at all. Appetite was much impaired; had bearing-down sensations; can't express how badly I did feel. Had tried several kinds of medicine which did me little or no good. At last decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had not taken all of two bottles before I saw it was benefiting me, so I continued to take it until I had taken seven bottles, when I felt entirely cured. Did not feel a touch of my old complaint. It has been over a year since I took your medicine, and I can truthfully say that my health has been better for the last year than it had been for four years previously.

"You may publish this as a testimonial."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MRS. CHRISTOPHER L. MAGEE will sail for Rome next week with a firm knowledge of the affection which the members of the Tuesday Musical club bear toward her. The farewell reception which the club gave yesterday and the musicale which was conducted in the drawing room of the Hotel Schenley were evidences of the appreciation which the club has for Mrs. Magee, its founder and its president until within the last few months. Mrs. Magee's love for the club, which she cherished from its organization, and for its members was shown in no less effective a manner as the club has issued cards for a reception in honor of Miss McKnight, to be given at the school next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In order that the members of the senior and junior classes of the school may have an opportunity to meet Miss McKnight, they are included in the invitation list. Miss McKnight will make an address, which will be followed by a reception in the gymnasium. This will be the first occasion on which the gymnasium of the Thurston school has been used for social purposes, and it will be elaborately decorated. The guests will include the officers and the mothers club, the patrons of the school and many personal friends who are anxious to meet the newly elected president of the State federation.

PERSONALS

Accompanied by Edward Marsden, a missionary, 32 Indian girls and boys passed through Pittsburgh last night on their way from Alaska to Carlisle, Pa., where they will enter the Carlisle Indian school. The strange looking party arrived at the Union station early in the evening, and for several hours was the object of much comment. The girls, 16 in number, were garments of a pronounced color, while the boys were more soberly dressed. The youngest of them is about 10 years old, while the oldest is about 22. They come from the Tsimpshean, Hydei and Thlingit tribes, which are among the oldest of the North American Indians. This is the first time the government has recognized these tribes by selecting their children to be educated. They are remarkably bright scholars, according to Mr. Marsden, who is also an Indian. "Most of them have attended school from time to time," he said, "and speak English. I expect that they will learn readily at the Carlisle school. The tribes from which they come are very old and are well established. The parents of the children pursue peaceful occupations and dress and act pretty much the same as the average citizen of this country." In speaking of the Alaskan boundary decision, Mr. Marsden said that not a great deal of interest is taken in Alaska over the question. The people of the three tribes mentioned, he said, are somewhat independent and maintain they should be citizens of the United States, and not wards. They would resent the idea of becoming wards.

By request of the dean of the medical college of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., Dr. R. J. McCready of Allegheny, Pa., last week delivered two lectures to the students of that college upon the treatment of diphtheria by the use of antitoxin and intubation. Before leaving he was made honorary member of the Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternity.

LODGED IN JAIL ON CHARGE OF TAKING $1

The mysterious disappearance of $1 from the possession of Aiton Berf of Carnegie has caused trouble among a number of Italian residents of the borough. Berf suspected Baizon Emanello and Henrico Stefanno of knowing something about the disappearance of the money and he went before Justice A. W. McMillan of Carnegie and charged them with stealing the dollar. The suspects were committed to jail yesterday on a charge of larceny.

NO MORE LOCOMOTIVES TO BE BUILT FOR THE P. R. R.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will curtail the building of locomotives to fill vacant numbers. Each year the company either sells or destroys locomotives and orders are given to replace them with new ones. All the locomotives contracted for will be completed, but further condemnation of motive power has been stopped. The company will add over 500 locomotives this year.

Mills Resume Operation.

All the workmen at the Pressed Steel Car company in McKees Rocks, who were laid off recently, have been notified to return to work Monday morning. The Death Roll.

The Rt. Hon. W. E. H. Lecky.

The Rt. Hon. W. E. H. Lecky, the historian, is dead in London of heart disease. He was the member of parliament for Dublin university, a Conservative, and a writer of solid merit. He was born near Dublin in 1838 and was educated at Trinity college, in that city, which institution, as well as many other leading universities, including Oxford, conferred upon him the highest degree. While in college he wrote a series of studies which he brought out anonymously, entitled, "The Leaders of Public Opinion in Ireland." The book was so well received and excited so much favorable comment that a new edition was afterward brought out under Mr. Lecky's name. In 1861 and 1865 appeared his "History of the Rise and Influence of the Spirit of Rationalism in Europe." This work proved a most important one and added greatly to Mr. Lecky's reputation as a historian. In 1869 he published his widely known "History of European Morals from Augustus to Charlemagne." The first volume of "The History of England in the Eighteenth Century" was published in 1878, and to this work Mr. Lecky devoted 10 years, in which time it was completed in eight volumes. In 1896 appeared one of his greatest books, "Democracy and Liberty," and in 1899 his "Map of Life." Mr. Lecky was at one time a Home Ruler, but in 1886 he became a Liberal Unionist.

Mrs. A. R. Speer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Speer, 65 years old, mother of Dr. A. H. Speer of Braddock, died yesterday morning of pneumonia at her home near McKees Rocks. She had been ill but three days. Mrs. Speer was the wife of A. R. Speer, a well-known retired business man of McKees Rocks. She was born in McKees Rocks and had spent all her life in that vicinity. She was a life-long member of the Forest Grove Presbyterian church. Besides her husband, Mrs. Speer is survived by five sons: Dr. A. H. Speer of Braddock, Dr. H. B. Speer of Coraopolis, W. J. of Ingram, C. W. of McKees Rocks and W. B. Speer, at home. Mrs. King, wife of Dr. J. R. King of Braddock is also a relative of Mrs. Speer. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

John Klein, 71 years old, died at the family residence, No. 920 Forbindi street, East End, yesterday. Mr. Klein was born in Germany and removed to this country when a young man. He settled in the East End, and for the last 40 years the family occupied the same house. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Klein, and three children, John Klein, Jr., Mrs. John Schowl and Miss Elizabeth Klein. Mr. Klein was a member of SS. Peter and Paul's Roman Catholic church, East End.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cropton.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cropton of No. 705 Sarah street, South Side, died suddenly yesterday morning in the 81st year of her age. Death was due to heart failure, although she had been in ill health for several weeks. Mrs. Cropton was born in Brownsville, where she lived until 44 years ago, when she moved to the South Side, where she had since lived. She was twice married. Her first husband, John Hughes, died a few years after. Later she married James Cropton, who died 34 years ago. Since that time she has lived in the home in which she died. Six children survive—Thomas, Benjamin and William Hughes, Mrs. Edward McGill, Mrs. Albert White and Mrs. William Auske.

He is survived by one brother, William House of Pittsburgh. He was a brother-in-law of Dr. John Purman of Homestead.

CAPTAIN DAVIS WON THE REVOLVER SHOOT

Capt. Charles M. Davis of Company G, Eighteenth regiment, was the successful competitor in the annual revolver competition for the Keenan medal, held yesterday at the ranges at Highland station. His score was 77. Capt. T. J. Reneker, rifle inspector of the regiment, was second. This medal has been held by the latter during the last two years, and, under the rules of the shoot, would have become his sole property had he been successful this year.

Received an Historic Gavel.

Most delightful and interesting was the meeting in the Twentieth Century club yesterday afternoon of the Columbian Council of Jewish Women. A reception at which the members of the social committee and of the board acted as hostesses was held, after which Mrs. Albert Blumberg, vice president, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg, made an address of welcome and greeting to the women, about 150 in number. Mrs. Rosenberg sent an address which was read by the secretary, Miss Minnie Afelder. As an echo of the delightful sessions in Carlisle, Miss Kate C. McKnight gave an interesting talk on the Carlisle convention. During the afternoon Mrs. Emory sang "When to Thy Vision," Gounod, and "Calm as the Night," Bohm. Mr. George Alfred Taylor, in a rich baritone voice, gave "Earth's Wedding Ring," Leoni, "Sue, Love, I Brought Thee Flowers," Lambert, and "Queen of the Earth," Pinsuti.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the address made by Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig of the Woman's club, who presented the Columbian Council with a gavel. At the time of the remodeling of Independence Hall, Mrs. Gerwig asked that a portion of the old building be given her, in response to which request she received a part of a column. After keeping the wood for a time Mrs. Gerwig conceived the plan of making gavels of it. This done, she forthwith presented her gift to the council. Miss Yetta Baumgarten, the council's delegate to the state federation, gave an interesting report of the meetings.

Tea was served later, the decorations of the table consisting of pink roses and pink shaded candles. Pink cosmas and palms brightened the assembly room.

Five Foreign Countries Represented.

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyteries of Pittsburgh and Allegheny will be held on Wednesday in the East Liberty Presbyterian church, Penn and South Highland avenues. Dalzell of Africa and Mrs. Robert Morrison of India. To give these noted speakers plenty of time this will be an all-day meeting, the morning session opening at 10:30 o'clock. The women attending will carry their own luncheons, and tea and coffee will be furnished.

Paintings and Book Plate Designs.

MAYOR HAYS IN CRIMINAL COURT

On Trial Charged With Violating Act Relating to Discharging Soldiers.

MISTAKE LEADS TO DELAY

City Solicitor and His Client Did Not Appear After Lunch, Thinking Case Had Gone Over—Jury Warned by Court.

The trial of Mayor William B. Hays, charged by Samuel Moore with a violation of the act of May 26, 1897, relative to the discharge of soldiers of the civil war from public positions was begun in criminal court yesterday. A jury was sworn and the case was adjourned until Monday morning.

The adjournment was due to a misunderstanding, it was claimed, on the part of City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers, chief counsel for the mayor. When court adjourned at noon the other jurors of the panel were excused until Monday. Mr. Rodgers understood that a session of the juvenile court was to be held in the afternoon and that the Hays case would go over. He did not return when court reconvened and this resulted in the postponement.

The case was called shortly after 10 o'clock. District Attorney Haymaker, John Marron, C. F. McKenna and A. B. Hay appeared for the prosecution and W. B. Rodgers, W. J. Brennen and L. S. Levin, were the mayor's attorneys. The mayor was present and the court room was unusually crowded, many old soldiers being in attendance. The selection of the jury was tedious work. The jurors were questioned about having formed opinions, as to their connection with the Grand Army and on other points that might indicate a bias.

After 12 men had been accepted and sworn the trouble was not at an end, for one of them asked to be excused. Henry Woelker, a grocer of the Twentieth ward, told the court that the defendant and his sister had dealt at his store. This would not affect his judgment but he asked to be excused. The court conferred with the attorneys, they agreed to a change, and another man was substituted. The jury as finally selected was as follows:

When the jury was sworn the defense renewed the motion to quash the indictment. Judge Shafer said the question had been disposed of and could not be considered. The questions the defense wanted to bring up on a motion for arrest of judgment.

In the afternoon the court waited until 1:30 o'clock before asking why Mayor Hays and Attorney Rodgers were not present. Mr. Brennen was on hand but could not explain their absence. Finally it was learned that Mr. Rodgers had misunderstood the court. Judge Shafer said it would be possible to send after the attorneys, but this would cause further delay, and as the district attorney wanted to look up the evidence in a murder case set for next week, he would continue the trial until Monday morning. In dismissing the jury the court cautioned them to be very careful and to refrain from discussing the case with any one.

RAILROAD MAN WAS KILLED ON HIS WAY TO WORK

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Van Lear Oldroyd, father of five motherless children, was killed tonight because it is said, he ignored the rules of the machinists' union and against the will of the strikers at the Hocking Valley railroad shops in this city, returned to his work. Charles Weaver, a striker, who, with a number of companions, lay in wait for Oldroyd at the entrance of the latter's home at 1118 Summit street, is charged with the murder. When Oldroyd arrived a quarrel was started and finally blows were exchanged. Weaver was struck over the head with a board and thereupon, it is alleged, drew a revolver and shot Oldroyd, who ran several squares before dropping from exhaustion. He died in a few minutes. Weaver is under arrest.

The C. C. Meller Music Company to Illuminate Their Window from Storage Battery.

The C. C. Meller Company, who are one of the most progressive companies in this vicinity, are about to install an innovation in the way of advertising.

Believing a well-lighted window one of the best advertisements they can have, they have contracted with the United States Battery Company to install storage battery sufficient to light their show windows after their gas engine plant is shut down. On as crowded a thoroughfare as Fifth avenue this will be an excellent feature.

The United States Battery Company have installed a number of auxiliary storage-battery plants in and about Pittsburgh, among which is one for Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., in Sewickley; one for J. A. Chambers, in Leetsdale; one for Capt. S. S. Brown, at his stock farm in Kentucky, and one for John H. Galey in Denver, Col. They are now installing one for the Pittsburgh Bible Institute in Wylie avenue. Their peculiar and simple method of installing complete plants allows the users light any hour of the 24, whether the engine is running or not.

SELECTING A DIRECTOR FOR THE TECH SCHOOL

Four Names Were Under Discussion—Changes in the Board—Much Is to Be Spent on the Institution.

The preliminary steps for the selection of an executive head for the Carnegie Technical schools were taken at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Institute. The names of four prospective candidates for the office were under discussion, and the special committee which has charge of that feature of the work was instructed to obtain more information as to the qualifications of the respective persons recommended for the position. It is probable that the head of the institution will have the title of director.

The meeting lasted two hours. W. E. Corey resigned the office of treasurer of the board and Judge James H. Reed was elected to fill the vacancy. Miss Sara E. Weir was elected assistant treasurer. This is the first time that a woman has been honored with an office in the executive department of any of Carnegie's free institutions in Pittsburgh. Miss Weir has previously done much of the work in her position at the Carnegie Company's offices and done active work for Mr. Corey, C. M. Schwab and H. C. Frick when they occupied the office of treasurer.

There are no Pittsburghers among the men spoken of for the head of the technical school. Col. R. H. Church, secretary of the board, said that a vote possibly would be taken at the next meeting of the trustees which will be held at the call of the president.

"We are resolved to make haste slowly," said Col. Church. "It is of the utmost importance that every care should be taken in the selection of the best man for the position of director because much of the success of the school from its very inception will depend upon his plans and suggestions. Of the four names presented none is now a candidate, and the board has received no formal applications. We propose to start as an intermediate and go forward until the school will be recognized as one of the largest technical universities in the country. In attaining this standard probably $10,000,000 will be spent."

The by-laws were amended to make nine members of the board constitute a quorum in place of 13 as heretofore. At the vote on the purchase of the two pictures each year to be added to the chronological collection in the Carnegie art galleries, however, 25 members are necessary.

Dog With Hair-Covered Wooden Leg Attracts Much Attention

ALLEN A. SMITH, a hotel proprietor of Wheeling, W. Va., who is popularly known as "Doc" Smith, created quite a sensation in Fifth avenue last evening by walking along with a dog which had a wooden leg. The animal's leg was amputated about six weeks ago, and Smith had a plaster cast of it made and from the cast was made a wooden limb by a local manufacturer.

Smith brought the dog to Pittsburgh yesterday and had the new leg fitted on. He was on his way back to Wheeling and stopped in front of Newell's to chat to some friends and show them the miracle which had been performed on the animal. The dog had not grown accustomed to the new leg and braces held it in place. These, however, will be taken off as soon as the animal grows accustomed to his wooden appendage.

The dog, which is a pretty little black and white fox terrier, when standing still, appears to have four perfect legs. As a matter of fact one hind leg is wooden, but the wood is covered with dog hair which closely matches the hide of the animal. The wooden leg has joints and is just like a natural leg, and when the dog grows used to it he will be as good as new.

RUMORS OF HIGHBINDERS AFLOAT IN CHINATOWN

Lees Claim Three Members of the Hatchet Society Are on Their Trail.

The Lee faction in Chinatown is greatly agitated over what they claim was an attempt to take the life of Ben Lee and Lee You, the leaders of the faction, by Highbinders brought from some outside city. Three strange Chinamen gained the fourth floor of the Lee home at No. 811 Second avenue about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and when they discovered their men were not about they disappeared.

Ben Lee runs a restaurant in Second avenue, and the fourth floor of the building is fitted up as a sort of club room for the Lee family. In a front room yesterday were two cousins of Ben Lee; in a back room were two other cousins. When the three Chinamen reached the fourth floor they turned into the front room. They looked at the two Chinamen there, and, finding their victims were not there, walked out. The same performance occurred in the back room.

Lee You and Ben Lee were notified of the appearance of the men, and last night they said they were highbinders brought here by their enemies to do away with them. Lee You and Ben Lee will today apply to the police department for permission to go about armed. Their accusation that the three Chinamen were Highbinders is not regarded as groundless, since the second arrest in Boston by the United States government officials of nearly 300 Chinamen, many of whom were members of the hatchet society. It is said a number of Highbinders have recently come into this country.

W. J. BYERS GETS FIRST DEGREE

Youth Sentenced to Hang for the Confessed Murder of August J. Layton.

COURT REVIEWS THE CASE

Judge Miller Refuses Claim of Mrs. Nettie Klein on Bauman Estate, Saying It Would Be Against Public Policy. Juvenile Court.

William J. Byers was on June 10, 1901, killed August J. Layton in the woods near Dunlap's Creek. Byers was yesterday sentenced to death by Judge R. S. Frazer. Byers, John Williams and Nellie McWilliams, were charged for the murder. Byers was tried first and during his trial changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty. The other two were tried and acquitted. Judge Frazer heard the testimony and fixed the degree of guilt in Byers' case. The case was taken into court yesterday afternoon. Judge Frazer said that after consideration of all the circumstances he had come to the conclusion that Byers was guilty of murder in the first degree. Asked if he had anything to say, Byers replied that some of the witnesses had committed perjury; others were as guilty as he, and he did not think the commonwealth had produced evidence to hang him.

The court replied that all this had been considered and then imposed the sentence. Byers showed little emotion, but evidently did not know what he was doing, as, when the court finished imposing the sentence, he said: "Much obliged."

In the conclusions of law Judge Frazer said Byers was guilty of premeditated murder, and without his own testimony the evidence would support a first degree verdict. The killing of Layton was preconceived, and the plans laid by which his life was taken in a cruel and cowardly manner. The court expressed sympathy for Byers and said on account of his youth and infatuation and the circumstances leading up to the offense, would gladly fix the degree of the crime at a lower grade if it were possible. The testimony, however, precludes any such finding in his favor. Viewed in the most favorable light it was clear that the degree of crime to which he has confessed is murder of the first degree.

A verdict was returned in criminal court yesterday morning making acquittal Lieutenant of Police Charles Gillen and Officer Timothy Scanlon of assault and battery.

In orphans' court Judge J. J. Miller, in the matter of the estate of Henry Bauman, deceased, handed down an opinion denying the claim of Miss Nettie Klein for $400 for eight weeks' nursing of the decedent before his death. The court in part says: "She was the recipient of his bounty; she was receiving his confidence and his visits when she knew she was bound to know that his place was at his own home by the side of his sick and neglected wife. There is testimony that they contemplated a trip to Paris after the death of the wife."

In concluding, the court says: "This claim cannot be allowed because, based on circumstances, it would be against public policy to allow him to contract or promise to pay."

Bauman died on May 4, 1902, and left a $30,000 estate. The court made a decree in distribution of $24,579, which passes to members of the family of Nettie Klein.

Judge J. W. Over, in an opinion made distribution of $48,737 92 among the heirs of the late Louis Olesenik mp, who died in 1899. Exceptions were filed to the account filed by the executors, and the court restates the distribution.

In juvenile court John Sweeney, aged 14, was held on a charge of horse stealing. The case was held over for a further investigation. He was arrested in July while driving in the East End in a stolen rig. The boy said the rig had been found by a colored man and turned over to him. He also stole some money from a man who employed him. Inspector M. E. Bailey said the boy had been arrested again on Thursday night with a stolen horse in his possession.

TO BE SENTENCED TODAY.

STOCK MARKET INTEREST CENTERED IN FEW ISSUES

Amalgamated Copper Dominated New York While Other Issues Were Dull—Pittsburgh Coal Engrossed Local Attention.

Amalgamated Copper was the feature of the New York market. The opening on that stock included sales covering a range of 1⅜, there being pronounced efforts both to bull and bear it. After the first struggle and when a uniform quotation was established, the bulls won out, pushing the price up gradually to 36¾. When the excitement subsided there came a reaction to 35 and the close was at 35½, a net loss of ¾ from the day before. The indications are that the decision of Judge Clancy may have no further effect on the stock. The Boston & Montana mine will remain closed until the question has been adjusted in the highest courts. The shutting down of other mines in Montana was variously interpreted, the bears contending it would seriously affect earnings, while the bulls declared the company had a large quantity of unmarketed copper that will sell for a better price on account of the suspension of mining.

The general list sympathised with Copper in its fluctuations, but not in the volume of trading. Aside from the one issue the market was dull and the trading light. This tends to confirm the opinion expressed yesterday that the market is tailing into a period of inactivity, the stocks being so strongly held as to discourage bear raids, while the general public is too nervous to enter a bull campaign. The market generally sold down about a point during the afternoon, but made a partial recovery near the close.

Republic Iron and Steel opened about the closing of Thursday, but went off again, the preferred losing ¾ net for the day. The price, however, is more than a point above the low price of Thursday, and there was no fresh gossip affecting it. United States Steel was not active, but made net losses of ⅛ on the common and ¼ on the preferred from the closing quotation of the preceding day. It was regarded as showing strength under the circumstances.

London was again heavy on war rumors and selling Americans. Lloyd's agency smartly advanced premiums on war risks which was considered more significant than the pacific news from the capitals of Russia and Japan. Tidy conditions depresses the American market, though an actual declaration of war would probably have the opposite effect, because the demand for American products in that event would more than balance the selling of American securities by London holders.

In the local market there was apprehension and weakness. Little attention was paid to New York quotations except by those dealing in Westinghouse Electrics and United States Steels, which were wholly governed by the New York market. Both of these closed below the last figures for the day before, though they exhibited no special weakness.

Crucible Steel, as usual of late, was hammered vigorously, but yielded stubbornly. The buyer appeared not to be anxious to advance quotations, but rather to absorb the stock. The trading in both issues combined was hardly equal to that in either one alone for any preceding day of the week. This may be taken as indication that the furor has passed and that Crucible will take a less conspicuous position on the exchange for a time. The common stock made a new low record at 8¼ and closed with that figure bid.

Pittsburgh Coal was prominent in the trading and established new low records on both common and preferred, the last sales of common being at 16 and the last sales of preferred at 80¾, with offerings rather free. There was good buying by several firms on the decline. One house was a notably heavy absorber of both issues and it was learned the buying was for customers attracted in the belief that it was a good thing going cheap. Outside of the exchange the sentiment prevails that the stock is selling too low and that the price level can be explained only on the theory that holders have been selling it as a readily marketed commodity to get money for the carrying of other securities not so easily disposed of. Doubtless it might have been a good thing for the Pittsburgh market if trading had been discontinued altogether, as it was in bank and trust company stocks. We are sure that a little reflection will do no harm. The more the situation is looked at squarely the less alarming it appears. On the contrary the more trading there is the more nervous the feeling becomes. The general situation is sound, but the public has suffered from shock and is naturally timid until it can be reassured. Those who have stocks to sell will do well to consider whether they cannot dispose of them to better advantage at a later time than at present. We believe a good many people have decided this question in the affirmative. The trading yesterday aggregated about 1,000 shares more than on Thursday, but both days were far below the average of activity. It is a good sign, this excess of thought over activity until matters are more settled, nerves more quiet and judgment normal.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Total sales on the Pittsburgh stock exchange were 7,035 shares stock and $2,000 bonds.

Clearings yesterday were $8,642,205 50, an increase of $1,773,233 64 over corresponding date of last year.

Pittsburgh Coal was center of much activity at close of market, good sized blocks changing hands at fractionally higher prices than had prevailed.

Market was generally a quiet one, with an undertone of depression.

IN WALL STREET.

London's renewed uneasiness over eastern situation had a depressing effect.

There was a continued absorption of bonds at rising prices. Total sales, $2,299,000 (par value).

Total sales, 394,600 shares of stock.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

A sale of 200 shares of Trade Dollar mining stock was made yesterday on the Pittsburgh stock exchange at 80 cents a share. The last sale was in March last at $1 80 a share. The sale was by McIlroy & Boyle to H. A. Martin.

The expectation was held out in the brokers' telegrams yesterday for an unfavorable bank statement today. The New York banks have lost $4,000,000 to the treasury during the week, and it is believed there were withdrawals by Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

Wheat movement is slow, but there are decided indications that it will soon begin in earnest. Export clearances for the week have been 3,800,000 bushels, as against 7,000,000 bushels for the same time last year. It is reported the farmers have become free sellers. There is hesitation in some quarters to see what will come of the war situation. Liverpool reports a stronger demand for flour on the war news.

The National Carbon Company of Cleveland has declared the preferred regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable November 14. Books close November 4 and open November 16. Brown Brothers & Co. of Boston & San Francisco have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the second preferred stock.

The directors of Twin City Rapid Transit have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock, payable November 14. Books close October 30 and reopen November 16.

Procter & Gamble directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock, payable November 14 to stockholders of record October 31.

The directors of the Peoples Trust Company, South Eighteenth and Carson streets, yesterday declared a dividend of 2½ per cent out of the earnings of the past six months.

England Gets $5,000,000 from India.

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, Oct. 23.—The sum of $5,000,000 was landed here today from Bombay. This is the largest shipment ever brought to England on one steamer.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

At the Minnie Moore of Idaho, of which James Macfarlane is superintendent, the management is forwarding 1,000 tons of ores monthly to the smelters in Colorado, the ores, which afford from $115 to $150 a ton in silver and gold, carrying 10 to 15 per cent of lead, while Mad Stanton runs 3 feet at this time there is at least $1,000,000 exposed.

Upon the order of the board of directors the final payment has been made by the Black Diamond Mining Company upon the splendid acquisitions adjoining the properties of the Great Mohawk Company at Stockton. Since the undertaking was launched, indeed, every obligation has been discharged as it matured, while to encourage the management has opened up a cluster of ore bodies in its system of ledges that promise an early reimbursement.

With Granby ore worth only $4 26 a ton, the Granby Company managed to make a profit at the rate of $1 a ton on all the Granby ore treated in its great smelter at Grand Forks, B. C., during the past year. The record is perhaps unparalleled in the history of mining. It was made possible only through the magnificent system of treatment and the tumbrelles economies which Jay P. Graves of Spokane and his assistants have utilized at the Granby works. Even then it would not have been possible were it not for an ore which is practically self fluxing and natural conditions which are hard to surpass.

The Royal Bank of Canada has secured a decree of foreclosure upon the property of the Dundo Gold Mining Co., near Yale, B. C. The mine was floated in England and stock was at one time up to 20 cents. The foreclosure is for money loaned.

The latest gold discovery of the current season is reported in Chaffee county, Colo., separated from Eastern Chaffee, where five or six important finds have been made since July 1.

The continued advance in the price of the white metal has given to all mining men a feeling of renewed hope and confidence, in marked contrast to the gloom that pervaded their spirits during the past summer, when the quotation reached the low mark of 46½ cents an ounce, says the Georgetown Courier. For some time the price has been hovering around the 50-cent mark, but not until last Tuesday did it get strength enough to cross the line of demarkation between 53 and 55 cents, when it jumped to 60¾ cents. No the great majority of every one whose welfare is connected with the price of that metal

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—There was an advance of 2s 6d in the London tin market, which spot closed at £117 15s 6d and futures at £118 per ton. Influenced partially by this the local market was also firmer, with Straits quoted for November delivery at $.5.05@5.20 tons at $26.00 for the same month and 15 tons of spot at $26.05. Steel Trust closed firm at $26.50@26.70. Copper advanced 2s 6d in London to £76 5s for spot and £78 for futures in the London market, and was rather firmer here. Lake Superior is quoted at $12.50@12.75, electrolytic at $12.00@12.25 and casting at $11.75@12. Lead was firm locally at $4.80 and in London at £11 7s 6d. Spelter advanced 2s 6d in London, closing at £20 15s. Local quotations are reported in the local market, which is strengthening. Pig Iron closed at 44.50 in Glasgow and at 47s 7½d in Middlesboro. Locally, Iron was dull and practically No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $15 50@16 00; No. 2 foundry, $15 00@15 50; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $14 75@15 25.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The week at its close shows no increased business in drygoods, but sellers are firmer in their ideas and report more inquiry, with a determination on the part of buyers to bear the market, which is generally unsuccessful. Jobbers are doing a very small store business and the outlook for increased trade with second hands is not bright.

Standard Investment Bonds.

The Colonial Trust Company, 317 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, offers for sale a variety of bonds, yielding the purchaser from 4½ to 5½ per cent, which it recommends as desirable investments.

Inquire of Alexander C. Thompson, manager bond department.

MOREWOOD AVE. SITE PURCHASED

A $50,000 Residence to Be Built on a $20,000 Lot in the East End.

NO. 5838 CENTER AVENUE SOLD

Old Allegheny Residence Brings $19,000. New Bridge Over Railroad at McKees Rocks Will Help Property Values. Surplus of Draughtsmen in Market.

By the purchase of a part of the E. M. Ferguson property a local business man has secured title to the last one of the vacant residence sites in the south side of Morewood avenue, Twenty-second ward. The sale was negotiated by the Real Estate Trust Company and the consideration was $20,000. The lot had a frontage of 100 feet between Fifth avenue and Forbes street and a depth of 180 feet. It adjoins the handsome residence of William M. Hall, jr., and is near the Thaw residence and the property of Mrs. O. Warren. Property in Morewood avenue has been held at a high price for two years, as it is one of the most desirable and popular sections of the East End, and the figure paid for this lot, $200 a front foot, is regarded reasonable in view of the choice location. The purchaser will at once have plans prepared for a residence in keeping with the other homes along the avenue, which means another $50,000 house for the neighborhood.

Another East End Sale.

A second East End sale announced yesterday was that of the William McCallam residence at No. 5838 Center avenue for $13,500. The Liberty Real Estate Trust Company handled the deal and the purchasers are said to be the Misses Byrne. The property is a very handsome one, consisting of a 12-room center hall brick house with modern improvements, and facing 60 feet in the south side of the avenue, about midway between College and Negley avenues. The lot is 120 feet deep and extends back to the railroad. The buyers will occupy the property as a home.

The old Isaac Craig property at the southeast corner of West Ohio street and Sherman avenue, one of the best known properties in Allegheny, has been sold for $19,000. The property was made ready some time ago to dispose of the property at public sale, but the administrator of the estate received an offer of $19,000 yesterday morning and the heirs decided to accept it. The lot has a frontage of 60 feet on Ohio street and 47 feet on Sherman avenue, being directly across the street from the St. Peter's pro cathedral. The old two-story brick house on the lot is conspicuous for being the only residence left in Ohio street for a distance of nearly two miles with other houses being used in part for stores and shops. The corner is an admirable site for an apartment house, and it is rumored that the buyer, whose name was withheld, will use it for this purpose.

New Bridge Will Be Great Benefit.

The long promised bridge over the Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny and the Ohio Connecting railroads at McKees Rocks is at last likely to become a reality. Bids were made again last week and work will be started in a few weeks, according to report. All the legal technicalities were agreed upon several months ago, and the construction of the structure is to be divided equally between Allegheny county, the two railroads jointly, and the Pittsburgh Railways Company, whose cars will run over the structure. The bridge will start from Brighton tavern in Stowe avenue to Windgap avenue, about 700 feet and will be at least 60 feet high. The present bridge is an antiquated structure so low that locals of any size cannot pass under it. As soon as the new bridge is built the McKees Rocks street car line will be continued from the tavern, either through Ingram or through Sheridan and Thorn, to the 5 mile, and thence return by way of the Crafton and Ingram line through the West End to the city, making a complete loop. It will open up all the territory between McKees Rocks and Ingram and pass near the new yards of the Panhandle, which are two miles long and wide enough for 50 tracks. A considerable amount of good frontage lying on the plateau to the west of McKees Rocks will thus be thrown open, including the Johnson, the Duff and the Lennox allotments.

Many Draughtsmen Out of Work.

The number of draughtsmen on the market just now is very good evidence that the building situation is far from what it should be. At this season a large number of draughtsmen are often thrown out of work, but this year the number is far out of proportion to that of recent years. Nearly every architect in the city has laid off from one to three men within the last two months, and the number that apply daily for employment in the big offices is increasing every week. It is not uncommon for an architect to receive from three to six such applications a day, and men fully competent, who, under ordinary conditions, would be employed steadily, in most of the architects' offices the work is confined to finishing touches on plans that have been on the boards for months or to superintending the work of contractors. The situation is aggravated this fall by the number of experienced draughtsmen and civil engineers that are being laid off by the railroads. It is reported on good authority that a majority of the engineering force that has been working on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad improvements at McKees Rocks will be laid off between now and November 1. In general building the outlook is for very little new work until after January 1, due chiefly, the architects say, to the uncertainty about the labor situation.

Broker Sells Southern Hotel.

W. F. Bingler of the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, who has a penchant for driving into out-of-the-way investments, has made another profitable turn by the disposal of his hotel at Oakland, Md. The purchaser is W. B. Offutt of that place and his consideration was $40,000, which Mr. Bingler bought some two years ago. It is a frame structure of the typical southern type, containing 17 rooms and standing on a lot 83x200 feet.

LINES ARE DRAWN TIGHTER IN BUSINESS SITUATION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: Numerous labor controversies have appeared, and more furnaces and mills have closed, the tendency being to operate only the plants provided with the most modern equipment. There is no anxiety regarding legislation at the special session of congress, and, despite the curtailment of activity in many manufacturing lines, a heavy volume of business is being transacted.

Flour mills at Minneapolis have fully resumed, and a big season's cut is contemplated at Minnesota lumber mills. Western traffic facilities are proving inadequate, the distribution of merchandise being enormous at the interior, and taking the country as a whole, conditions may be considered fairly satisfactory, although there are indisputable evidences that abnormal activity has received a check. Jobbing trade has felt the influence of the advancing season, and at many points the weather is not calculated to maintain buying of wearing apparel at retail. Gross earnings of the railways thus far in October for October surpass last year's by 6.2 per cent.

Another general reduction in quotations of pig iron has occurred, notwithstanding the recent cuts, the tendency being clearly to still further reduce production unless business improves. New orders are few and limited to immediate requirements, which is also true of finished steel. Failure to duplicate contracts failed to be offered, but cancellations of old orders are reported.

Efforts are being made to secure foreign trade, with fair success. As to exports, particularly in several lines for machinery and other high-class products. A little encouragement thus given to the textile industry by the placing of moderate orders for cotton shirtings to be exported, but this Chinese business is of a special nature and not a revival of regular trade for the east. Otherwise the cotton goods market is without feature, while woolens and worsteds, a slight increase in orders is noted. Clothing manufacturers are not seeking woolen goods, and there is still a pressure to sell woolens at the prices irregular. Silks are weak and inactive.

Large contracts have been placed for spring shipment of shoes, and prices are somewhat firmer on the week. Hides, while weak, are still and firm in tone. Heavy hemlock sole leather is strong, but other grades decline in respond to the general weakness of domestic hides.

Failures this week for the United States, compared with 239 last year, and in Canada 26, against 22 a year ago.

RAPIDLY ADVANCING FRESH EGG MARKET

Refined Sugar Declines Five Points—New Orleans Molasses Crop Will Be Late.

Scarcity of eggs, which has been a feature of the situation for several months, has become more noticeable than ever, and supplies have dwindled down until fresh stock is extremely scarce. Quotations have gone to much higher figures during the last two or three days, and dealers believe there will be further advances. Pullets have not commenced to lay, and southern stock so far received has not been up to the standard required, many of the so-called fresh eggs being held stock, which are not satisfactory. Prices for select eggs now range from 20 to 20 cents, with even higher figured in a few sales, and the market is reported firm at the quotations. Dealers here do not look for much relief from the present scarcity until toward the latter part of next month, by which time it is expected northern pullets will have started to lay.

The butter market is steady, but without special feature, and the cheese situation is firm but unchanged. Poultry continues easy at quotations, which have not been changed since the close of last week.

Receipts of hay showed a falling off yesterday from the heavy arrivals of the last few days, and sellers think the market will now increase in firmness. Marvelous strength has been shown considering the heavy pressure brought to bear by the numerous consignments which have reached Pittsburgh recently, and, while prices are not quite as strong as they were a week ago, the fact that they have not weakened more is remarkable. Oats were offered at a wider range of figures yesterday than for some time, sellers having apparently different ideas of value. Millfeed has been weakened by the lower ruling prices of corn, and quotations have declined.

Local refined sugar declined five points yesterday afternoon, due largely to sharp competition, some low offerings having been made. Demand is fairly good, but is lessening, and shows a falling off from the record of a month ago. Advices from the south state there will be a considerable shortage in the molasses yield this year, and that new product will be three weeks late reaching the market. The crop of cane will be fully 50 per cent short in some sections, and the estimated total decrease, as compared with an average yield, is 25 per cent. Newcrop molasses is usually on the market before Hallowe'en, but this season it will be well on in November before it can be expected.

Chestnuts maintained their strength yesterday, and prices advanced from the low point, the range being narrower as demand increased. All nuts have commenced to move freely, the demand having reached the usual large proportions characteristic of the Hallowe'en season. Fruits are all unchanged and moving fairly well. California plums are now out of the market. Demand for apples is increasing, white grapes sell well, and pecans are quiet.

Produce showed more activity than on Thursday, and quotations were steady. Light offerings of nearby vegetables continue to be a feature of the situation, and prices are firm. Tomatoes sold readily yesterday at $1 a chip.

WAR RUMORS CAUSED ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Bullish Sentiment Prevailed Yesterday in the Chicago Grain Market.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Rumors of a probability of war between Russia and Japan circulated quite freely among wheat traders before the opening and caused bullish sentiment. This feeling was accentuated by the comparatively firm cables, and December opened 1@¾c higher yesterday, and December opened 1@¾c higher at 76½c to 76¾c. With a good demand from elevator interests and commission houses, December forced the price up to 77½c to 77¾c, May, and on the strength of outside markets, prices showed a fair advance early, December selling up to 80¾c. With the exception of the war talk, the news in general was bearish, and this caused some selling by bear traders, which resulted in a somewhat easier tone, but a recovery soon followed on covering by shorts and a fair trading demand and the latter New York reported a good inquiry for No. 2 red winter for export, and this helped prices here. Trading was quiet the latter part of the session, with a general firmness shown. Primary receipts were 1,041,100 bushels, against 1,320,500 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Chicago and Duluth reported receipts of 728 cars, against 907 cars last week and 707 cars a year ago.

There was a fair demand for corn, but prices were firm, due principally to the continued reports from various points in the country of disappointing yields. A lot of from 25 to 30 cars over from Friday being shown in many cases. Commission houses were the best buyers, while shippers were the principal sellers. After selling between 64¾ and 64¾c, December closed steady at 64¾c. Lower prices for oats were 400 cars, with 59 cars of contract grade.

Cash: Borrowed strength from other grains, and light offerings also helped to create a firmer sentiment. There was moderate buying of May early by commission houses, but realizers closed the session easy. No. 2 white, 44c; No. 3 white, 39@39½c; No. 2 red, 39½c; No. 3 red, 38½c; No. 2 yellow, 44@44½c; December closed steady at 44¾c. Lower prices for oats were 400 cars, with 59 cars of contract grade.

OUR CURRENCY IS SOLID AS STONE

Treasurer Roberts Defends the Gold Basis of America's Monetary System.

BANKER'S MEETING CLOSED

Pittsburgh Bank President Read a Paper Yesterday on the Education of Bank Clerks—Officers Elected, Local Man Bring on the Executive Committee.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The convention of the American Bankers' association closed today with several interesting papers and the election of officers. Many of the bankers started for their homes this evening.

The first paper, after the opening exercises, was by J. E. Fluney, president of the Fifth National bank of Pittsburgh. His topic was "The Education of Bank Clerks." He was followed by Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, who delivered an address on "The Effects of the Inflow of Gold." He began by dwelling upon the tremendous results that have been brought about in the world of finance by California through her production of gold.

Our currency rests absolutely solid on its foundations of gold, he said. Our yellow metal passes in St. Petersburg and Pekin, in Hong Kong and Tokio, and the United States notes and silver certificates march with it in equal favor. The American people were urged to make that money because it was cheap and to coin silver at 16 to 1, because it was cheap. They rose above the temptation and declared not once, but twice, and will always declare, that they want no cheap money, but the best in the world. They have it, and the annual inflow of $60,000,000 assures it to them and rewards their wisdom.

How far, and in what direction is the vast inflow of the yellow metal carrying us? The blind may see that in the past five years business has expanded in some directions in unparalleled degree. Credit has naturally been multiplied at least to four times the amount of cash added to our supply. The exploitation of gigantic industrial corporations ran on at a dangerous speed, fortunately to exhaust itself by its own excesses.

Our surpassing wealth in gold has placed our national credit on a plane above that of all other countries, and never before held by that of any government. British consols, bearing 2½ per cent interest, long the foremost type of credit, have recently sold below 87, while consols of the United States, bearing only 2 per cent, range from 108 to 110. Only unbridled folly, not conceivable can shake this solid structure.

If the American people are prudent, will let their common sense and cold reason govern, they will see that the prosperity they enjoy is the earnest of more to come, of material achievement beyond the scope of prophecy, deserving to be adopted with moral and spiritual flower and fruit which shall glorify humanity.

The committee on nominations made the following report: For president, F. P. Bigelow, Milwaukee; for vice president, L. F. Swinney, Kansas City, Mo.; executive committee, J. D. Powers of Kentucky, J. R. Mitchell, Minnesota, J. K. Wilson, California, J. B. Finley, Pennsylvania, Stephen Griswold, New York, H. C. Deibl, South Dakota, Henry K. Cobb, Wisconsin, M. B. Lane, Georgia, William Livingstone, Michigan, Charles Sawyer, Kansas.

The report of the nominating committee was adopted and the newly elected officers installed. After the retiring president, Mr. Caldwell Hardy, had been presented with a beautiful silver bowl, the convention adjourned.

Invitations to hold the next convention were extended by Atlantic City and the bankers of New York city. The convention city will be selected by the executive committee next spring.

LESSON IN DEMOCRACY TAUGHT INVESTIGATORS

Delegation of Inquiring Englishmen See President's Son at Public School.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Members of the Mosely commission, a distinguished body of English educators who are in this country studying American educational institutions, had a lesson in American democracy today, when they called at Force school and saw Quentin Roosevelt, the president's son, trying to master a problem in simple numbers, together with half a hundred other little folks, the children of wealthy Washingtonians who live in Massachusetts avenue and of humble citizens who live along obscure streets in the Force school district.

The visiting educators were astounded when told that the president's son was in the public school and pressed Superintendent Stuart with many questions concerning the methods adopted to keep the schools select and free from children who did not come from homes where the surroundings were not all they should be. When assured that there is no attempt at exclusiveness in the American public school system, and that the schools are open to the children of the day laborer as well as the son of the president, the visitors marveled.

"I understand what American democracy means now," one of the educators remarked as he left the room in the school where young Quentin Roosevelt is enjoying the privileges of the free school system.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special)—Mrs. Charles M. Schwab tonight dictated the following statement over the telephone from Loretto: "I have not been ill in any way and the story that I suffer with appendicitis is absurd. The publication, which evidently emanated from financial sources, caused me much distress today. My parents were the first to call up this morning to ask about my condition, expressing surprise that they had not been informed of my illness. I am quite well."

GOULDS INAUGURATE NEW STEAMSHIP LINE

Will Carry Freight Between New York, Philadelphia and New Orleans.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—Within 60 days a new line of steamships will be in operation between this city and Philadelphia, founded and backed by the Gould railroad interests. This statement was positively made this afternoon by the New Orleans board of trade committee which has been working in conjunction with Philadelphians to bring about an all-water route between Philadelphia and the Mississippi valley.

The real significance of this move is far-reaching. It means the Gould interests have determined to enter into a direct competition against the Southern Pacific railroad and the Morgan steamship line for transcontinental business.

This new Philadelphia line will maintain the same relation with the Texas & Pacific west of here that the Morgan steamship line now holds with the Southern Pacific. It means that through bills of lading will be issued from San Francisco to Philadelphia and New York via New Orleans and the water route. It means a war on these routes and the lowering of freight rates from Philadelphia and eastern trading centers to the Mississippi valley territory and the southwest. Traffic Manager Bird of the Gould lines has engineered the deal with the backing and pledges of support from the commercial bodies of New Orleans and Philadelphia.

LYNCHING THREATENED.

Millvale Mob Had Planned Summary Justice on Charles Fisk.

A lynching party organized in Millvale last night lacked determination, and while the leaders were debating the situation the intended victim was spirited away in a street car. Charles Fisk was arrested on Tuesday for alleged ill-treatment of young children, and yesterday evening was taken to Justice A. J. Needling's office through the rear door by Constable James Kidney. Fisk waived a hearing for court trial, and the news soon spread through the town that he had been brought back, despite the precautions to keep the public in ignorance of his presence.

The crowd gathered around the rear door of the office and demanded the prisoner. Inspector George Guenther of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was taken into the confidence of the authorities and while the mob still clamored at the door Fisk was hurried from the office and carried out of the borough. Nine charges have been made against Fisk. His victims are said to number 58, and several are under the care of physicians.

NELSON'S OLD FLAGSHIP RAMMED BY NEPTUNE

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(Special Cable.)—Nelson's old flagship Victory came within an ace of being sunk in Portsmouth harbor today by the battleship Neptune, which was recently condemned. The Neptune, drifting, crushed one of the wooden walls of the Victory as if it had been paper, while she made next to no impression on the modern battleship Caesar, which she struck later. London had just been celebrating the anniversary of Trafalgar.

Railway Company Enjoined.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The court this evening granted the Washington borough council an injunction against the Washington & Canonsburg Railway Company, forbidding the latter from extending its lines through the borough. It is claimed by the borough that the railway company was given the privilege of extension if it would fill up a new street. This they say the company refused to do.

FURNACEMEN PURSUE CONSERVATIVE POLICY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—In their weekly review of iron trade conditions Rogers, Brown & Co. say:

"The iron trade is more concerned at the present time over general problems than over the daily run of prices. So far as current business is concerned, each week is very much like its predecessor. Transactions in pig iron are numerous, almost entirely for spot delivery, and tonnage only fair, in spite of the prices that have been reached, consumers expect lower, as it is always the case in declining markets, and every shift is made to postpone purchases until the last moment.

"The problems of furnaces revolve around the question of cost. These have been reduced about as far as is possible without a radical readjustment of the whole industrial structure. Each reaction in iron has its own causes and limitations. The present one is distinctive in some particulars.

"There are few concerns that are not in strong enough position to stop if they desire to. From the ground to the finished material there seems to be a fixed determination on the part of makers and operators to mine or manufacture only what the public calls for and is willing to pay for at the rate of a new dollar for an old one. Unless, therefore, there is a change in this sound and conservative policy, stocks will not be manufactured to pile up and menace the markets. If this policy is adhered to the return to normal conditions will occur much sooner than it has formerly. The main currents in the whole situation seem to be shaping toward improvement."

NO GOOD WOULD COME FROM CUT IN PRICES

Steel Corporation Official Says Present Schedule Will Be Maintained.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—No change will be made in finished steel prices, according to statements made by representatives of the United States Steel Corporation today. A number of conferences have been held on the subject since the return of the inspection party. The following statement was made by one of the heads, of the subsidiary concerns tonight, after the final conference:

"What could be accomplished by reducing prices? A reduction would be accompanied by a suspension of buying orders. Prices would decline rapidly and there would be a scramble to buy. This would be followed by a heavy advance. A few consumers would get their steel at lower prices, but the great majority would not benefit in the least.

"We have been holding steel at very reasonable prices and there is nothing to warrant the statement that the price schedule will be changed. Consumers are satisfied with the price policy of the Steel Corporation and I don't see any cause for worry on our part."

There was talk in iron and steel circles today that another attempt would be made to consolidate the Mahoning and Shenango valley blast furnaces. In that district a large percentage of the Bessemer pig iron is produced. Many furnaces have been in operation for 20 and 30 years and are not equipped with modern appliances for producing iron. As a result the cost of production is far above that of modern furnaces. A combination of interests, according to manufacturers, would result in a great saving.
